DOCTORS BRUSH UP ON NEW WAYS OF SAVING LIVES

Thousands Attend Clinics in City.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Discoveries and conclusions of the last year by some of the most eminent specialists and teachers in the world of medicine were explained yesterday before more than 3,000 leaders of the profession in session at the Palmer House.

Dr. Tom D. Spies, Night session speaker

The occasion was the 24th international assembly of the Interstate Postgraduate Medical Association of North America. Physicians and surgeons continued to arrive all during the day and night, and it was expected that more than 7,000 of the association's 50,000 members would be in Chicago by this afternoon. The sessions will continue thru Saturday.

With the exception of the annual dinner tomorrow night, the assembly will have no social aspects. Clinical sessions begin each morning at 8 and continue—with time out only for meals and study of exhibits until 10 p. m.

A Very Earnest Group.

The association's membership is described by Dr. W. B. Peck of Freeport, Ill., managing director of this assembly, as the most earnest division of the medical profession. Tho it is not affiliated with the American Medical association, membership in the P. M. A. is contingent upon membership and good standing in the A. M. A.

From all the states in the union, from the possessions, from Canada, the Indies, and foreign countries these men have come for a week of postgraduate work intended to keep them abreast of medical progress. In their sessions in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House they listen to lectures, view lantern slides, and make notes much as they did in their medical school days.

Just off the ballroom is a miniature hospital of from seven to a dozen beds, depending upon the number of patients brought in to assist in the lectures. These were selected by the association's clinical committee, which has been about its work six months. More than sixty of these passed across the platform yesterday, some of them having been taken to the hotel by ambulance.

Surgical Displays Vast.

The corridors and chambers outside the ballroom, on the fourth floor, are filled with exhibits from surgical houses, wholesale drug companies, and even from food supply houses. Here are the most modern surgical instruments and therapeutical appliances. On many motion picture screens the details of intricate surgical operations are being shown in natural color.

And in the great hall the postgraduates hear in technical terms the descriptions of these and other operations; of discoveries that within the year have increased the life expectancy of the people of the world. They hear many time honored bugaboos knocked down.

One that fell yesterday was the almost universal theory that persons 65 years of age—or older—are poor surgical risks. Dr. Elliott C. Cutler, professor of surgery, Harvard medical school, Boston, declared that within the last few months he has come to the conclusion that elderly persons who have survived the breakdown age—from 40 to 60 years—are just as good risks as persons much younger.

Deaths No Higher at 69.

"The very fact that persons have lived to be more than 65 indicates they are strong, tough folk, and can resist surgical procedures," said Dr. Cutler. "I recently examined the records of 100 persons, with an average age of 69, who have had gallstone operations. The mortality rate for the 100 was no higher than it would have been for people much younger.

"There are two periods that are particularly dangerous in a person's life: the 'infectious age—from 1 to 20 years when the diseases of childhood and youth must be passed—and the 'breakdown' age, when there is

ILLINOIS BARS PRINCIPALS IN BOXING EXPOSE

Developments came quickly yesterday in The Tribune's expose of two fixed heavyweight bouts. Gov. Horner of Illinois instructed the state athletic commission to bar all principals involved. Mayor Edward J. Kelly declared that the sport should be cleaned up. Harry Thomas, boxer, who admitted losing fake fights to Max Schmeling and Tony Galento, again declared his charges were true. Thomas' story was substantiated by a Chicago friend, Jack Newlander, who said the fighter wrote him prior to the Schmeling bout and told him he had agreed to lose to the German.

WOMAN JUROR SIGNS A VERDICT, THEN REVOKES IT

Changes Her Mind in Federal Court.

A woman on the first mixed jury ever to sit in the Chicago Federal court astonished the courtroom crowd yesterday by renouncing the verdict she had signed at 1:45 a. m. Saturday. Other women on the jury said they believed she had been worried by the prospect of not getting home for the week-end to see one of her children, who was believed to be on the verge of whooping cough.

Mrs. Katherine Merrifield.

When attorneys and court officials grasped the full significance of her act, which affected a $70,000 bequest to Northwestern university, Judge Michael L. Igoe refrained from entering the verdict. He explained last night:

"A verdict was returned, signed by all 12 jurors. The jurors were polled, asked individually if that were their verdict. Eleven responded that it was. One said it was not her verdict.

Doubt Cast on Verdict.

"That raises the question of whether or not a verdict has been returned. It will be argued within the next 10 days."

Royal W. Irwin, attorney for the university, which had lost the bequest under the written verdict, said the woman juror's assertion automatically nullifies the written verdict. He said the law plainly makes the case a mistrial.

Irwin said he will ask the court to enter a judgment for the university. Should his motion be denied, he said, he will ask a new trial.

Five of the six women on the jury are members of the Illinois League of Women Voters, one of the organizations that led the long fight which has just established women's right to serve as jurors.

Women Comment on Shift.

But women in public life, informed of the episode, said last night that it indicated that women should not sit as jurors.

The woman who changed her mind is Mrs. Katherine Merrifield. She is from the north shore, as were four of the other women who served with her, and is a member of the league.

Mrs. Merrifield is the wife of Dr. Frederick W. Merrifield, professor of oral surgery at Northwestern university. She is a graduate of Vassar college and Cornell university, where she received the degree of doctor of medicine. Before her marriage in 1926 she was a practicing physician in New York. She and her husband live with their four children at 1014 Elmwood road, Wilmette.

Legal authorities were puzzled last night by the fact that Mrs. Merrifield had been on the jury since her husband was a faculty member of the university to which the fortune had been left.

Will Contest at Issue.

The case involved the will of Samuel J. Howe, a Wheaton attorney who left his estate of $70,000 to the university and cut off his son, Willard C. Howe of New York, without a cent. The son contested the will, charging that his father had suffered from the delusion that he had been mistreated by his son.

The trial has been in progress since Oct. 3. It has been watched with interest because of the size of the gift to the university and because of the caprices of the mixed jury.

The women brought their tea things and made tea, the men responded by taking them to lunch, and once the trial was delayed because some of the women were arrested for speeding after spending too much time looking for some one to care for their children.

When the verdict was read in court yesterday it was found to set aside the will and deprive the university of its gift.

Not My Verdict, She Says.

The jurors were being polled in the routine manner to ascertain whether all had agreed on the ver-

Milk of Human Kindness Sours Over Enzymes

BY EDWARD WILSON.

Members of the city council were entertained yesterday by a debate on enzymes, cows' milk, mothers' milk, monkey glands, and monopolies. The debate lasted an hour. Aldermen Joseph C. Ross [40th] and James J. McDermott [14th], who shouted at each other across the council chambers, were the debaters.

Joseph C. Ross [top]; James J. McDermott.

The argument began when Ross, who is chairman of the council health committee, requested that the sale of enzyme modified cows' milk be permitted in Chicago.

Recommended for Babies.

Ross is a practising physician. He explained that the health committee held a score of public hearings attended by leading pediatricians who recommended the enzyme treated milk for the use of babies.

"I want to know more about this," McDermott shouted into his desk microphone. "I understand Armour & Co. have the sole right to this and we would be granting a monopoly. This stuff comes from the stomach of a hog and we would be putting the packing industry into the milk business."

McDermott, who is 6 feet 2 inches tall, is the champion rough and tumble debater of the stockyards district.

"Armour & Co. are the only people who make the product right now," Ross admitted. "I don't know if they have the sole right. But even if they did, as a physician, I would recommend this ordinance."

Just a Breaker-Upper!

"An enzyme is a complex property found in animals and vegetables and it helps to break down any substance so the stomach can digest it," he said.

Ross let this sink in and continued:

"Look, Jim," he said, addressing McDermott, "here is a great big curd that you find in cows' milk." He shaped his hands to indicate an object about the size of a paving brick. "Now you can't expect a tiny baby to digest that, can you?

"Well, this enzyme works on that big curd and makes it soft and flakey.

"Now a baby can digest that. It's closer to mothers' milk, and that has no curd at all," he added.

Didn't Have It "Back of Yards."

"Maybe so," shouted McDermott, "but when I was a baby back of the yards none of us had cows' milk or enzymes—and look at me. They didn't give us things that came from hogs' stomachs."

"Jim," replied Ross, "you've been getting something from the stomach of a pig for years, and liked it. When you ate peppermint as a kid you ate pepsin, and it came from a pig's stomach."

McDermott paid no attention to him. Instead he moved that the council table Ross' motion. "I think more hearings ought to be held, and I want to be there," he shouted.

Fears Monkey Glands Next.

"I'll withdraw my original motion," Ross replied. "I'll bring it in again and we'll have hearings, and I hope you all come. You ought to attend all hearings, anyway."

"Well, it's this way," was McDermott's final retort. "Once we passed an ordinance permitting them to treat milk in bottles with sun rays. Some of these scientists decided the sun hadn't been doing the cattle any good all these years. Now we want to use something from a hog in milk. Next we will be putting monkey glands in our eggnogs."

"By golly, that would do us a lot of good," was the Ross comeback.

The debate was over.

TWO GIRLS AND BOY WRITE BEST SLOGANS ABOUT TRAFFIC SAFETY

"It pays to pause; obey the laws."

"Watch the lights, not the sights."

These three slogans were judged the best in a contest conducted among public, parochial, and private high school pupils by the Chicago Automobile show committee and the Keep Chicago Safe committee. The winners are William Maass of Lane Technical High school, Rita Ann Hopkins of St. Lewis academy, and Jane Webb of the Y. M. C. A. Day High school.

Ruth Judd Is Captured Near State Asylum

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 30 [Special].—Shoeless, hungry, and disheveled, Winnie Ruth Judd, trunk slayer, was captured tonight on the grounds of the Arizona State Hospital for the Insane, from which she escaped last Tuesday night.

When caught by attendants as she fled from the home of Mel Larson, hospital engineer, Mrs. Judd was carrying a pillow case into which she had stuffed several cans of soup, spaghetti, bread, a jar of jelly, three old shoes and some stockings she had found there.

Taken before Dr. Louis J. Saxe, hospital superintendent, Mrs. Judd said: "Well, here I am. I promised to come back and I did."

Questioned about her whereabouts since she fled from the hospital to the nearby home of her parents, Mrs. Judd became hysterical. A sedative was given to her and she was put to bed under guard.

Hiding in Cornfield.

Before Mrs. Judd became too excited to talk she told Dr. Saxe she had been hiding in a cornfield on the hospital grounds a mile and a half from the main buildings. Mrs. Judd did not explain tonight where she got the old heavy coat she was wearing, nor what became of the new dress, shoes, and light coat she wore when she made a 15 minute visit to the home of her parents the night she fled.

Earlier in the day Sheriff Lon Jordan reported that Mrs. Judd had spent three hours last night in the home of a minister in Tempe, 10 miles east of Phoenix, and that she jumped from the minister's automobile at 3 a. m. when he was taking her back to the hospital.

A Different Version.

Dr. Saxe's story of Mrs. Judd's return differs from that of attendants, who said they caught her. Dr. Saxe said she returned voluntarily. Dr. Saxe announced last Saturday that if Mrs. Judd would return she would be allowed to operate a hospital beauty parlor and that no steps would be taken to find her sane. Such a finding would make her subject to hanging in accordance with the death sentence imposed on her in 1931 and again in 1933 for the murders of Agnes Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson, her rivals in a love affair. She dismembered their bodies and shipped them in trunks to Los Angeles.

Vote Gag Rule for Neutrality Fight in House

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—Ignoring vehement protests that the house was permitting itself to be used as a rubber stamp for the senate, the Roosevelt administration today pushed through the house rules committee a resolution sending the neutrality act to a conference with the senate after limited debate and a curb on amendments.

Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] charged that this procedure was a vicious gag rule by which the house waived its rights as a legislating body. Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.], altho he voted for the rule, admitted that it impinged on the rights of members and curbed the privilege of expressing views on every section of the bill. Other members, representing both parties, complained at a committee hearing that members were made legislative puppets by the action.

Gives Administration Control.

Approval of the resolution, after it is brought up on the house floor tomorrow, will leave the Democratic leadership in complete control of the time which house members will be allowed to discuss the measure. They also will be in a position to decide the quality of the instructions—if any—to be given the house conferees in its meetings with representatives of the senate.

A majority of the house conferees, who are appointed by the speaker, will be in favor of the senate version of the measure which differs radically from the bill which the house wrote last June.

The conference thus will result in approval of the senate measure, which will permit the United States to sell arms and munitions to warring nations, unless the house specifically instructs its conferees to fight for retention of the arms embargo.

In Hands of Speaker.

The parliamentary tangle, which had many members puzzled, thus boiled down to this one question of policy: Will the speaker recognize all motions to instruct the conferees on various sections of the bill or will he confine the house to a vote on the sole issue of the arms embargo repeal?

If the speaker recognizes all motions, the house will, in effect, be permitted to voice its attitude on every portion of the senate bill. Every such motion permits an hour of debate and a thorough discussion would be possible.

Speaker William B. Bankhead [D., Ala.], announced he would permit a direct vote on the arms embargo section by recognizing a motion by Representative Fish to instruct the house conferees to insist upon retaining the ban upon arms shipment to belligerent nations. There was no pledge from the leadership that other motions would be recognized in order that a vote may be taken by the members on other portions of the bill which took the senate five weeks to draft.

Eager for Final Action.

Bankhead and Majority Leader Sam Rayburn of Texas said that two days of debate ought to satisfy the house members. The Democratic leaders are anxious to get to final action on the bill because of fears that their following is dwindling to a point where the administration may lose the battle in the house.

The rules committee vote was 7 to 4 in favor of the resolution sending the bill to conference. It was a strict party vote with the seven Democrats voting for and the four Republicans against the rule.

Members of the rules committee quarreled heatedly over the resolution with Representative Fish leading the fight for liberal debate and a chance to offer amendments to the neutrality act.

Suspends Rights of House.

"This is perhaps the most important piece of legislation before congress in 20 years," he declared. "The bill which we passed has been thrown out by the senate and an entirely new version written.

"The house is supposed to be equal to the senate but if this resolution goes thru, we cease to be a legislative body and become a rubber stamp for the senate. It's the most vicious gag rule I've ever heard of."

Chairman Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.], contended that the house would have ample opportunity to discuss Hitler Planes Battle Destroyer Flotilla.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Oct. 31, Tuesday (AP).—The German high command today reported a resumption of artillery fire on the western front after a two day lull and the shooting down of four enemy planes.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, Oct. 31, Tuesday (AP).—Military sources reported today a French town about six miles within the border had been shelled heavily in a resumption of German artillery action on the western front. The town was not otherwise identified. French antiaircraft batteries shot down at least one German plane 100 miles inside French territory, it was announced.

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP).—A battle between two German bombers and a flotilla of British destroyers off the Dogger Bank in the North sea today was reported by the admiralty.

Arrow locates site of air-naval battle.

The announcement said there were no casualties on any of the British warships and that none of the vessels was damaged in the exchange of fire. It was not known whether the Germans suffered any casualties.

The British royal air force made extensive scouting flights over German aviation fields in northern Germany, the air ministry announced. Up to midnight one of the planes had not returned.

Flyers Take Photographs.

"In spite of opposition," the announcement said, "much valuable information was gained and many photographs were taken."

It was also announced that three British ships, the Lynx, St. Nidan and the Malabar, and the Norwegian vessel Varangmalm were sunk over the week-end "by enemy action." Seventy survivors of the Malabar, which was destroyed with a loss of five lives, landed in western England.

[Dispatches from Stavanger, Norway, said the Varangmalm struck a mine in the North sea en route from the North cape to Antwerp with a cargo of iron ore. The crew of 30 was said to have been rescued.]

Fishermen of the trawler St. Nidan reported they were shipwrecked twice in one night by a submarine whose commander said, "It's not you fellows we want, it's Chamberlain [British prime minister]."

Submarine Flees.

They would have been shipwrecked a third time but the submarine apparently mistook another trawler for a warship. Hardly had the trawler Lynx picked them up after the St. Nidan went down when it, too, was sunk. Then the trawler Lady Hogarth appeared and the submarine fled.

[A Swedish ship arriving at Haugesund on the west coast of Norway reported it had rescued 90 sailors from three torpedoed British ships. The survivors were taken to a British port.]

Tonight 19 of the 23 persons aboard the Finnish steamer Juno, 1,241 tons, were landed in England by the Norwegian ship Minona. The Juno sank in the North sea today after an explosion.

Nazi Air Raider Escapes.

The air and sea battle in the North sea came shortly after the first German air raider over England since the war's start was sighted on the northeast coast. Aerial fighters went aloft, but it escaped, the air ministry said, before contact could be made. No bombs were dropped.

Previous German flights were directed at the Firth of Forth in Scotland and the Scapa Flow naval base in the Orkney islands, rather than at England.

German planes were sighted near England three days after war was declared, but the ministry of information announced at the time that no bombs were dropped and that the invaders apparently did not "penetrate our defenses at any point."

British fighter planes also went up today to investigate the presence of an unidentified aircraft off the Essex coast. Alarms were sounded in the east Kent area, and the all-clear signal was given about 10 minutes later.

Air raid warnings sounded in London for the first time since the first week of the war, but it developed they were sounded by mistake.

The ministry of home security said "an official inquiry has been made into the sounding of air raid sirens in central London this morning. It appears that at one police barracks a message was wrongly interpreted and sirens were sounded accordingly."

A new development in air raid precautions was the offering of backyard shelters to the public on an instalment purchase plan. The shelters can be bought outright or on a monthly payment plan at costs ranging from about $27 to $40, depending on the size.

Subs Attack 24 Merchantmen.

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 30 (AP).—At least three German submarines were reported to have attacked a convoy of 24 merchantmen which left Gibraltar Oct. 14, sinking five of them, the crew of the Swedish vessel Bardaland said on arrival here today.

The Bardaland in two rescues took aboard 61 members of the crew of the Glasgow steamer Clan Chisholm, which gave a report of the attack. The Chisholm crew men, who were landed at Kirkwall, said they were unable to give the names of the other ships sunk or how many were lost.

Rescue 24 in Lifeboat.

The Bardaland reported the vessels left Gibraltar accompanied by British warships, which returned to Gibraltar after 24 hours. The merchantmen were attacked the next day.

[Previous reports from Gibraltar said four ships were sunk near Gibraltar—the Ledbury, 3,528 tons; the Menin Ridge, 2,474 tons; the Tafna, 4,413 tons, and the Clan Chisholm, 7,256 tons.]

The Bardaland rescued a Clan Chisholm lifeboat Oct. 20, 300 miles northwest of Cape Finisterre in a rough sea. Five Englishmen and 19 Indians had been in the boat for three days. Their only food was two biscuits and one cup of water a day per man. Two of the men were injured.

Later the same day the Bardaland picked up another Clan Chisholm lifeboat containing 37 men.

ENGLAND'S ENVOY DENIES ATHENIA HAD GUNS ABOARD

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 (AP).—The British government formally denied today that the liner Athenia carried guns, was designed to be a raider, or was sunk by the British.

A note presented at the state department by Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, also said that the ship carried neither bullion nor securities, and reiterated: "According to the evidence in the possession of his majesty's government, she was sunk by a submarine." Twenty-eight Americans were lost when the liner went down Sept. 3.

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, German propaganda minister, had charged that the Athenia carried guns for Canadian coast defense and for equipping the ship as a raider. He suggested the British sank the liner in an effort to involve the United States of America in the war.

CANADA TO TRAIN 25,000 EMPIRE PILOTS YEARLY

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 30.—Australian and New Zealand air missions will arrive here this week to augment the British mission already here and to complete plans for the training of 25,000 empire pilots yearly in Canada.

This action is taken by neutral observers as substantiating the belief that Canada rapidly is becoming the war factory of the British empire. The planes to be used will be those which the pilots are to fly in fighting, bombing, or reconnaissance on the western front.

No British air contracts have been let in Canada since the war began, but observers believe hopes of obtaining the machines for the scheme are pinned on the United States if and when the embargo is lifted by congress.

CAPTURED FLINT SAILS ON AFTER HALT IN NORWAY

Warship Escorts Vessel to Sea at Tromsoe.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 30 (AP).—The captive American freighter City of Flint, which the Germans are trying to slip through the British blockade, proceeded on her dangerous southward way tonight after being escorted from Norwegian waters by a Norwegian warship.

Aboard were both her German prize crew and her American crew of 42 men.

Reports from Tromsoe, in northwestern Norway, that the freighter had called at that port today, were confirmed by the German consul there, when he was reached by telephone. He said he had gone aboard but he declined to give further information.

Pauses for 3 Hours.

However, it was learned the City of Flint had put in at the port at 1 p. m. [6 a. m., Chicago time] and departed three hours later.

The early approach of nightfall in this northern latitude at this season favored the German prize crew in its efforts to take the American vessel into a German port—probably Hamburg—for disposition of its cargo, alleged to contain contraband. It was already dark when she sailed at 4 p. m.

The reports from Tromsoe provided the first clew to the vessel's progress since Saturday night when official Russian sources said she had sailed from Murmansk, Russian port in the Arctic. Tromsoe is about 500 miles from Murmansk, which is above the Arctic circle and more than 800 miles from Hamburg.

Nazis Criticize Roosevelt.

BERLIN, Oct. 30 (AP).—Criticism of America for a "twofold yardstick" policy in connection with the European war was voiced today by the Deutsche Diplomatisch-Politische Korrespondentz, German foreign office mouthpiece.

It cited as "symptoms" the case of the City of Flint and the "differentiating treatment" of armed commercial ships and U-boats by President Roosevelt, with its "dangerous obliteration of the character of war and trade ships."

[Mr. Roosevelt at a press conference on Oct. 20, when asked about the possibility of extending to surface vessels of belligerent European nations the restrictions he imposed by proclamation on the use of American ports and territorial waters by their submarines, said he did not think the two were analogous.]

The foreign office organ said the manner of the "snatching up" of the City of Flint affair "points to the fact that responsible officials in America are permitting the case to be pressed more and more into a fixed direction."

Calls America "Partial."

"It hardly corresponds," Korrespondenz continued, "to the spirit of impartiality if on the one hand 'a case' is to be constructed for a definite actual purpose at the expense of all possible propaganda methods out of a prize affair which was carried out orderly with strict consideration for the men and goods and which is to be objectively settled before a German prize court.

"When, however, on the other hand numerous American ships are brought in and subjected to criminal search, such disturbances do not appear worth mentioning because it is English action."

It pointed to recent speeches by Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary of War Woodring in which they said the United States was determined to keep out of war and the American senate's action in approving repeal of the embargo act.

Refers to Athenia Sinking.

From the joy which prevailed in England and France it must be assumed, the commentary added, "that at least in the eyes of the western powers those assurances of the President and his war minister were not to be taken so seriously after all."

"The lifting of the arms embargo," the commentary said, "alone could hardly justify such enthusiasm if it was not imputed at the same time that this was only the first stage.

"Even if the attack on the Athenia did not immediately lead to the desired goal, there remained—especially since all American doors stand open for English propaganda — always enough other possibilities to induce the desired second step and, if still necessary, the third step.

"Symptoms" such as the City of Flint "did not exactly discourage such seriously nursed hopes in the west."

[The Athenia, a British passenger ship, was sunk Sept. 3 in the North Atlantic. The British charged a German submarine torpedoed her. Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, German minister of propaganda, charged the ship was sunk on British command with the object of getting America into the European war.]

CARRIED CHICAGO CARGO.

Commander Eugene F. McDonald of Chicago, president of the Zenith Radio corporation and the Wincharger corporation, reported yesterday that the cargo of the steamer City of Flint included a large consignment of winchargers — electric generators equipped with wind propellers and used to generate electricity from the wind. He said the winchargers were destined for Ireland, a neutral country, where they were to be installed in air raid shelters.

They were married June 1, 1935, and had no children. She asked no alimony, but retained the name of McNellis. Her former husband lives at 3000 Sheridan road.

BELIEVE GERMANS MISSED CHANCE TO WRECK SOVIET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 30.—If Germany ever had hoped to liquidate bolshevism in soviet Russia, the Nazis missed their greatest opportunity shortly after the Red invasion of Poland, according to the beliefs of military experts in the Baltic countries whose opinions have been received here.

The opportunity came after the Nazi-soviet nonaggression treaty of Aug. 24 had been signed, but before Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop went to Moscow on Sept 28 to sign a friendship treaty.

200 Miles from Bases.

The Red army, since the purge, is officered and led by officers without higher military education. The Red fleet is in a similar situation. The Baltic militarists assert that in such a position, Russia could no more withstand Germany than Poland could, and the outcome would have been certain.

When the Red advance into Poland was nearly complete, the Russians were almost 200 miles away from their strongly fortified lines along the former eastern frontier of Poland.

The Baltic experts assert that three German motorized divisions, such as were used in Poland, placed in eastern Estonia and supported by the Estonians and Latvians, would have defeated the soviet forces at Pskov [a few miles east of the Estonian-soviet border]. They assert it is doubtful if Dictator Stalin's régime would have survived such a defeat.

Would Benefit British.

There were a number of reasons, the Baltic military men believe, which probably influenced the German general staff not to take this step:

FIRST—If bolshevism were dissolved, England would gain strength, particularly in the near east, where Russia still is a menace, particularly to Britain's ally, Turkey.

SECOND—So long as Stalin remains in power and apparently willing to coöperate with Fuehrer Hitler, the Germans also are in position to place great pressure upon Turkey and Rumania, whose independence England has guaranteed.

Observers here, in the words of one, believe that "Rumania is browning nicely and might soon be served on a silver plater." Russia wants back its world war lost territory of Bessarabia. Bulgaria wants back Dobruja. Hungarians believe they would have German and Italian good wishes if they sought to retrieve Transylvania.

MOSCOW TO HAIL DEFEATED POLES' UNION WITH REDS

Soviet Parliament to Meet Today.

MOSCOW, Oct. 30 (AP).—Soviet Russia, with great fanfare, will set the stage tomorrow for welcoming "liberated" sections of Polish White Russia and the Western Ukraine into the soviet union and "under the sun of Stalin."

The fifth extraordinary session of the soviet supreme council, or parliament, called to take over the two provinces returned to Russia by the German-Russian partition of Poland, is expected to last a week.

Well informed circles were of the opinion that Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov would address the council on his foreign policy. It was believed he would report on the recently concluded mutual assistance pacts with Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia as well as relations with Germany.

May Tell War Attitude.

Taking their cue from recent opinions expressed in the controlled Russian press, some diplomatic observers held it likely that Molotov would make a statement on Russia's attitude on the war in Europe.

Next week will be a crowded one for soviet officials, who will be busy with the parliament session and who also will observe the official holidays beginning Nov. 7 on the twenty-second anniversary of the Red revolution.

A Firm "No" to Russia.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 30 (AP).—Thousands of Finns who have left Finland's cities for safer areas were urged tonight to remain in the evacuation centers while the government prepared what political quarters indicated would be a firm "no" to soviet Russian demands.

The Minstry of interior in an announcement said some Finns who left their homes at the first indication of possible trouble were returning and that others were planning a similar move. Government officials said the critical situation which caused the original exodus was not changed.

Translators in the foreign office worked on Finland's reply to Russia, which will be presented to Dictator Stalin by a delegation which was expected to leave Helsingfors tomorrow night for Moscow.

Third Trip for Delegates.

It will be the third trip to Moscow for Dr. Juho Kusti Paasikivi, head of the delegation, and Finance Minister Vaino Tanner.

Informed political quarters intimated that Finland's reply was based on the conviction that Russia needed no naval or air bases on Finnish soil to protect her position on the Baltic and Gulf of Finland.

While the actual subject of the negotiations remained an official secret, reports circulating thru the capital said Russia had asked for a 50 mile strip of the coast and four Finnish islands in the Gulf of Finland, a military pact and the right to participate in the fortification of the strategic Aaland islands. The foreign office declined to comment on the reports.

A campaign for a defense fund of 500,000,000 marks [about $9,400,000] was in full swing. A group of insurance firms has announced it was taking one-fifth of the total issue of bonds. Voluntary contributions to the fund were said to be close to $1,000,000.

BRITISH SHOPKEEPERS WANT BUSINESS; DEFY EARLY CLOSING EDICT

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP).—Shopkeepers all over Great Britain, holding out for "business as usual" in this war of waiting, have decided to defy an early closing order which went into force today.

The order says stores must close at 6 p. m. weekdays and 7 p. m. Saturdays, but London has taken advantage of a provision which permits local authorities to extend the limits one hour. Merchants met at Birmingham Sunday and voted to ignore the regulation, designed to clear the streets early.

The action opened what some members of parliament called "grievance week" for the house of commons. When the house meets tomorrow, the opposition will focus attention on the government's wartime powers to restrict freedom of speech and the press. Other complaints concern postal delays, darkness of trains and widespread dislocation of business.

CATHOLIC PAPER ASSAILS ACTION TO LIFT EMBARGO

Roosevelt Plan Branded Road to War.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

In an editorial that charged proponents of the embargo repeal with hypocrisy and an attempt to mislead the country, the November issue of The Extension Magazine, official journal of the Catholic Church Extension society, impugned the motives behind the cash and carry legislation for the sale of arms and munitions to warring nations.

The Extension society, 360 North Michigan avenue, national missions organization of the Catholic church, is led by the Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese of Chicago. Bishop O'Brien is editor in chief of the Extension Magazine. The November issue is dedicated to the late Cardinal Mundelein, former chancellor or the society.

[A few days after Cardinal Mundelein's death the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, senior auxiliary bishop of Chicago, made a radio address in praise of President Roosevelt's program for repealing the neutrality law and lifting the arms embargo.]

Plan Termed Road to War.

The editorial, titled "The Time Has Come," is ascribed to the managing editor's pen. Simon Baldus is managing editor of The Extension Magazine. The bill permitting sales of arms to belligerent nations was denied the right to be called a "neutrality bill" in the editorial and was declared to be the opposite; it was referred to as a bill to put the United States into Europe's war.

"The bill offered is not a neutrality bill," the editorial declared. "Its apparent motive and undisguised purpose is to enable the United States to aid and abet the one side [England and France] as against the other [Germany and its allies]. There can be no doubt on that score, for the President of the United States and the secretary of state have practically admitted this.

"I do not recall any bill in the last 25 years that had so many fateful implications for the American people; nor a bill that contained so many confused points, so many obscurities and twistifications. To begin with, the President and the secretary of state have declared that if the Pittman bill becomes a law it will keep the United States out of war.

Legal Authorities Cited.

"That may be their belief; a belief from which it is my privilege to dissent. Instead of keeping us out of war, the neutrality act of 1939 will inevitably help to put us into the war."

In contending that the bill is not a neutrality measure, the editorial cites internationally recognized authorities on international law. It assailed President Roosevelt's radio plea for dependence upon international law.

"It may be stated," the editorial said, "that much of the confusion over the subject of neutrality could be cleared up, if, instead of prating about international law we would call the thing by its right name—international politics. That is the crux of the whole question and should be insisted upon by all debaters."

Asks Roosevelt's Position.

Waving aside the fact that the bill aids only France and England, the editorial then asked where the bill leaves the President, who, the editorial adds, has repeatedly declared that he hates war and wants to travel the way of peace.

"May I remind the President that the road to peace is not strewn with dragon's teeth," the editorial declared. "I find it hard to understand how one can proclaim himself an apostle of peace and in the same breath insist that he be free to send arms, munitions, and implements of war to both [or, more accurately speaking, to one] of the belligerents. It does not make sense."

The editorial said the salient point in the bill is that it adds to the President's dictatorial powers. It asserted that already the President has gone beyond his constitutional right in proclaiming a state of emergency, and declared that such emergency can be proclaimed constitutionally only when the country either is actually involved in war or when the country's entry into conflict is imminent.

Editorial Assails Hypocrisy.

"The President is avid for power and jealous of his authority," the editorial said. "As a matter of fact, there is a lot of hypocrisy about this whole 'neutrality' legislation. Goods whether forbidden or declared contraband will reach the stronger side. In like manner the 'cash and carry' or 'credit' plan could be frustrated.

"Let us be honest about it. Let us not lay ourselves open to the charge of knavery. It is no secret where the administration stands.

"By insisting that the embargo be lifted, President Roosevelt is like a man who, holding a flaming torch in his hand, rushes into a powder magazine to look for a leak in a gas pipe."

The magazine announced that future issues will contain discussions of neutrality.

Sues for Divorce

Los Angeles, Oct. 30 (AP). — Ruby Keeler filed suit today for a divorce from Al Jolson. She made only one charge, extreme cruelty. Her complaint, filed in Superior court, said a property settlement had been made out of court. The Jolsons were married at Port Chester, N. Y., Sept. 21, 1928.

Ruby, former actress and dancing star, asks custody of their adopted son, Al Jr., who is 4 years and 8 months old. She is 29 years old; Jolson is 53.

NYE FORECASTS ATTACK ON CASH AND CARRY LAW

Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] asserted last night that if the house of representatives concurs with the senate in passing the administration's neutrality repealer it will be only a few weeks before congress will be asked to cancel the cash-and-carry provision of the new law.

Senator Nye made his prediction of a gradual forcing of the country into the European war in a debate with Eenator Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah] before 6,000 in Sinai temple.

Senator Thomas, defending the lifting of the arms embargo, said: "I do not think America will go into this war because I know the American people do not want to get in. They want peace tempered with good will, not peace tempered with vengeance."

"President Wilson hated war," retorted Senator Nye, "yet he failed to keep us out of the last one because hidden forces were at work. These forces are as much alive today as they were in 1914, 1915, and 1916."

VOTE GAG RULE FOR NEUTRALITY FIGHT IN HOUSE

Prepare to Rush Bill to Conference.

the measure but did not explain how this would be done.

"It's a fact that the house conferees will be in favor of what the senate has done," interjected Representative Cox. "Let's be candid about this. I am going to vote for the resolution but I do so in the full knowledge that it may operate to deny to the membership the privilege of expressing its views on every senate amendment which differs from the house bill. It probably means that the house will have to take a bill embodying many amendments to which members seriously object."

Plead for Amendments.

Seven Republican and one Democratic congressmen appeared before the committee to plead for a chance to consider amendments without limitation.

"We are much closer to the people than the senators," remarked Mrs. Edith N. Rogers [R., Mass.]. "They expect us to fight for full and complete consideration of this measure."

"The house is entitled to a complete cross-examination of the senate bill," agreed Representative Karl E. Mundt [R., N. D.]. "Are we to be mere puppets who are given a chance to talk about the bill but not amend it?"

Representative John M. Vorys [R., O.], author of the arms embargo provision which was approved by the house last June 30 by a vote of 214 to 173, remarked that the house has been awaiting eagerly a chance to consider the bill for many weeks and was entitled to free discussion and an opportunity to offer amendments.

Sabath and Cox Clash.

Representatives Sabath and Cox clashed when the former mentioned the City of Flint incident as a reason for hasty action on the bill, asserting that the ship would not have been seized if the senate bill had been law.

"You force me to retaliate when you inject that question," Cox declared, angrily. "There is being prosecuted in this country right now a campaign to stimulate a war feeling against Germany and in favor of Great Britain and France. The City of Flint incident has been played up while nothing has been said about the seizure of 26 American ships by Great Britain and her allies."

Two Killed as Army Plane Falls on Railroad Tracks

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 30 (AP).—Crash of an army training plane sent two men to their deaths today in what officers said was the first fatal accident under the new civilian aviation training program. The dead were Joseph A. Kilman, 25 years old, Greenville, Tex., civilian instructor for the air corp detachment of the Dallas Aviation school, and C. H. Goodwin Jr., 24, Stephenville, Tex., army aviation cadet. The PT-3 training ship fell squarely on a railroad track several miles from Dallas. Kilman, a civilian instructor since July 1, was at the controls.

Rural England Keeps Calm; Undisturbed by War Dangers

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SEVENOAKS, Kent, England, Oct. 30.—In this war London, as you have read in these dispatches, has become a grim fortress—sandbagged, evacuated and blackened at night and its activities slowed to the tempo of the 18th century. As Johnson and Goldsmith moved about Fleet street with lanterns, so the modern Fleet street man moves about with a flashlight and it is an adventure at night to grope your way west as far as Charing Cross.

Villages of rural area near London.

But whatever the war has done to London it has not had much effect on the more remote rural districts that surround it only 25 miles or so away. Take, for instance, my favorite Kent village of Shoreham, near here, which early in August when I last visited it had the firm conviction that there would be no war.

Attitude of Villagers.

Shoreham and its fellow town, Otford, lie on the old Canterbury pilgrims' trail and the district makes a stretch of country that should be kept intact and unspoiled to remind Englishmen of their truly rural heritage.

Today I went down to Shoreham to see how the villagers felt about the war and how much they were disturbed by it.

I found their village had few traces of war and that the villagers themselves accepted it calmly. They were more inclined to look on it as a sort of low-class diversion indulged in by townspeople.

From Fleet street I took a train thru dismal rows of London housetops, passed hovel and castle, and rattled on past the back ends of uniform houses and garden plots, each with its dugout air raid shelter and chimneys thru which no smoke issued, for more than an hour until I came to the open green and lush fields and woods with rich autumn tints that betokened Kent.

A Monument in Chalk.

On the western slope of the green hills that roll down to Shoreham is a giant white cross carved in chalk. The villagers made it. It is a monument to their dead in the last war. Today I noticed that dead grass and bracken had been strewn over it to camouflage it from enemy airmen.

Fences and streets along the road from the station to the village bore streaks of white paint which serve as guides during blackouts but you might not notice this unless you were looking for it.

But the village itself appears as usual, a sign on a house or two indicating a billeting office or an air raid warden's establishment. Nothing else.

Farther thru the village you turn on to a grassy square where there is a bandstand and now you see they have prepared an air raid shelter and trench, replete with duckboards and seats if there are raids of long duration but it is a precaution—it scarcely meets the eye.

Tree for Departed King.

Out in front is a slip of a tree which they planted four years ago in honor of the late King George V.'s jubilee. How long it seems. Village life goes on as usual.

At the Royal Oak pub the regular customers are on hand and it all seems the same, except that beside the dart board is posted a blue notice reading:

"Don't help the enemy. Careless talk may give away vital secrets."

The villagers observe this. But today there was a discussion of war taxes, for beer costs another penny per pint now.

"That's one way we pay for it," said a farmer, blowing the froth off his tankard.

"Well, some one's got to," added another.

It all seems unreal to the villagers. They don't think there will be much bombing, but still they all go about with gas masks, most of them a cheap moral-support variety, but some with the real kind for air raid wardens.

Talk of Parachute Army.

What worried them today more than bomb raids was a story that had gone about last week-end that the Germans planned to drop a contingent of soldiers from planes by parachute—right in the middle of Kent. This was something to speculate about. However, no one believes it is practicable and the subject finally was dismissed at the bar with shakes of heads.

It is only at midnight, perhaps, that the war finds the village as it finds London. Then its single street is blacked out like Piccadilly, windows are securely curtained, and no lamps are lighted. But the villagers are used to being plunged into darkness anyway once the pub is closed.

By day the village is a humming hive and pursues its droning course. Buses ply as usual from Shoreham and Otford and Sevenoaks and from a bus seat you can see that much more soil is being turned over by the plow this autumn.

Pastures to Be Tilled.

Fields that you had been used to observing as green pasture lands now show the rich brown soil. The war means that this island has to raise more food. It is having a stimulating effect on agriculture. The government some months ago granted a bounty on each acre plowed up.

Shoreham, too, has its quota of children and mothers who were brought here from the city. Hosts of evacuated children get $1.20 per head.

VICEROY CALLS IN GANDHI TO WEIGH STATUS OF INDIA

Second Ministry Resigns Over British Policy.

NEW DELHI, Oct. 30.—The British viceroy, the marquess of Linlithgow, has invited Mohandas K. Gandhi, Rajendra Prasad, president of the India congress, and M. A. Jinnah, president of the Muslim league, to meet him here Wednesday.

It is understood they will discuss the controversy over India's future status. Both Gandhi and Prasad will leave Wardha for New Delhi tomorrow.

Second Ministry Quits.

A second congress ministry, that of the United Provinces, resigned today in line with last week's resolution of the congress working committee. This was announced by Premier Pandit G. B. Pant after the provincial legislative assembly had adopted, by a vote of 127 to 2, a resolution expressing disapproval of a recent declaration by the viceroy.

[In a paper outlining the British government's policy regarding India, the viceroy said that dominion status was the eventual aim, but that this would have to wait for the conclusion of the war.]

Madras Ministry Thru.

The governor of Madras, Lord Erskine, today accepted the resignation of the Madras congress ministry. An advisory board of three members of the Indian civil service is being appointed to carry on the government.

Resignation of the two ministries appears to leave the political situation unchanged. The next move is held to depend on the discussions here Wednesday.

HOPE FOR 2 BROTHERS ON NEW YORK TO LIMA FLIGHT IS ABANDONED

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 30 (AP).—Hope for the success of an attempted nonstop 4,014 mile flight from New York to Lima by two Peruvian brothers was abandoned by Lima airport officials tonight as the flyers' fuel supply deadline passed without word of their landing.

Commander Humberto Gal'lino, of the Peruvian navy, and Capt. Victor Gal'lino, of the Peruvian army, took off from Floyd Bennett Field in New York at 12:43 p. m. [Chicago time] Sunday and had expected to reach here at 2:43 p. m. [Chicago time] today.

Their 1,150 gallon fuel supply was expected to last a maximum of 30 hours. This limit was passed at 6:43 p. m. [Chicago time]. No word had been heard of them since their craft was reported sighted over Miami, Fla., at 9:58 p. m. [Chicago time] Sunday.

AMERICA, 1854. A land of fertile soil and boundless forests, rushing streams, and teeming mines. A rough, raw, striving land, impatient for the conquest of its future. A golden land of promise and fulfillment, where men find fame and fortune overnight, and you are king and I am king and any man may rule.

Yet, before the year was up, John Pirie and Samuel Carson owned two stores in middle Illinois, one at La Salle and one at Amboy. A year later, with the help of two old friends from County Down, George and Robert Scott, who two years later became partners, they owned three more—at Polo, Sterling, and Galena. BRITAIN ISSUES WHITE PAPER ON 'NAZI TORTURES'

Bares Reports as Reply to German Charges.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The British government today accused Nazis of inflicting tortures on inmates of German concentration camps in a white paper entitled "Papers Concerning the Treatment of German Nationals in Germany, 1938-1939."

The government said it was forced to disclose the facts so that the public might know that under the present German régime "the treatment accorded is reminiscent not of Macedonia but of the darkest ages in the history of man."

The British admitted the reason for the publication of the white paper was to influence public opinion and to retort to a Nazi radio broadcast telling of alleged British atrocities in the Boer war. The British radio makes it possible for the Germans to listen to the charges contained in the white paper.

Cites Consular Report.

The British government, as authority for statements about concentration camps, cited reports to the foreign office by a "charity organization working in Germany" and reports filed by consular officers on the basis of testimony given by inmates.

The white paper published a statement by a Jewish prisoner, "Herr Z," who was "arrested in a roundup in the streets of Berlin without any cause or pretext." The prisoner was quoted as follows:

"On our arrival [at Buchenwald] there was a roll call lasting for hours, with address by the commandant, who had received all instructions for our 'reception.'

"'Camp orders: This is no prison or place of correction. Here there are other methods. Any attempt at escape or attack [mere talking or gesticulating can be taken as such] is stopped by a charged wire.

"'Every sentry is to use his rifle without warning if any one moves in his direction. Every bullet costs 12 pfennigs [about 5 cents] and that is just what a Jew is worth.'

Words of Abuse.

"All this was interrelated with words of abuse. . . .

"We form ranks at 4:30 a. m. Coffee distribution is at 4:45 a. m. on the square where the gallows stand and the blocks [for flogging].

"At 5:30 a. m. there is the end of the roll call; until then we stand stiffly at attention. Those who have reported sick now come forward and are separated and inspected by the commandant. He at once treats the 'fit' with his riding whip in their face in the presence of the others.

"The commandant decides by sight who is 'ripe' for the doctor. These number 6 or 7 per cent. The others have to go back into the labor gang. There is no differentiation of the sick in the labor gang; they are helped on by sticks and a riding whip.

Forced to Break Stone.

"Work consists of stone breaking a quarter of an hour away from the road which is to be built. It is outside the camp, but within the charged wires.

"Attempts at flight occur, but all end with shooting. Many end their sufferings by feigning flight in order to be shot down. Everywhere sentries are posted around. . . .

"A quarter-hour's stretch of roadwork is done 12 to 15 times in the morning and eight times in the afternoon by those who really are able to work; cripples do half of this . . .

"Woe to any one who trips! Any one who is unfit gets blows from a club by the overseer and after him, the guards with the butts of their rifles follow suit. Floggings take place at the afternoon roll call.

Tells of Raid on Cathedral.

The white paper included an account of a mob attack on St. Stephen's cathedral in Vienna in October, 1938. Dr. St. Clair Gainer, British consul general, in a report to Sir Nevile Henderson, then British ambassador to Berlin, said:

"Once inside they [the Nazis] destroyed every religious picture to be seen, leaving other pictures untouched, smashed the busts of several popes, stole valuable chalices and three episcopal rings, and collected the robes and even the personal wardrobe of the cardinal [Theodor Innitzer], which they threw into the courtyard, with several articles of furniture, and set fire to them."

Gainer said the leader of this assault was a boy, 16 years old.

HITLER POLICIES ALIENATE FAVOR OF SWISS PEOPLE

Many Talk German but Back Neutrality.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 30.—Adolf Hitler's program for Nazi Germany, as it emerged in the last two or three years, has had the effect of uniting the German, French, and Italian speaking Swiss people firmly behind a single ideal, that of remaining neutral in the war.

Switzerland's highly trained army is mobilized, not to be ready to help one side or the other but to make as certain as possible that its borders will not be violated by either.

Sentiment Against Germany.

The beginning of this war, however, finds the sympathy of the man in the street exactly opposite to what it was at the beginning of the world war, when the nation was predominantly pro-German. For this there are two reasons: First, Hitler's racial theories are incompatible with the ideals of Swiss democracy; second, Hitler's policy in seizing areas occupied by people of German descent to provide more living room for Germany is regarded with strong disfavor in this country, where two-thirds of the inhabitants speak German.

This sympathy for the cause of the empires in no way affects the determination of the Swiss to keep out of the fight. There does not seem to be any group here willing to sponsor any measure which might eventually embroil the nation in war or which could be construed as unneutral.

Conquest Called Needless.

A Swiss business man explained the attitude of the country toward periodic European wars.

"If a country is run properly, it can get everything it needs without a constant war of expansion," he said. "Switzerland cannot grow enough food to feed itself, it has no coal or oil, and the terrain is largely mountainous, yet we manage our affairs to maintain a high standard of living. We developed what we had instead of going to war to take what somebody else had. Other countries, too, could do it."

Germany is continuing to ship coal through Switzerland to Italy in payment for goods imported from that country.

With Germany heavily in debt to Italy, Italians are reported to be reluctant to ship any further goods without payment.

Swiss Vote Backs Neutrality.

BERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 30 (AP).—Incomplete returns from the weekend's nation-wide parliamentary election showed today the Swiss gave overwhelming support to their conservative neutral government.

Hair Singed by Lightning, Pilot Lands Safely with 22

BRINDISI, Italy, Oct. 30 (AP).—The pilot's hair was singed and his clothes burned by lightning which struck the plane during a mountain storm, passengers said, but the British Imperial Airways plane proceeded on its course and landed safely here today with 16 passengers and a crew of six.

WESTERN FRONT SPRINGS TO LIFE AS SKIES CLEAR

Both Sides Raid; Planes 'Intensely Active.'

PARIS, Oct. 30 (AP).—Patrol raids were renewed today along the entire western front, accompanied by intense activity of both fighting and scouting planes, the French high command announced.

The return of relatively good weather after more than a week of rains, wind, and snow also revived artillery action in local bombardments.

The Germans were reported maintaining heavy troop concentrations all along the front. Military men said, however, that several days of dry weather would still be necessary to harden the soaked ground enough to permit large scale operations.

Planes Scout Rhine Front.

French scouting parties began a series of cautious exploratory operations before the German line between Saarbruecken and Zweibruecken, and are said to have obtained valuable information on the strength of the German concentrations. British and French planes, escorted by fighting squadrons, scouted Nazi concentrations on the east bank of the Rhine.

The French general staff's communique this morning stated:

Tonight's communique from the French staff added:

"Activity of contact units on the whole of the front. Local artillery activity. Our chaser and reconnoitering aircraft have been intensely active.

Report Small Sea Losses.

"In the course of the first two months of the war, six French merchantmen of a total tonnage of 41,000 have been lost. During the same period we have captured four ships, one of which, the German freighter Halle, was sunk by her crew. The three others, of a total of 19,000 tons, are being made use of by us. Since hostilities began our merchant fleet has, therefore, been reduced 22,000 tons, or about 1 per cent of the total seagoing tonnage."

The duke of Windsor reviewed yesterday the troops that repulsed a heavy German attack on Oct. 16.

Guns Roar Near Luxemburg.

LUXEMBURG, Oct. 30 (AP).—Increased artillery activity was reported today along the Moselle and Saar rivers.

LUTHERANS URGE PARLEY CHANGE FROM AMERICA

American members of the commission on the Lutheran World convention scheduled for next May at Philadelphia, Pa., met yesterday in the Atlantic hotel where they adopted a recommendation that the projected meeting be called off or held in another country. Advisers to the American committee at yesterday's meeting included presidents of three national synods.

Missions of German churches in India, East Africa, and Palestine, where 200 missionaries have been interned, will be taken over by churches of neutral countries, the Rev. Dr. Ralph H. Long of New York, director of the National Lutheran council, said.

The American committee includes Dr. Long, Dr. Frederick H. Knubel of the United Lutheran church; Dr. Lars W. Boe, president of St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., and Abdel Wentz of Gettysburg Theological seminary. Dr. J. A. Aasgard of the Norwegian church, Dr. Peter O. Bersell of the Augustana synod and Dr. T. O. Burntvendt of the Lutheran Free church, attended the meeting. These synod presidents live in Minneapolis, Minn.

8 Killed, Many Are Injured in Milan Depot Train Crash

MILAN, Italy, Oct. 30 (AP).—At least eight persons were killed, 21 hospitalized and many less seriously hurt tonight in one of Italy's worst train wrecks in recent years.

EXILED AUSTRIAN REGIME MAY BE SET UP IN PARIS

Differences in Politics Delay Organization.

BY MAURICE ENGLISH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 30.—France, already playing host to the armies of two central European states, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, as well as the government of the former, may soon become the seat of yet another foreign government if certain difficulties now troubling the leaders of Austrian exiles here can be smoothed out.

The plan of organizing a provisional government for Austria is one which germinated in the minds of several high French politicians before the present war began. Creation of an Austrian army as soon as possible after the outbreak of hostilities was a natural corollary of this plan.

One French statesman said that the assistance an Austrian army might give to France and Britain would be relatively negligible from a military point of view, but that such an army would be important for propaganda purposes in Austria and other parts of Germany.

No Legal Government.

Since neither France nor Britain ever gave more than de facto recognition to Adolf Hitler's conquest of Austria, there is no legal obstacle to the formation of a provisional government of the Austrian republic. Its position would be analagous to that of Czecho-Slovakia, which so far as the empires are concerned still carries on an independent legal existence.

The obstacles which exist are of a different nature. They spring from among the refugee groups. Whereas most of the exiles from Germany proper are either Jews or left wing individuals, among the Austrians there not only are communists, Social Democrats and Jews, but a considerable number of Catholics, most of them ardently in favor of the restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy.

There are also many who belonged to promilitary rightist parties, such as the heimwehr.

Old Feuds Live On.

The destruction of Austria as an independent state is only 19 months old and the memory of the political quarrels which divided many of the refugees before they fled their homeland still is alive.

Many of the refugees who would ask for nothing better than to fight side by side with the French against the Nazis object bitterly to doing so under the leadership of, say, Prince Ernest von Starhemberg. The refugees partly blame Von Starhemberg for the destruction of social democracy under the régime of the late Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

A deeper quarrel has split the ranks of the exiles over the nature of the future state. So far no common ground for agreement has been found between the Catholics, who envisage a restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty, and the left wingers, who are proud of the achievements of the Vienna Socialists in the years after the first world war.

ASSESS GERMANY 50 MILLIONS FOR 1916-'17 BLASTS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 (AP).—Germany was formally assessed $50,000,000 damages today for the tremendous explosions at Black Tom and Kingsland, N J., during the world war. However, the 153 claimants to whom the awards were made had little prospect of getting any more than $26,000,000.

The awards, made by Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts as umpire of a German-American mixed claims commission, were preceded by a sharp international exchange in which reich representatives charged Roberts with bias and Secretary of State Cordell Hull accused the Germans of trying to frustrate settlement of the case.

German Delegates Absent.

While the commission had found that the explosions were caused by imperial German sabotage, the German representatives denied this, stayed away from today's proceedings, and served notice that the awards "can never form the basis for a financial obligation of Germany."

Therefore it appeared likely the claimants would get only the $26,000,000 which Germany already had deposited with the United States treasury to meet an award. These funds will be prorated among the claimants.

The largest single award was $9,900,322 to the Lehigh Valley railroad. The Canada Car and Foundry company received $5,871,105 and the Bethlehem Steel company $1,886,491. Most of the other awards, which were smaller, went to insurance companies.

Expect Reich May Sue.

In view of the German position, the possibility was foreseen that the reich might sue to recover any money paid out on the claims.

Besides the $26,000,000, the treasury also holds $820,000,000 of Republic of Germany bonds, but these are regarded virtually worthless as a security for a judgment.

The Germans also had boycotted a session last June 15 when the commission formally found the imperial German government responsible for the explosion of 2,000,000 pounds of munitions at the huge Black Tom island freight terminal near Jersey City July 30, 1916, and a fire that blew up a half million three inch shells at Kingsland Jan. 11, 1917—while the United States still was neutral.

Earlier Finding Reversed.

The commission's decision of June 15 reversed a Hamburg decision of 1930, which accepted the industrial accident theory of the fires and explosions at Black Tom and Kingsland.

The case was reopened on an American motion on the basis of evidence that German witnesses had mapped out a dishonest defense and were guilty of fraud, perjury, and the suppression of evidence.

MAPS PHILIPPINE DEFENSE OFFICE, WAR SECRETARY

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 30 (AP).—It was announced today that Commonwealth President Manuel Quezon would issue an executive order tomorrow creating a Philippine department of national defense, with Appellate Justice Teofilo Sison as secretary of war.

Establishment of the department was expected to spur defense preparations, which contemplate a trained reserve force of 400,000 men by the time the islands are given their independence in 1946.

Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, former chief of staff of the United States army and builder of the Philippine army, was expected to take a leading part in organization of the new department.

Ready for Halloween

Phyllis Bellick, 3 years old, of Gary, kneels behind pumpkin to make a Halloween picture for the photographer.

Thousands of Chicago youngsters will enjoy Halloween thrills today without being troublesome to householders. The Society of American Magicians, which has adopted Halloween as International Magic day, will send out its amateur and professional members to entertain shutins, underprivileged children, orphans, and playground and school audiences.

Lester J. Sholty, vice president of the Chicago society, said 64 playgrounds have requested that magicians perform for 65,000 children. So far a dozen members of the society have volunteered to give as many as four or five performances during the day.

Sholty said the magicians hope thru their efforts to give the children something that will meet their desire of participating in the spirit of Halloween, and at the same time keep them from expressing themselves thru acts of destruction.

The weather bureau promised that it will be fair and warmer today.

BARE VIOLATION OF HATCH ACT IN 3D TERM BOOM

Two High New Dealers Named as Offenders.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—The capital is reverberating tonight with charges that the Roosevelt third term movement is being actively but secretly promoted in the far west by highly placed members of the Roosevelt administration in defiance of the Hatch act forbidding government officials to engage in political activities.

The officials involved are Norman N. Littell, assistant to the attorney general in charge of the lands division of the department of justice, and Marshall E. Dimock, second assistant secretary of labor.

According to John L. Lewis, the C. I. O. generalissimo, Littell and Dimock are preparing to call a conference of "progressive leaders" in 11 western states at which the third term ship is to be started down the ways.

Lewis Angered; Tattles.

Lewis exposed the scheme in a burst of indignation over the failure of Littell and Dimock to invite him and his C. I. O. to participate in the launching.

The conference is to be held in January, with delegates representing California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Montana, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, and Wyoming. It is in this territory that the Roosevelt third term sentiment is particularly strong, according to Democratic leaders.

The Hatch act prohibiting political activities by government officials and other employés was passed at the last session of congress. Attorney General Frank Murphy, Littell's immediate superior, notified department of justice employés within the last fortnight that they must either relinquish their political activities or resign their positions.

Letter to Olson Revealed.

Lewis aired his grievance by causing his political department, Labor's Nonpartisan league, to issue the text of a letter he addressed to Gov. Culbert L. Olson of California. He reminded the governor they had agreed at a meeting on Oct. 15 that Dimock. Lewis. Littell.

Littell and Dimock "were pursuing an unwise course by their secret methods of organization and their exclusion of labor participation."

Among reasons given by Lewis for his opposition to the scheme were:

"The source of its conception and the surreptitious manner in which its organizers worked.

"The exclusion of labor from the privileges of making suggestions for a legitimate program.

League to Boycott Plan.

Stating that his league would boycott the conference, Lewis added:

"I doubt that the President has knowledge of or would approve the plans of these overzealous individuals responsible for this program. Aside from his recent public utterances, his rebuke of Secretary Wallace through a White House secretary Stephen Early, should carry conviction."

Littell, when asked tonight about Lewis' charges, declined to comment.

The Lewis letter raised the question whether the labor leader is against a third term for Mr. Roosevelt. Lewis declined to amplify his statement in that respect. Presumably, however, he is not so much opposed to a third term as to a third term movement that ignores him.

WOMAN DANCER PLACED ON TRIAL AS SPY RING HEAD

Swiss Accuse 3 Others in Gun Plan Theft.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Oct. 30 (AP).—An attractive dancer known in continental night clubs as Nina was called to a secret session of federal court today to defend herself against charges of treason and espionage. It was reported she refused to answer questions.

Nina, whose name is Virginia Capt Rota, is on trial with two men and another woman in Switzerland's first major spy trial since the European war began. She is said to have directed the alleged spy ring.

Only meager details of the trial seeped thru the locked doors of the courtroom where the accused, guarded by police, faced five Swiss federal judges.

It was stated officially, however, that Nina's handsome Swiss friend, Roger Joel, 35 years old, one time draftsman in an arms factory, was accused by the prosecution of making models of secret Swiss anti-aircraft gun designs and other arms for the dancer.

Nina, modishly dressed in black and wearing a leopard skin coat, sat unmoved and silent while being questioned, it was reported. The 35 year old dancer is said to have displayed no emotion when Joel was being questioned.

Nina and Joel each face a possible sentence of from 3 to 20 years in prison on the double count of espionage and treason.

Sleuth and Wife Accused.

The other defendants, Paul Rochat and his wife, were charged with organizing an information service for an Italian consul general in Switzerland under the dancer's orders. Rochat is a former operator of a private detective agency.

Nina and Joel were arrested, Swiss secret police declared, as they attempted to cross into France with plans for the anti-aircraft gun and other military data.

The dancer, who has appeared in night clubs of Rome, Paris, and Madrid, is of Italian parentage, but became a naturalized Swiss citizen.

FIRE RAKES JERSEYVILLE.

Jerseyville, Ill., Oct. 30 (AP).—A mercantile store owned by Allen Inman was destroyed today and three other buildings in the business district were damaged by fire which started from an undetermined cause in the basement of Inman's establishment. Firemen estimated the loss at $35,000.

HUNT DIES PROBE WITNESS FOR QUIZ INTO BAR KILLING

Police Tipped Off by Rival Unionist, John Curran.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 [Special].—An ousted New Orleans official of the National Maritime union, a C. I. O. affiliate, who appeared before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities to refute Joseph Curran's denials of communist party membership or control, left the witness stand here today a few minutes before Washington detectives tried to arrest him as a suspect in a New Orleans killing.

Wm. C. McCuistion. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

William C. McCuistion, a hard handed, tattooed sailor with a foghorn voice, appeared before the committee in his working clothes to testify that the National Maritime union was descended directly from marine unions originating in soviet Russia, that 95 per cent of its leadership is communist, and that Curran joined the communist party in 1936.

As soon as McCuistion had been excused for the day he hustled out of the house office building, leaped into a taxicab, and sped off in the rain. Reporters who tried to question him were put aside with the remark: "I've got an urgent appointment."

Curran Tips Off Police.

Curran, who testified before the committee Saturday and denied that he is a communist or that the maritime union is controled by communists, was in New York today.

According to Detective Chief John Grosch of New Orleans, he received a telegram from Curran today. In the telegram Curran told Grosch that he [Curran] had notified Washington police that McCuistion was wanted in New Orleans in connection with the slaying of Philip Carey, maritime union district secretary-treasurer, last Sept. 17.

Curran advised Grosch that Washington police would arrest McCuistion on their request and that Ray Torr, a member of the maritime union legislative committee, would coöperate with police in identifying McCuistion.

McCuistion and 10 other maritime officials were ousted from office early in September. Curran took over the books of the New Orleans union. Carey was retained in office, according to Grosch, and killed when he left a New Orleans saloon with a man and two women.

Seen at Place of Crime.

Grosch said McCuistion had been identified as having been at the scene of the killing and that he left New Orleans a few days later.

While McCuistion was on the Dies committee witness stand today, there were reports that police were looking for him. There was no attempt to arrest him while he was in the committee room and Representative Joe Starnes [D., Ala.], acting chairman of the committee, said McCuistion is expected back tomorrow for further questioning.

Among other things told to the committee by McCuistion today was that Harry Bridges, C. I. O. maritime director on the Pacific coast, is a communist. McCuistion said he told this to immigration officials who were investigating Bridges before his recent deportation hearing in San Francisco. Bridges is an Australian born alien.

Names Communist Agent.

McCuistion identified George Mink, whom he described as a member of the Russian military intelligence, as in charge of communist activities on United States' water fronts in the 1920's. Mink's present job, he said, is work "in the army and the navy," but the witness did not elaborate.

McCuistion also said the Maritime Labor league and the Maritime Workers' Industrial league are the American units of the International Seamens' and Dock Workers' union, which originated in soviet Russia.

In an address in New York today, Chairman Dies said research organizations identified with the consumer movement are to be investigated for possible communistic influences.

The Question.

Where Answered.

County hospital.

The Answers.

Frank Bryska, 1542 Fillmore street, hospital orderly.—Subversive activities in the United States should be rooted out without delay. Dies and his committee are doing a fine job; just what was needed. They're cutting red tape and getting to the bottom of things.

Raymond Callahan, 2638 West 38th street, store manager.—The Dies committee is making history. Radicals have been allowed to work with absolute freedom in this country for many years, and it's time they were stopped. Dies seems to be doing that.

Walter W. Krueger, 3750 South Washtenaw avenue, cleaning company owner. — An investigation such as Dies is conducting has been needed for years in this country. Why should we allow radicals to spread the doctrines of foreign nations within our own boundaries?

William Roehr, 6206 Laflin street, machinist.—Dies is doing a good job. He's getting the facts on a lot of fellows who have been sitting pretty in soft federal jobs while they spread alien isms to destroy the government which supports them.

Peter Durichek, 1339 Adams street, hospital attendant.—Thus far the work of the Dies committee has been fine. But, after uncovering the radicals, they should take steps to see that they are prosecuted or deported. The investigation alone is not enough.

DUCE SHAKES UP CABINET; ARMY CHIEFS CHANGED

ROME, Oct. 31, Tuesday (AP).—Premier Mussolini changed eight ministers and four undersecretaries today in a cabinet shakeup which affected even the chiefs of staff of the army and the Fascist militia as well as the Fascist party hierarchy.

Lieut. Gen. Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist party since Dec. 12, 1931, was relieved of that post and appointed chief of the general staff of the Fascist militia. He was one of the generals in the Ethiopian campaign. He will be succeeded as party secretary by Ettore Muti, consul general of the militia.

As chief of staff, Starace succeeds Lieut. Gen. Luigi Russo, who had held that position since Feb. 1, 1936. Dino Alfieri, Italian minister of propaganda, was named for an ambassadorial post, but it was not announced at what capital.

PRESSMAN SHOT TO DEATH AS HE NEARS HIS HOME

Police Seek Motive for Killing in Union Row.

Paul Peters, a member of Franklin local, No. 4, of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union, the affairs of which are now before Chicago courts, was assassinated under mysterious circumstances in front of his home at 3505 North Oak Park avenue early today.

Peters was one of a minority clique which started the court action, and was considered an outspoken critic of the union's administration. The International union is headed by Former United States Senator George L. Berry, of Tennessee.

Three blasts from a shotgun were fired from behind at close range as he was about to go up the front steps. The top of his head was almost shot off, and he fell in a heap on the front lawn. The killer scurried to a waiting automobile, driven by an accomplice, and escaped north. Peters was 50 years old.

Peters' wife, Martha, heard the shots, and ran to the window in time to see the killer escape. She described him as a short, stocky man. At the moment, she did not realize he had murdered her husband. Peters' son, Robert, 18, a laboratory assistant, also heard the shots. Another son, Raymond, 20, is a student at Ripon college.

Slayers Park Near Home.

Capt. Herbert Burns and Lieut. Charles Anderson of the Jefferson Park station, learned that the killers had parked near the Peters home for nearly an hour before the slaying. Mrs. Peters had noticed their car. Two WPA watchmen also had observed it.

Peters was employed as a pressman at the Loyola University press, 3441 North Ashland avenue. He worked there under the name of Paul King, according to one report. His real name was Paul Pietrzykowski, a name he had abandoned for Peters 30 years ago. He finished work at 12:30 a. m. Police said it was conceivable that the assassins drove him home from work, and then killed him after he had refused to deal with them in some matter as yet unknown to the authorities.

Seek Motive in Union Row.

In this connection, police turned to the affairs of Local 4, of the Pressmen's union. Peters, it was said, was soon to have appeared as a witness in deposition hearings now going on as a preliminary to an injunction suit pending before Judge John J. Lupe of the Superior court. The suit was filed in the spring of 1938.

The action charged President Berry and others with dominating and interfering with the affairs of Local 4, asserted the local had not held an election since 1928, and demanded an accounting and judicial aid and protection.

James King, a brother of the slain man, was questioned this morning. He too, was a member of the Franklin local, and one of the original objectors. He was expelled in January, 1938.

James King, who lives at 2905 North Central Park avenue, told police he himself had been warned that he might "find himself on the prairies some day." He did not elaborate. It was King who first started the agitation which led to the present court litigation. In 1938 he proposed that officers be elected in accordance with the union's by-laws. He charged no election had been held after 1928. "Then the storm broke," King related.

Some of the minority group which initiated the injunction proceedings have since organized into the Chicago Progressive Printers. They are planning to hold a benefit dance at Herzl hall Nov. 18 to raise funds for the litigation. Several tickets for this affair were found in the pockets of the slain man.

ARMY BUYS $136,000 YACHT; MAY CARRY THE PRESIDENT TO ALASKA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 [Special]. — An ocean going yacht has been purchased at a cost of $136,000 by the army engineer corps from Charles E. Sorenson, an official of the Ford Motor company. The boat will be transferred to Seattle, where it will be available to carry President Roosevelt to Alaska next summer, if he wishes then to make the journey.

The yacht is 150 feet long and in addition to a crew of 14, has accommodations for 12 passengers. It will leave New York late this week for Seattle, after undergoing alterations and repairs, carried out with the idea the President may use the craft.

The yacht has sailed under the name of Helene. The army plans to change its name to the Cavanaugh, giving it the name of Col. J. B. Cavanaugh, once district engineer at Seattle. Officials emphasized that the yacht had been purchased to replace worn out craft for use in survey service on the north Pacific division of the engineer corps area.

GERMAN ENVOY TO ROME RUSHES BACK TO BERLIN

ROME, Oct. 31, Tuesday (AP).—The German embassy announced today that Ambassador Hans-Georg Viktor von Mackensen had returned to Berlin for "an extraordinary reason." It said he left Rome Sunday, but withheld further information.

The arrival in Rome Sept. 15 of a German described as a former admiral and a personal friend of the ambassador was responsible for reports in foreign circles that Germany was endeavoring to counteract allied efforts to keep Italy neutral.

The visitor never was identified, however, and nothing further was disclosed concerning his visit.

Von Mackensen 10 days ago completed with Italy arrangements for removing to Germany about 200,000 German speaking residents of the Italian Tyrol by 1942. Diplomats said this was designed to eliminate any German claim on the South Tyrol area that once belonged to Austria-Hungary.

WALLER DENIED RECOUNT; PADDY MAKES A SPEECH

Victor Thanks Council for Election Quiz Vote.

Ald. Mathias [Paddy] Bauler [43d] made a speech of 43 words on the floor of the city council yesterday. He thanked his Democratic colleagues for relieving him of a headache that had lasted six months. The council, by a vote of 37 to 6, had just denied former Ald. James B. Waller a recount in the aldermanic election last April 4, in which Bauler was declared a runoff victor over Waller by 243 votes.

Ald. Hyman L. Brody [39th], chairman of the council judiciary committee, read the reports of that committee to the council as a whole. The report recommended that the petition for a recount filed by Waller be placed on file or permanently tabled.

Smile Wreaths Bauler's Face.

"The testimony and evidence did not substantiate the petition," the committee reported. Waller had based his demand for a recount on charges of fraud, bribery, and intimidation of voters.

When the council voted to accept the committee's report, with a 38th vote added later by a councilman who was off the floor during the voting, Bauler's face was wreathed in a complacent smile.

From all parts of the chamber came cries of "Speech! Speech!"

Ald. Bauler, who has spoken so rarely in his six years in the council that no one could remember the last time he had demonstrated that he is articulate, blushed deeply.

A Little Misunderstanding.

Part of his agitation derived from the fact that his good friend, Ald. James J. McDermott [14th] had misunderstood the motion just put to the council and had voted "nay." Ald. McDermott was put straight later and got his vote into the right column.

Ald. Bauler, despite his misgivings, arose and addressed his colleagues as follows:

"Gentlemen, I want to thank you because it is one of the toughest elections I've ever been in and because you fellows made it sure I was going to win. For the last six months I have had a headache in this election."

Whereupon the alderman sat down and beamed seraphically toward all his friends. They smiled back.

"It was a victory for the people," Ald. Bauler said later.

BYRD'S SNOW CRUISER BACKS OUT OF CREEK AND HEADS FOR AKRON

Delphos, O., Oct. 30 [Special.]—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's 75,000 pound antarctic snow cruiser was backed out of Little Pike run, a half mile east of here, and restored to the highway for resumption of its delivery trip to Boston tonight. The snow cruiser plunged into the run Saturday after hitting a bridge.

The left rear motor was repaired today and the cruiser will be driven to Akron tomorrow. After loading two spare tires in Akron, Dr. T. C. Poulter of Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago, and his crew will drive to Erie, Pa., where General Electric engineers will install a new left front motor.

Dr. Poulter hopes to have the new motor installed by Thursday night so he can push on to Boston, where the cruiser will be loaded aboard Admiral Byrd's ship for the trip to the pole.

ORDERS REPORTS OF STAFF TALKS IN MANTENO QUIZ

Prosecutor Wants to Know What Doctors Said.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

What were the doctors talking about as the typhoid epidemic at the Manteno State hospital grew from one sick patient to 500 and from one death to 52?

The answer to that question was demanded yesterday by State's Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro of Kankakee county. He had opened investigation headquarters at the state hospital to determine if the illnesses and deaths resulted from criminal negligence.

Last June the typhoid scourge struck the institution with its 52 cottages housing more than 5,000 mental cases, but it was not recognized as such, officially, until Aug. 19.

For eight years the state health department had been issuing warnings to the men in charge of the institution saying, in effect: "Your drinking water is polluted; unless you do something about it sickness and death will follow," according to the information State's Attorney Shapiro said he obtained yesterday morning.

"How often did you hold staff meetings?" Shapiro asked Dr. Ralph T. Hinton, the state's official in charge of the Manteno hospital. Dr. Hinton is a veteran of over twenty-five years as superintendent of state insane asylums.

"Every day," Dr. Hinton replied.

Demands Full Record.

"Then I want a record of every meeting held since last May," Prosecutor Shapiro informed Dr. Hinton.

Eventually he was given assurance he would get these reports, the prosecutor announced.

"There are twenty-two doctors at the hospital, and I want to know what they said among themselves about this disease which took so many lives and threatened so many more of the unfortunates entrusted to their care," said Shapiro.

Dr. Hinton turned over to Mr. Shapiro the series of reports made by state sanitary engineers since 1931. These were in tripicate, one copy for A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare, one copy for Dr. Baxter, state director of health, and one copy for Dr. Hinton.

"I note a recommendation in 1931 that the state buy a chlorinator, which was not done until late in 1939," Shapiro said. "I note recommendations by the sanitary engineers that the wells be sterilized or lined so as to prevent seepage into them. In due time the responsible officials will be given an opportunity to tell why they ignored those recommendations.

Plans to Question Many.

"I haven't had time to make any further study of the documents given me by Dr. Hinton. But I will take the time later. I expect to spend the next week or ten days questioning doctors, nurses, and attendants either at the hospital or at my office in Kankakee.

"I will be in a better position to direct this examination after I read the accounts of the daily staff meetings."

Dr. Hinton said 294 patients were being isolated yesterday, including those actually having the fever, others who may have it, and some found to be carriers of the typhoid germs. No further danger is expected, he said, and most of the patients are on the road to recovery. There has not been a death at the hospital traceable to typhoid in more than a week, he said.

COUNCIL DELAYS 'MONOPOLY' LAW ON LIQUOR SALES

The city council authorized department, drug, and grocery stores yesterday to continue selling liquor. A new regulation giving taverns and liquor stores a virtual monopoly on the Chicago liquor business otherwise would have gone into effect tonight at midnight.

The aldermen took no action toward repeal of the regulation, but extended for six months the date on which it is to become effective. The extension was made at the suggestion of Mayor Kelly.

"Extending the time," the mayor said, "is a matter of convenience. The ordinance in its present form is legally deficient."

Judge Harry M. Fisher indicated last Thursday in the trial of a test suit that he doubted the validity of the sales limitation clause because of it generalities.

The ban on liquor sales in department, drug, and grocery stores was embodied in the so-called monopoly amendment to the liquor ordinance. This amendment was one of several voted last June 16 when night clubs and taverns were given permission to extend their closing time.

Nightgown Catches Fire; Woman Dies Despite Aid

Mrs. Jeanette Spofford, 47 years old, was fatally burned yesterday when her nightgown caught fire as she was boiling water on the kitchen stove in her home at 535 South East avenue, Oak Park. Mrs. Spofford ran into the back yard. Thomas Broz, a next door neighbor, heard her screams, rushed out, and rolled her in a blanket, extinguishing the flames. She was taken to the West Suburban hospital, where she died last night.

COUNCIL ORDERS GARBAGE SERVICE FIVE DAYS A WEEK

The city council yesterday directed Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, to operate garbage and ash collection on a five day week basis until his present funds are gone. Hewitt had asked for a transfer of $396,000 from other funds in order to carry on the work. Collections were being made four days a week and Hewitt had indicated they would be cut to three in a few weeks.

The date on which heat must be turned on in apartment buildings was moved forward to Sept. 15 by council. It had been Oct. 1. Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th], health committee chairman, recommended the change.

Former Ald. Michael F. Mulcahy was appointed a member and president of the board of local improvements by Mayor Kelly. Council confirmed the appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of State Representative James P. Boyle.

The council deferred action on an ordinance prohibiting "U" turns in the loop. It was introduced by Ald. George D. Kells [28th], traffic committee chairman.

Mayor Kelly appointed 178 civic leaders from all districts of the city to the advisory committee of the new Chicago Plan Commission. Council approved the list. The mayor said 10 citizens to be named to the executive committee of the commission will be selected from the 178 at a later date. The complete list will be published in the Metropolitan sections of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

WOMAN JUROR SIGNS A VERDICT, THEN REVOKES IT

Changes Mind in Federal Court; Case in Doubt.

dict when Mrs. Merrifield announced:

"That was not and is not my verdict."

"Didn't you sign the verdict?" asked Judge Igoe in amazement.

"Yes, I signed it," she replied calmly.

"Were you coerced?"

"No," said Mrs. Merrifield. "I signed thru cowardice. I submitted to the will of the majority. I realize now that I shouldn't have signed the verdict."

She said further at her home:

"I just didn't have the courage to hang out all night, with all the human reasons a woman has to contend with. I know now I would have been better off if I had stuck to my guns.

"I guess I'll have to be the goat. I was clearing my conscience."

Asked to explain her reference to the human reasons a woman has to contend with, she declined to comment further.

Tell of Worry Over Child.

Several of the other women jurors, however, told of the ailing child and said Mrs. Merrifield had feared he was becoming ill with whooping cough.

Mrs. Merrifield's husband said last night that he did not believe the danger of whooping cough could have influenced her decision.

The women who served on the jury with Mrs. Merrifield told more of the happenings in the jury room.

The jurors received the case Friday afternoon. Early Saturday morning they asked Foreman Kirby Ward to request further instructions. He was informed that no further instructions could be had before Monday, which would have meant that the jurors would be unable to go home for the week-end.

Other women jurors confirmed Mrs. Merrifield's statement that she opposed the majority. The jurors became reconciled to waiting. But presently, some of the other women jurors said, Mrs. Merrifield reported that she was ready to sign the verdict, which none of them had at that time signed.

Signatures then were affixed and the jurors went home.

Others Worried, Too.

Members of the jury said that Mrs. Merrified was not the only woman who was worried. One was eager to get home to prepare for a friend's wedding.

The other women jurors were Mrs. Charles E. Merriam, wife of the University of Chicago political scientist; Mrs. James Hemingway and Mrs. James Stannard Baker of Highland Park; Mrs. V. W. Briddle of Highwood, and Mrs. Walter T. Fisher of Winnetka.

Several of the twelve women chosen by the Alliance of Business and Professional Women as Chicago's outstanding women commented last night upon the case's reflection upon women as jurors.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, president of Hull House—I wouldn't go on a jury unless I were prepared to stand by my convictions. It's an awful thing for me to say, but I've never been in favor of women on juries, just for that kind of reason. I think a woman who has a household on her mind hurries thru.

Mrs. William F. Heffernan, school board member—I think it would have been just as well if she had voted as a minority herself. She must have had some mental reservations to vote with the majority if she didn't really feel with them. I don't think the interest and responsibility of home should interfere with a thing like that.

Miss Harriet Vittum, social worker—I thing that as long as she was there and did not ask to be excused she should have deliberated as long as necessary and voted her true opinion.

Mrs. Mary Hastings Bradley, author—I admire her courage for saying so, but she certainly shouldn't have signed anything she didn't believe in. Women on juries are on trial right now and they should be careful.

Mrs. Bertha E. Jaques, singer—The question is whether the rule of the majority is correct. Eleven to one is pretty much of a majority. But I think the whole foundation of the universe rests upon the principle of being true to one's self—else what can we depend upon?

Mrs. James Ward Thorne—I think that when women take positions of that kind they should put themselves on the same level as a man. They should banish domestic responsibilities and take on the others.

Miss Margerey Maxwell, singer—I don't think any one on a jury should give a verdict against his own judgment. I don't think they could change my mind if I made it up to anything. I don't think it's a good thing for women to be serving on juries.

GIRL CRIPPLE, 10, IS ATTACKED IN A SCHOOLROOM

A little girl 10 years old, crippled by infantile paralysis, stayed in school during the afternoon recess yesterday at the Lawson grammar school, Homan avenue and 13th street. Outside, hundreds of her schoolmates were playing.

After a few minutes she left her room to get a drink of water. She is in the fifth grade. Her room is on the second floor. As she stepped into a corridor a stranger stopped her. "Your teacher wants you to get some books out of that office," he said.

He pointed to a room known as the doctor's office. The little crippled girl went in. The man followed. Suddenly he threw her upon a cot, and attempted to mistreat her. She screamed and fought. Her assailant hurried away.

Police Are Called.

Almost hysterical, the little girl went to her home on South Christiana avenue, and told her mother. The mother notified school authorities who in turn, called Capt. Louis Klatzco of the Fillmore street police station.

The girl was taken to Mount Sinai hospital where it was found she had been injured. Meanwhile, search was started for her assailant, a man about 40, with graying hair.

Three or four pupils saw the man leaving the school, but their descriptions varied.

Girl and Teacher Questioned.

Police questioned the girl and her teacher, Miss Susan Rogers, 5018 Washington boulevard. Miss Rogers, who was at the other end of the hall during the attempted attack, said she did not see the man, nor did she hear the girl's screams.

There was some variation as to the man's exact words when he stopped the girl. She told school authorities in her first story that he referred to "your teacher." She told police later he said "Miss Rogers."

LEVITY LEVELS

By CALEB

WHAT so many good souls forget, in pointing with pride to the rising general intelligence of society, on the one hand, and viewing with alarm the falling general diversions of society, on the other, is that any vertical cross-section of a community, today, is bound to reveal every gradation from the sublime to the ridiculous.

Bound to—because such has been the composition of whatever community called itself civilized, since the world began. Even levity—as opposed to gravity, in human interests and affairs—has four discernibly different levels, a discussion of which appeared, some years ago, in an interesting book, The Art of Reading, from the pen of Prof. Robert Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Recreation . . . the levity side of human behavior . . . he pointed to as possible in a quartette of classifications, beginning with fun, advancing to amusement, manifesting itself on higher ground as pleasure—and culminating in the upper intellectual realms as enjoyment.

Fun, for example, is pure holiday of the spirit, in which one can revel only as a participator. Examine your own experiences of fun, and see if this is not so. Having fun, in reality, is making it—something active. Amusement, however, can be, and is, passive: one need not be a participator, but merely a spectator, to be agreeably amused. And neither fun nor amusement require any great mental investment—a point definitely worth noting.

The moment you leave this halfway-mark, however, and pass into pleasure, intellectual elements are involved; the thinking processes employ themselves, even though quite without awareness—as when you reflect on a good turn rendered someone, a good piece of work accomplished, or a bothersome debt liquidated. And enjoyment is finally reached, when one's entire cerebral equipment is called into play—as in seeing a piece of fine acting, or a noble picture; listening to glorious music; reading a memorable book; or engaging in one of the intimate conversational exchanges implicit in a rare friendship. . . .

All of which, quite obviously, has nothing to do with matters of state, great problems, or the concerns of trade. But as food for stimulative thought, this idea of "levity levels" is noticeworthy . . . and may even induce some of us to inquire from which level we draw most of our own recreation, and which is paying us therefor in largest mental returns on the investment.

MAYOR REVEALS SUPERHIGHWAY PLANS FOR CITY

32.3 Miles Listed for Initial Construction.

BY HAL FOUST.

(Drawings on back page.)

A superhighway plan for Chicago, calling for 62 miles of construction estimated to cost $205,000,000, was made public yesterday by Mayor Edward J. Kelly. Listed as initial construction are 32.3 miles at $110,000,000. The projects include work proposed for city, county, and state execution. All sections of Chicago would be served.

Detailed plans for a $32,000,000 west side route, the city's first project, were made public at the same time. They call for an eight lane elevated highway in Congress street from Canal street to west of Racine avenue. Thereafter, west to the city limits, the pavements at the same width would be depressed on a broad right of way between Congress street and Van Buren street as far west as Central Park avenue, and between Van Buren and Gladys avenue from Central Park to the city limits.

Crosses Canal Street at Grade.

On the eastern end this express route would cross Canal street at grade, pass thru the eight lane arcade thru the postoffice and cross the river on a new six lane bridge. East of the bridge to Wells street, on a plaza a short block wide bordered by Congress street and Lomax place, the express pavement would be tapped by a pair of two lane ramps to serve traffic en route to and from the central business district via Market street or Franklin street.

From Wells to State street, Congress would be opened and widened for 84 feet of roadway with a center curb. Congress would be paved 60 feet wide by cutting back the curbs from State street to Michigan avenue.

Calls Plan Best of Several.

Philip Harrington, city traction commissioner, described the plan as the best of several which have been prepared in the last six years for a superhighway at this location. He said the new design eliminates all street crossings at grade from Canal street to Columbus park at the city limits.

"The cost of this landscaped parkway on rights of way 250 and 400 feet wide," said the commissioner, "will not be excessively more than for a less ornamental elevated highway of the same utility. We are rechecking these comparative costs."

$3,300,000 a Mile for Parkway.

The parkway will cost approximately $3,300,000 per mile, including $1,515,000 for land and buildings for the right of way. Preliminary estimates on elevated highway construction for the same capacity and also landscaped are $2,750,000 a mile, including more than $1,000,000 for right of way.

The location of the west side superhighway south of the central business district was discussed by Mayor Kelly. He pointed out that in the $18,000,000 federal subway grant to Chicago, Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes had incorporated a provision for the opening and widening of Congress street.

Plan Subway Terminal.

The plaza bordered by Market, Congress and Wells streets and Lomax place would be used underground for a subway terminal. A proposed modification of the plan, also made public at this time, would involve an expenditure of $7,500,000 of traction money to raze the Garfield branch of the elevated railway and to replace it with three slightly depressed tracks for subway trains on the highway right of way as far west as Kedzie avenue. This alternative, as well as other plans, is subject to council approval.

The comprehensive superhighway plan was referred to the council's traffic committee. The Congress street plan will be forwarded to the Public Works administration in accordance with the PWA subway grant with a notation that it has not been approved by the council.

Charles E. De Leuw, consulting engineer for the city, discussed the downtown terminal for Congress street. He said that existing streets can be made adequate for rush hour traffic to reach the superhighway from all sections of the central business district.

Future Extension Planned.

As for the western terminal of the superhighway on local surburban streets, the engineer said a future extension of the superhighway westward through the suburbs is contemplated. It would abut the B. & O. railroad.

Also listed for early construction in the mayor's comprehensive plan is a route northwest from the loop now being surveyed by the Cook county highway department.

The legislature authorized the sale of $30,000,000 in notes to be retired from the county's future gasoline tax revenue. Another $30,000,000 was authorized in anticipation of the city's future revenue from this source.

This total of $60,000,000 of city and county money is the fund that will be immediately available for superhighway work. A validation of the legislation by an Illinois Supreme court opinion will be necessary before the notes are marketed.

Expect Further Financial Aid.

Another $50,000,000 is listed in the mayor's comprehensive plan as initial construction in the belief that the state highway department will participate and that public opinion will demand an expansion of the city's and county's $60,000,000 program. The city hall hopes that Springfield will promptly undertake a $29,000,000 southwest route going south from Congress street at about Franklin street, thence southwest near Archer avenue, and thence south in Damen avenue to Garfield boulevard.

Other jobs classed as initial construction include extensions of the outer drives north and south. On the south it is estimated that $16,000,000 would carry a new lake front development from Hyde Park boulevard to 79th street and south behind the lake front industries to Indianapolis boulevard at the Indiana line by means of a depressed superhighway. On the north side, $3,000,000 would be spent in continuing the outer drive from Foster avenue to Bryn Mawr avenue.

Second Highway Contemplated.

In the $95,000,000 of future construction there is $32,000,000 for a second west side superhighway, one to feed into the north side of the central business district. In Damen avenue $21,000,000 would be spent between North avenue and 31st street, connecting the northwest and the southwest routes. South of Garfield boulevard the Damen avenue super would be extended and turned west to connect with the existing Southwest highway at Western avenue and 71st street. Another southwest route would consist of a $7,000,000 depressed super in the right of way of the I. and M. canal from Damen avenue to Harlem avenue.

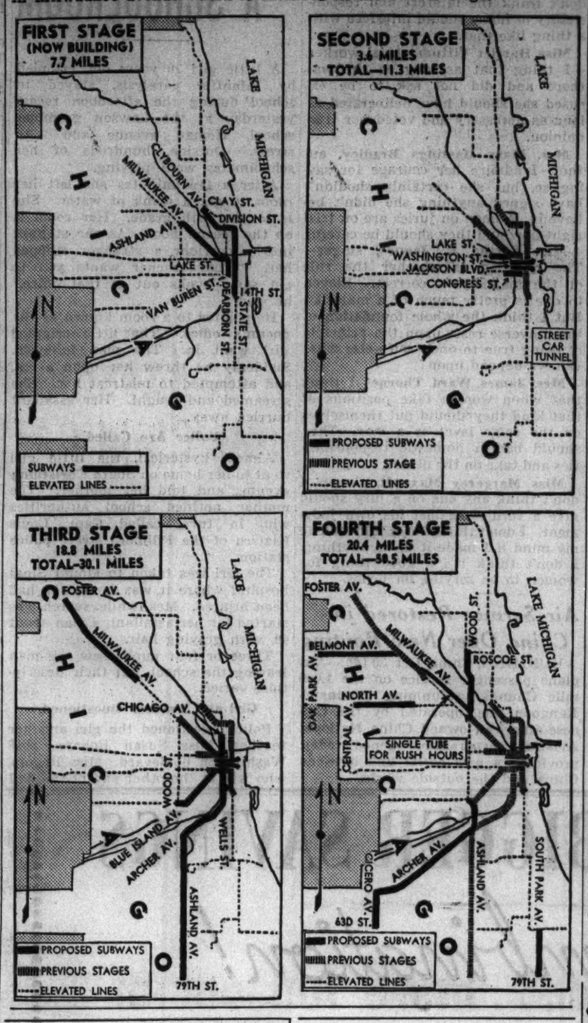
On the northwest side $11,000,000 is assigned to a future extension to the city limits of the superhighway now being designed by the county to reach about Cicero avenue, with the $30,000,000 immediately in prospect. For the future on the north side, the outer drive would be extended from Bryn Mawr avenue to the city limits at an estimated cost of $14,000,000.

In future articles, THE TRIBUNE'S automobile editor will criticize the superhighway plans in light of ten years' study of the subject.

Four Stages of Subway Project

(Story in Adjoining Column.)

Maps below indicate proposed Chicago subway construction in each of four stages recommended to the council yesterday. All subways would be double tube, except one single tube section for rush hour use in Milwaukee avenue which is included in the fourth stage.



OIL MAN WINS 1½ MILLION SUIT FROM BAY STATE

Lockhart, Tex., Oct. 30 (AP).—Edgar B. Davis, 66 years old, Luling, Tex., oil man, was awarded $1,550,000 damages tonight from the state of Massachusetts which, a jury found, had "recklessly" obtained a writ of garnishment against the oil wildcatter for alleged nonpayment of $724,900 state income taxes. However, District Judge M. C. Jeffery instructed the jury to find in favor of Massachusetts on the income tax suit and Davis, a philanthropist, was ordered to pay the tax.

The verdict in favor of Davis was on his cross-action for $3,000,000 damages to his business because of a writ of garnishment obtained by Massachusetts which, the financier said, crippled development of Texas oil properties he valued at more than $25,000,000.

ALDERMEN GET PLAN FOR 50 MILE SUBWAY SYSTEM

Plans for a comprehensive 50 mile two track subway system to be built at a cost of $267,000,000 were submitted to the city council yesterday by Philip Harrington, commissioner of subways and traction.

The proposed program, which includes the State and Dearborn street subways now being constructed at a cost of $46,000,000, includes the following projects:

1. Demolition of the loop elevated structure and its replacement by subway service.
2. Construction of two east-west street car subways that would permit the removal of all surface street car lines running east and west in the loop.
3. Substitution of subways for elevated lines on parts of the present elevated system and extensions of rapid transit service by additional subways.

Planned for Convenience.

Harrington said completion of the program would bring rapid transit service in the form of elevateds, subways or suburban railroads to within one mile of 92 per cent of the population of Chicago. The elevated-subway-suburban railroad system also would run within one mile of 78 per cent of the city's area.

The plans were submitted in compliance with the federal Public Works administration's subway grant agreement made last year. The grant for the subways now being built required the city to submit plans for subway extensions by Nov. 1, 1939. The council referred yesterday's report to the committee on local transportation and directed that a copy be sent to the PWA.

Divided Into Four Stages.

The report divided the subway projects into four construction stages. The first stage provides for the 7.7 miles of State and Dearborn street subways now being built. The others are:

Location.	Subway miles.	Estimated cost.
SECOND STAGE—
Congress street	0.90	$ 7,300,000
Lake street	0.75	4,400,000
Washington st. [st. cars]	0.95	5,400,000
Jackson street [st. cars]	1.00	6,300,000
Totals	3.60	$ 23,400,000
THIRD STAGE—
Wells-Archer-Ashland	11.20	$ 59,200,000
14th street connection	0.61	3,600,000
Milwaukee avenue	4.65	22,200,000
Douglas Park	2.34	11,000,000
Totals	18.80	$ 96,000,000
FOURTH STAGE—
South Park avenue	2.00	$ 10,100,000
Archer-Cicero	6.12	29,600,000
North avenue	3.09	15,900,000
Belmont avenue	3.31	17,300,000
Milwaukee ave. express	1.30	6,200,000
Crosstown subways	4.20	21,200,000
Michigan avenue subway	0.38	1,700,000
Totals	20.40	$102,000,000
Totals [4 stages]	50.50	$267,000,000

Completion of the second stage of construction would permit the removal of the Lake street and Wabash avenue sides of the elevated loop, and the removal of east-west street car tracks from the loop streets.

Plan Links to "L" Lines.

In this part of the program, the Dearborn street subway now under construction would be extended westward along Congress street to a connection with elevated structure near Halsted street. A subway extension westward also would be built along Lake street from the subway now being built in Milwaukee avenue to the Lake street elevated near Racine avenue.

The street car subways under Washington and Jackson streets would be built at a high level, passing over the north-south subways. They would extend from tunnels under the Chicago river to terminal loops in Grant park.

The third stage of the proposed program includes subway extensions that would be useful additions to the city's transit system, but which are not so urgently needed as those included in the second stage, the report said.

In the third stage construction of the Wells-Archer-Ashland subway and the 14th street connection to the State street subway now being built would eliminate the need for the Wells and Van Buren street sections of the elevated loop.

The fourth group of subways are projected for future construction, when the traffic demand warrants the investment. They would be located in portions of the city where substantial increases in population are expected.

Harrington said the $267,000,000 program would involve a cost of about $72 per capita to residents of Chicago. This compares with $75 per capita for subways in Philadelphia, and $133 per capita in New York, the report showed.

The cost estimates include station finish and escalators but exclude cars and other equipment and connections with the elevated structures.

AGREE ON VENUE IN NATION'S FIRST AIR MURDER CASE

Pletch to Face Court in Macon County, Mo.

Macon, Mo., Oct. 30 [Special.]—Prosecutors for three Missouri counties agreed here today that Earnest P. Pletch, the nation's first airplane slayer, should be tried for murder in Macon county. He has confessed killing Carl Bivens, a Brookfield, Mo., flying instructor, last Friday.

Mrs. Earnest P. Pletch, bride of 6 weeks.

Prosecutors Vincent Moody of Macon county; Derk Green of Linn county, and Fred C. Bollow of Shelby county based their agreement to try the case in Macon county on Pletch's confession.

Prosecutor Moody will file a murder charge against Pletch tomorrow. Charges of kidnaping and airplane theft also will be filed against Pletch in Linn county by Prosecutor Green.

The question of the place where the crime was committed, the prosecutors agreed, might become a vital issue in the trial of the nation's first airplane murder case. The location of the crime, or the venue, determines what court has jurisdiction, and if the defendant should face a jury in one county and it should be proved that the murder actually was committed in another county, he would be freed. The fact that he had been in legal jeopardy for the crime would prevent his being tried again in the proper county.

Venue May Be Troublesome.

Lawyers discussing the case said that under present laws the issue of venue might present great difficulty to prosecutors in an airplane murder. If a plane were traveling at 200 miles an hour it might be a practical impossibility to determine over what county the crime was committed.

In his confession, on which the prosecutor's agreement was based, Pletch said he and Bivens took off in a small airplane from Brookfield, in Linn county, and flew east for 15 minutes before they quarreled and struggled and he shot the instructor.

Pletch Specially Guarded.

Prosecutors believe the plane then had crossed the county line. Some time after the shooting Pletch landed near Cherry Box, in Shelby county, and hid Bivens' body in brush.

He was arrested next day in Indiana, waived extradition, and was brought to the Macon county jail this morning.

Pletch was guarded by a special detail of officers following reports of threats of revenge in Bivens' home town. Sheriff Max Brown said Linn county residents were excited over the killing, but that there was no danger of mob violence. Mrs. Etta Bivens, widow of the Brookfield flyer, was reported to be pleading with fellow citizens not to think of taking matters into their own hands.

OPEN ANNENBERG FIGHT TO UPSET U. S. INDICTMENTS

Seek to Lift Secrecy Oaths of Witnesses.

Defense attorneys yesterday took the first step in their effort to attack the federal indictments against M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher and New Deal critic, and nineteen others. The indictments charge income tax evasion and conspiracy to conduct a lottery thru the Annenberg horse race information services.

The attorneys filed a petition asking that the defendants and witnesses who appeared before the grand juries be released from their oaths of secrecy regarding the grand jury testimony. A transcription of the grand jury minutes also was requested. The lawyers said that information obtained from these sources would form the basis for further attempts to invalidate the indictments.

Defendants Absent from Court.

Judge James H. Wilkerson set Friday for arguments on the defense petition. The arraignment of the defendants was continued until Nov. 15. None was in court. By agreement they need not be present during the early stages of the trial when preliminary motions are being considered.

Various matters transpired before the grand jury, the petition stated, which the defense believes constitute valid grounds for quashing the indictments. In addition, the document said, it may be necessary to call as defense witnesses many of those who testified before the grand jury.

The defense counsel said the indictments could be attacked if it was shown that various government attorneys, assigned to investigate one phase of the Annenberg interests, were present when the jury returned indictments covering another phase.

Agrees on Secrecy Oaths.

United States Attorney William J. Campbell said the government had no objection to releasing the defendants from their oaths of secrecy in order that they might discuss their testimony with their lawyers.

The other points of the defense petition, should be denied, he said.

"What they want is a full disclosure of the government's case before arraignment," Campbell said. "They want to try to pierce the veil of secrecy surrounding the grand jury. The federal courts always have held that the grand jury secrecy far overbalances any reasons that may be advanced for disclosure. The defense does not cite a single case where such permission ever was granted before."

HANDSOME, JITTERY BANDIT GETS $32.

A paper bag bandit described by girl clerks as handsome but jittery, held up the Weller Finance corporation office at 7 East 79th street yesterday and fled with $32.

3 STREET CAR BANDITS TAKE NON-NEGOTIABLE CHECKS FOR $48,000

A street car holdup yesterday netted three bandits two checks for $24,000, neither of which was negotiable.

Walter Samborski.

Walter Samborski, 21 years old, 4945 South Honoré street, a messenger for the Liquid Carbonic corporation, was taking the checks to the First National bank. He was riding a Blue Island avenue car. At a viaduct near 16th street Motorman Frank Kraska stopped the trolley because an automobile apparently was stalled on the tracks ahead.

As Kraska stepped out a bandit wearing a handkerchief mask covered him with a gun and forced him back on the platform. A second masked robber entered the street car from the rear, menacing Conductor Albert O'Dowd. Paying no attention to 25 other passengers, the robbers forced Samborski to surrender an envelope containing the checks, joined a companion waiting in the automobile, and fled. Capt. John Egan of the Maxwell street police learned that the bandits had a black sedan, without license plates, and had turned west in 16th street.

ALL WORK AND NO PAY MAKE YEGGS A DULL EVENING

While Joliet was asleep Sunday night burglars descended on the W. T. Grant store at 161 North Chicago street. Entering a gospel mission around the corner, they lugged an acetylene torch and several tanks of gas up four flights of stairs to the roof, across two roofs to the Grant store and lowered their bulky tools thru the roof with a rope.

They worked for five hours on the safe on a balcony in the store, shielding their light from the street with a curtain of rugs and linoleum. They burned off the combination and then attacked the inner door. The safe became red hot and they tried to cool it off with water from a goldfish aquarium.

At length the cracksmen succeeded in burning a hole thru the door. On the floor of the compartment they beheld a mass of molten silver that had been coins and some fragile ashes that had been $3,000 in paper currency.

NEW INDICTMENT FOR PENDERGAST ON BRIBE CHARGE

O'Malley Also Named in Insurance Case.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 30 (AP).—A county grand jury swung another blow at Democratic Boss Tom Pendergast with a bribery indictment today. As a result the one time political czar of Kansas City probably will ride home from federal prison in a sheriff's car.

He was charged in two counts with paying $62,500 to R. Emmet O'Malley, former Missouri insurance superintendent, for the latter's approval of a fire insurance rate compromise involving more than $9,000,000.

O'Malley was indicted by the same grand jury on two counts of accepting bribes.

Both Pleaded Guilty.

Both men are in Leavenworth penitentiary on their pleas of guilty to income tax evasion charges growing out of the insurance case settlement.

Warrants for arrest of the two were mailed by county authorities to Leavenworth prison. They will serve as hold orders at the time the men are released. When that will be is uncertain. Pendergast was sentenced last June to 15 months and O'Malley to a year and a day. Both have applied for paroles.

A bribery indictment is pending against O'Malley in St. Louis but there had been no charge against Pendergast in a state court.

Paid to Approve Settlement.

Pendergast was charged on one count with paying O'Malley $62,500 "as a gratuity, reward and bribe" to bring about settlement of the rate case so that insurance companies might charge higher premiums. The other count alleges the same sum was paid for approval of the settlement so as to give the insurance companies an 80 per cent share of the impounded $9,000,000 fund out of which they were to pay litigation costs.

John Dedick is tall, John J. Rose is short, but they had one interest in common. That was burglary, Albany Park police said last night.

Dedick, who is 22 years old and 6 feet 2 inches tall, was seized at his home at 2808 North Narragansett avenue, and Rose, who is 26 and 5 feet 6 inches tall, was arrested at his home at 5347 Wrightwood avenue.

According to detectives, the two worked as WPA laborers on northwest side projects. During their lunch hour periods, police said, they looted homes in the neighborhood. In Rose's home $500 worth of articles was recovered. The Detectives Harry Larson, George Hillock, Dan Sheelard, and Tom Smith, who made the arrests, said the men admitted 100 burglaries.

JURY EXPECTED TO GET AIRPORT LAND SUIT TODAY

A verdict in the city's first condemnation suits in connection with the Chicago airport expansion program may be reached today. Attorneys representing owners of 28 parcels of property that are being condemned for the airport enlargement project, will present their closing arguments to a jury in Judge Denis J. Normoyle's courtroom this morning. The jury then will retire to deliberate.

The suit is the first of half a dozen that will be prosecuted against owners of 78 different land parcels. The land is sought to provide a new right of way for the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad. The company's present tracks which bisect the available airport area will be moved. This will give Chicago one of the finest airports in the world.

"No Experiments for Me When My Child CATCHES ... COLD!"

NOTICE TO MOTHERS... Today 3 out of 5 mothers—knowing how foolish it is to experiment or constantly dose delicate stomachs—use this home-approved external poultice-vapor treatment to relieve distress of colds.

WHEN a cold makes your child feel miserable, all stuffed up—causes muscular soreness or tightness, irritation in the upper bronchial tubes or spasms of coughing—let the experience of other mothers help you to relieve the distress.

Here's what you do: At bedtime, rub the child's throat, chest and back with Vicks VapoRub. And see what morning brings!

ACTS 2 WAYS AT ONCE... Almost immediately VapoRub starts stimulating like a good old-fashioned poultice. And, at the same time, pleasing—helpful—medicinal vapors are released by body heat and breathed direct into the cold-irritated air passages.

Then for hours this poultice-vapor action continues. It invites refreshing sleep. And when you see how it relieves distress you will understand why Vicks VapoRub is a family standby in 3 out of 5 homes. WHY TAKE NEEDLESS CHANCES!

Ideal for Children ... VICKS VAPORUB Just as Good for Adults

Miss Gladys Miller, 11339 Edbrooke Ave., whose experience with the Vitality Boost is matched by hundreds of others!

I'VE ALWAYS been fond of exercise ... and the Vitality Boost is helping me enjoy it even more. I don't get tired so fast ... never felt better.

WORKING DURING the day I get no chance to read or study except at night. The Vitality Boost has helped there, too. That night work never bothers me any more.

NO NEED TO TURN down dates now. No matter how tough a day I've had I usually have plenty of pep and fun left to enjoy myself when I go out. I'm certainly keeping up the Vitality Boost!

Put the Vitality Boost to work for you! ...You'll feel better, every way!

● If you wake up in the morning still unrested ... if you lack pep during the day ... if you tire easily, something serious may be wrong, and you should see your doctor. But if you are well, maybe all you need is the Vitality Boost!

The Vitality Boost is just this: every night at bedtime, a glass of Bowman Milk, hot or cold. All over the city people are trying it, and the results prove that it works, as science says it should.

For three proved medical reasons, the Vitality Boost should help a lot to get you up in the morning with more pep, and keep you feeling better all day.

(1) You take it when your stomach is empty. Preventing hunger pangs, it helps you get more restful sleep.

(2) It reduces the tax on your energy store that even sleeping, takes. (Your body's need of fuel each sleeping hour is actually 40% of the average for all your waking, working hours! That's because your heart keeps pumping, breathing continues, "relaxed" muscles are always under tension.)

(3) It gives your body, in easily digestible form, a greater variety of nutritional essentials than any other food can provide!

So tomorrow night, start getting your Vitality Boost. Drink a full glass of fresh, pure milk at bedtime. You'll enjoy it particularly if the milk is Bowman's. More people in Chicago and vicinity drink Bowman Milk than any other kind. Produced with extra care, it has a specially delicious flavor.

Do this not once but night after night for a month. See if you don't get more good from your sleep. See if your Vitality Boost doesn't make you feel a lot better.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike for another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other."—From the Farewell Address.

A WRONG SHOULD BE RIGHTED.

Almost 40 years ago Chicago demonstrated its "I Will" spirit by performing one of the greatest engineering feats the world has ever known in order to relieve itself of a desperate sanitary situation and change its standing as a city with one of the highest death rates in the country to a metropolis with the lowest death rate. It built the sanitary district canal, reversing the flow of the Chicago river and diverting an annual average of 10,000 cubic feet a second of water from Lake Michigan. For years no objection was heard from the Great Lakes states or navigation interests on the lakes. Canada recognized and agreed to the diversion by a treaty with the United States in 1910 in exchange for a much larger Canadian diversion at Niagara.

But at length the Chicago diversion of water became a subject of controversy between Secretary of War Taft and the sanitary district. The amount of the flow was reduced from time to time on orders from the war department, but for thirty years [from 1907 to 1937] an average diversion of 8,000 feet per second was allowed to flow from Lake Michigan down thru the Mississippi valley.

The sanitary canal furnished the means of connecting Chicago with the Mississippi waterway thru the Illinois waterway, which was adopted as a federal project in 1930. This gave the great landlocked interior of the nation a north and south water highway in competition with the east and west water courses of the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence, and the New York state barge canal. During these years the development of electric power at Niagara falls became of great importance to the province of Ontario and the power interests of New York state.

Altho damage to lake transportation and lake property was alleged to be the basis, power development in the St. Lawrence watershed and the determination of the Mississippi valley to compete in a transportation way with the deep water rim of the country and the lake states was the real motivating force behind the lawsuits which culminated in the famous Taft decree cutting the diversion to an annual average of 1,500 second feet on Dec. 31 of last year. Water diverted to the Gulf of Mexico cannot be used to turn the turbines at Niagara.

These suits were inadequately and ineffectually defended by a spoils sanitary board here and the decree of the court was signed by a chief justice whose interest in the case at issue, as former secretary of war, could hardly be said to be unprejudiced. Not only have Chicago's motives been impugned, but the persecution directed at this city as a result of this litigation has been unprecedented. To add to the malice in this persecution, the present federal administration has been untiring in its efforts to negotiate a treaty with Canada that will forever take from congress and the war department the power to grant relief to Chicago and the middle west by a proper increase in the water diversion.

With the sewage treatment plants of the sanitary district, required by the decision, practically completed, the last summer has clearly demonstrated that more Lake Michigan water must be had in the canal if pestilence is to be avoided and if sufficient depth of channel is to be provided for successful navigation thru the Illinois and Mississippi waterways. Maj. Gen. Schley, chief of the army engineers, reporting on conditions in the vicinity of Joliet, said: "Conditions in the Brandon road pool are unsightly, filthy, and noisome and much worse than they were last year" before the Supreme court's decision took effect. Two former chiefs of the army engineers, Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin and Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, years ago recommended an increase in the diversion to 5,000 cubic feet a second.

Efforts are now to be made by Attorney General John E. Cassidy toward a plea to the Supreme court to modify its decree. Representative Claude V. Parsons has introduced and is pushing a bill in congress to increase the diversion to 5,000 second feet.

All the middle west is asking is that congress authorize the secretary of war, at his discretion, to use up to 5,000 instead of 1,500 cubic feet per second for navigation purposes in the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. Under this arrangement the flow can be increased at low water periods and decreased during periods of high water and during the close of the navigation season. The low water periods in the rivers usually come in August and September. Those are usually high water periods in the lakes. There can be no real conflict of interests. The diversion is not a hole in the bottom of the lake, but a "nick in the rim of the cup."

It is time the real issues in this matter be brought out into the open in order that the vilification directed at a great city may be forever hushed and that justice may be accorded to a great inland empire.

DON'T TELL THIS TO THE MARINES.

The report of Acting Secretary Edison of the navy department to the house naval affairs committee on the stoppage of work on navy airplane engines by the C. I. O. strike in Detroit makes strange reading. The acting secretary gave the information in response to a resolution of Representative Hoffman of Michigan inquiring concerning stories that the navy's defense program had been hampered by the C. I. O. strike against the Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation.

Edison replied that the navy department had called the attention of the regional director of the C. I. O. to the seriousness of the delay in the delivery of material for which the department had contracts and the urgent need of the shipment of patterns.

Says Mr. Edison: "The inspector requested that the C. I. O. director instruct his representative in charge of the picket line at the corporation's plant No. 2 to allow a representative to pass thru the picket line to pick up government owned patterns and ship them on a government bill of lading. The regional director of the C. I. O. sent three representatives of union local 208 to discuss the removal of the patterns with the inspector of naval material. The union representatives were given full access to the files of the navy contracts. At the end of the discussion the union representatives stated that as the strike situation stood their answer was emphatically 'no' and that they would not let patterns or inspected castings be removed. No further action was taken by the navy department to remove the patterns and castings."

The strike was settled Oct. 8, but during its duration of 41 days the picket line kept the navy from getting its own patterns out of the plant The department bowed to a superior force which the government itself had nourished into strength. Mr. Lewis already had victories over the postoffice, the department of justice, and the governors of several states. He can now hang up a naval flag in his trophy room. The navy won't go thru a picket line.

When did Mme. Perkins become its secretary?

WHAT IS GRADE A MILK?

Nineteen suburban dairy companies are in a controversy with the state health department over their right to label the milk they sell Grade A. The merits of the controversy could be better judged by the public if it could be sure just which of the wheels within wheels common to the actions of public officials in dealing with milk motivated the present action.

It is clear that no one should be allowed to sell tainted milk. But it is likewise clear, from experience with Chicago's milk supply, that some of the so-called sanitary regulations imposed on farmers have been imposed less to insure sanitation than to discourage new producers entering the Chicago market.

It is possible that the state health department has taken a leaf from the Chicago book. Some of the violations which the milk dealers say have caused producers to be disqualified seem picayunish. Probably the health department can cite others that have been quite serious.

Grade A milk, which people in the Chicago area have been educated to demand, is milk carrying not more than a certain number of bacteria, either harmful or harmless, in each cubic centimeter. The criterion appears to be the product, not the conditions under which it is produced, altho it is obvious that some control over sanitary conditions on the farm is necessary if the product is to be guarded.

Public suspicion recently has been directed repeatedly to the conduct and motives of public officials dealing with milk. The paper carton case is but one instance. As a result, the burden of proof is on the officials, not on those they accuse. This is a most regrettable state of affairs.

$700 A MONTH.

An alimony hearing discloses that while the late Ald. John Coughlin of the 1st ward was alive an association of loop parking lot owners thought that The Bath's secretary, Raymond Milne, was worth $700 a month as their secretary. When the alderman died they decided Milne wasn't worth anything to them and fired him.

This raises a couple of interesting questions. Did Milne warn the parking lot owners that something might happen to them, against which they thought $700 a month a reasonable insurance premium? Or did the parking lot owners want him to do something that they thought worth $700 a month?

The grand jury might well call in the members of the association and their ex-secretary and ask them these two questions in the public interest.

Editorial of the Day

[Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph.]

Meeting in Chicago of representatives from 14 farm organizations of the midwest was for the purpose of looking over the prospects in agriculture and to advise farmers what to do about them.

The advice which came out of the conference was just what any sensible farmer would conclude on his own accord if he were a man of experience and common sense.

If the European war continues, presuming America stays out, the advice of the conference of experts is that the American farmer sit tight—conduct normal farming operations on a sane basis, do his marketing of crops in an orderly manner, and if any extra profits accrue from this policy to use such funds for paying his debts in so far as he can; to get out of debt if possible, and if he gets out, to stay out.

It is recalled that during the world war of 1914-'18 the American farmers were driven by government propaganda to produce food supplies beyond any normal needs. This was done as a measure of aid to America's military venture in Europe, the extra production going to feed our own armies and those of the allies in the war.

Mere overproduction of farm crops might not in itself have been so disastrous for the farmers in the former war. But too many of them were influenced by the hysteria of high grain prices to believe that farm lands would go up to an unheard of value—as much as $1,000 an acre for central Illinois lands was mentioned as possible. Of course, buying additional acres on credit and burdening the farmer with a heavy debt proved disastrous in the after-war slump—this added to the many other economic changes which the farmers could not control.

It is only a short time, after all, since the farmers were caught napping in the former war period. It is believed that they will not be easily swayed at this time. But the advice of the leadership cautioning farmers to watch their steps is sane advice, after all.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

NIGHT WITH THE OLD GUARD.

If we had been "covering" the Chicago newspaper veterans' dinner last Saturday night in the good old fashioned way, instead of sitting uselessly among the hierarchy on the platform, we would have started out with the news that the toastmaster spoke classic Greek. He spoke classic English, too, and a good deal of it, but in an inspired moment the mantle of the elder statesmen descended upon him and he recited two sonorous hexameters from Homer in praise of the "rosy-fingered Dawn," when ink-stained wretches often go to bed.

That was Charles N. Wheeler, and a better toastmaster never presided over the much publicized Gridiron dinners in Washington. . . . He also told how he could have bought the expiring Inter Ocean for $7,000 and tried to persuade Julius Rosenwald to make this small investment. But the cautious Julius preferred to sink a few millions in the Herald, which followed the Inter Ocean to the graveyard a few years later.

* * *

The veterans took their aperitifs at a reconstruction of Stillson's bar, a rendezvous of their youth, with its old tutelary genius, Mr. Dorgan, in attendance. But they proved that the mellowness of wisdom has come to them in these lonesome, later years by restricting the refreshment to two snorts per man.

* * *

A permanent organization was formed; an annual dinner was decreed. Post it up in the assignment books, you young city editors.

* * *

There is a dinner club in New York which is recruited from men, prominent in many walks of life, who have once served on the daily press—the "I'm an old newspaper man myself" crowd. They call themselves the Silurians. This geological figure of speech might be followed in naming the Chicago press veterans. The Dinosaurs? Extinct monsters; not so good. The Pterodactyls? Winged fingers; might do.

ODE TO OVERALLS.

O, patched and faded overalls
—A tear below one knee—
No princely raiment can outshine
Or dim your charms for me.

For many a long and sun drenched hour
We dug and hoed and seeded—
While golf clubs, gun and fishing rod
Collected dust unheeded.

We rolled the lawn and trimmed the shrubs,
The sagging fence we mended;
We painted everything in sight,
And then the baby tended.

We tinkered up the car a bit,
Took out a knock and wheeze;
Patched up a tire, then for a change
Chopped down a few dead trees.

O, patched and faded overalls,
You haunt vacation's trails.
Go hang yourself—and let me shave—
Tonight I'm wearing tails!

Specifications for a Glamor Girl.

We girls, it seems, are now called upon to "glamorize" [O horrible word!] ourselves. The experts claim that the first step in this process is to make an exhaustive survey of our resources. But what if it comes out like this, a neat problem in classification:

Liabilities.

[c] A few assorted freckles.
[d] Various tastes unsuited to the budget, running to opera, champagne, theater, symphony, and mink coats.

Of Dubious Value.

[a] One broken down Ford.
[b] Semired hair.
[c] One job, such as it is.
[d] One college education, such as it was.
[e] One badly overworked sense of humor.

Could it be that this isn't the stuff of which glamor girls are made? Pepsy.

WATER DRINKING AND DROPSY.

WITH fair regularity letters come to this department insisting that we recommend to every one that the amount of water imbibed be increased to two or three times that which is ordinarily employed. I suppose this attitude has its basis in the fact that a running stream purifies itself; therefore, if we will inundate the intestines with torrential force, we will wash away all debris and recover from "what ails us."

Unfortunately, there is no direct communication between the stomach and the kidneys via which we can discharge gallons of liquid. Every drop that is ingested must be absorbed by the blood stream and be excreted by the lungs, the skin, the digestive tract, or the renal apparatus. When we consider the body as a whole, about 60 per cent is water. If we think only of the soft parts we must recall that the percentage is 80. To load the cells with more than they can hold will result inevitably in swelling [edema].

Now the tissues handle water in two ways. Some of it is at liberty to go wherever it will. The balance is used to form colloids. This latter fraction is not easily dislodged. Furthermore, the proportion in any given area depends upon the quantity of mineral on hand. For example, common salt wants to be in solution and it will demand fluids for this purpose. If an overplus of the chemical exists, a goodly share of liquid will be retained.

Any one even in perfect health can drink too much water. If disease is present, or with any organ impaired, trouble may appear quickly. If there is anything wrong with the kidneys or the heart, if the skin is unable to get rid of its quota, if the lungs are not performing at par—we can understand that we may become waterlogged, because certain outlets are blocked. In other words, we can poison ourselves—even to the point of causing death—by being too liberal. The blood is diluted and the patient becomes restless, with muscular twitchings and stupor. In self-defense, the kidneys become more active and diarrhea is a balancing factor in an effort to throw off the surplus.

In such a situation there is just one remedy of importance—namely, common salt [sodium chloride] taken by mouth or injected directly into a vein. How does this bring relief? By holding a generous portion of the fluid in a figurative reservoir, or separate compartment—not permitting it to wander about on its own.

Fortunately, we are provided with a fairly safe guide that ought not to be questioned. The sense of thirst is of great value. If we eat salty foods we are made to realize that we must drink enough to dilute the chemical.

We have noted also that feverish patients will demand a huge allowance—this despite the fact that the output of the urine may be reduced. The reason is that evaporation from the lungs and the skin is so great that the deficit must be made up.

Attention should also be called to a malady known as diabetes insipidus. This is not true diabetes, as the urine does not contain sugar. The patient may drink as many as 10 or 12 quarts and eliminate practically the same quantity daily.

However, this is quite different from the disorder which occurs when the filtering device in the kidneys is damaged while, at the same time, a considerable volume of liquid is swallowed. The excess will make its way through the capillaries and abide within the muscles and beneath the skin. This means that fluid is flooding the tissues where it does not belong, and we call the result edema, or dropsy.

I am strongly in favor of plenty of beverages, and there is no reason to curtail two or three glasses at each meal if one is well and thirsty; but we must make certain that the system can take care of it.

IT'S A STIFF TEST.

Mrs. S. writes: Would walking up 180 stairs and down 280 each day cause heart trouble or any other disorder?

REPLY.

This is a severe test of the efficiency of one's heart. The program is too strenuous for the average person. It should be said, however, that heart trouble comes from disease, not exertion. Fatigue is more likely to follow.

AVERAGE IS ABOUT 7.

H. B. writes: What is the average birth weight for an infant?

REPLY.

VARICOSE VEIN INJECTIONS.

O. H. writes: Do the injections for varicose veins injure the heart?

REPLY.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

Oct. 31, 1914.

LONDON.—Reports from Constantinople told of a battle between Turkish and Russian fleets in the Black sea off the coast of Odessa. The Turks, who had bombarded three Russian ports, sank two Russian torpedo boats and several merchant vessels, reports said.

AMSTERDAM.—The Germans have evacuated Ostend and are being pushed back all along the western front. Opening of the sluice gates and fresh attacks by Belgian and British soldiers have forced the Germans back across the Yser with heavy losses.

PRINCETON, N. J.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, in a speech at Princeton university, urged military preparedness for the United States and said he had seen the plans of two nations now in the war to capture the great American seaports and hold them for ransom in case of hostilities with this country.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—War demands boosted exports of foodstuffs from the United States for September to $68,491,000, nearly double the total of $38,787,000 for September a year ago, the department of commerce reported.

A HUGE ARROW MIGHT HELP.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Many times each week I travel by taxi north and south on Michigan avenue. Frequently the Michigan avenue bridge is up, causing me and hundreds of other people to waste working time, taxi fares and gasoline.

Much of this lost time and wasted gasoline could be saved if the city would install a gigantic arrow on the bridge structure which would indicate the direction the boat in the river is traveling. By this means taxi drivers and private car operators going south would be advised that it would be a safe bet that they could beat the boat at the next bridge west by turning west on Ohio or Ontario street and thus cross the river without delay. Drivers could see an arrow blocks in advance of the bridge, both north and south.

Incidentally, diverting the traffic this way would also relieve the traffic jam that results each time automobiles are blocked on Michigan avenue by the bridge raising. W. H. HOWELL.

$700 STORY INTRIGUES HIM.

Glen Ellyn, Oct. 27.—That was a most revealing story THE TRIBUNE carried this morning about Raymond Milne, who was secretary to the late Bathhouse John of the 1st ward. But it didn't tell enough. It set forth that while The Bath lived and ruled the 1st ward, Milne collected $700 a month from the loop parking lot owners whom he had "organized," but that "when the alderman was gone and Milne couldn't do the parking lot men any more good they fired him."

I want to know more. What was Milne doing for the parking lot men? How could they figure him worth $700 a month to them when he was hooked up with a city alderman and not worth a tinker's dam on his own?

Can't you give us some more about the $8,400 a year service?

CHARLES LEE BRYSON.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Why not call the new school "Lewis-Armour Institute of Technology" and preserve the names of both these fine institutions and their public spirited donors? There are so many institutions carrying the state name, including the state university, that "Chicago Institute of Technology" might seem less confusing and more appropriate, if the name must be geographical.

Of course there is "Massachusetts Institute of Technology," but "M. I. T." is the only school in that state carrying the state name. Certainly "I. I. T." is far from euphonious and "Illinois Tech" not much better.

J. D. MERSHIMER.

CHILDREN HERE AT HOME.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Again the English Speaking union attempts to arouse our emotions.

With thousands of underprivileged and neglected children in our United States this union proposes to place English children in American homes and schools for the duration of the war.

Since the speaker, Dr. Angell, is so concerned about aiding England, I would suggest that he and his organization go to the isles and enlist rather than complacently sit in our United States hoping to use English children as a means to get American sympathy, American money, and, finally, our American boys.

PRO-NEUTRALITY.

UPHOLD THE DIES COMMITTEE.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Let us commend the Dies committee for the good work it is performing, and [illegible] that Uncle Sam will discharge every government official and employé with a communistic background. HARRY R. STERNHEIM.

NOT MUCH MONEY FOR BEER.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—If K. P. K., who commented on relief, taverns, and the City club in the Voice of the People, will consult the figures of the Chicago Relief administration and use some simple mathematics, he can easily determine that the average relief client gets about 16 cents a day to provide for the necessities of life other than rent. Assuming that the relief client bought no clothing, no food, no coal, no toilet articles, he would be able to buy approximately one glass and a half of beer a day. If this enables him to spend all of his time in taverns Chicago tavern keepers are far more gracious and humanitarian than I would suspect. Further investigation will also show K. P. K. that our penal institutions spend more money on food alone for the individual criminal than is allocated a relief client for everything but rent.

Everybody knows there are frauds among relief clients. Fraudulent cases have been estimated anywhere from 3 to 50 per cent. Unprejudiced investigations favor the lower figure, but even if the higher figure were accurate, it would offer no justification for starving the 50 per cent who are honest. There will always be some fraudulent relief cases, but experience shows that if more money is spent for administration the number of frauds can be reduced to a minimum.

The social welfare committee of the City club is convinced that it is not only humane but economically advisable to provide more adequate aid to relief clients. No City club committee, however, has advocated additional taxation, but club committees have pointed out methods by which savings can be made in the operation of the state and local governments.

NORTH LINE BUS SERVICE.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—I was glad to see your editorial "Packed Buses." I have been tempted to write you or the bus company about the service we who live on the north side between Wilson avenue and the Edgewater Beach hotel have to put up with. Many evenings I have stood in front of the Tribune building from 4:35 to 4:50 waiting for a No. 51 bus that stops between Wilson avenue and the Edgewater Beach hotel. Four or five limiteds whose first stop is the hotel and two or three 51s that go only as far as Wilson avenue pass by, to say nothing of three or four of the other numbers that go up Michigan avenue, so we who live around Lawrence avenue have to stand and wait for a bus that, when it comes, is, as you said in your editorial, packed to the doors. I hope the editorial will produce results, but I doubt it. A. L. B.

"STATE MEDICINE" AT MANTENO.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Your editorial on the health situation at Manteno especially pleased me. That's the sort of a situation that would develop generally if the doctors were all under the domination of politicians as is proposed in many quarters under the guise of "state medicine."

You can readily see why we don't like the idea of state medicine. There is too much chance of medical science being made to serve politics rather than human need.

Cannot you develop this idea in further editorials? The movement for state medicine is hand in glove with the attempted political domination of the newspapers.

LET THEM FIGHT OR SHUT UP.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Why don't people like Senator Frederick Hale [R., Me.] either go curtsy to King George and beg permission to fight for his majesty, or sit down and shut up? I'm sick of these blubbering, white-livered, half-hearted, lukewarm American orators down there in Washington sticking their noses into something which should not concern them in the least. Talk about women being busybodies! Well, let me tell you they can't be compared to a bunch of congressmen when a foreign war looms on the horizon. MRS. ELLEN MOORE.

What PART of

The Sunday News is now available to General Advertisers in these five "packages" to fit your needs.

For advertisers with national distribution, Sunday News full-run circulation exceeding 3,500,000 is most efficient and economical. Its tremendous selling power plus its low cost makes it a most powerful medium.

It is the only national-coverage newspaper in America—widely read both as a magazine and as a newspaper.

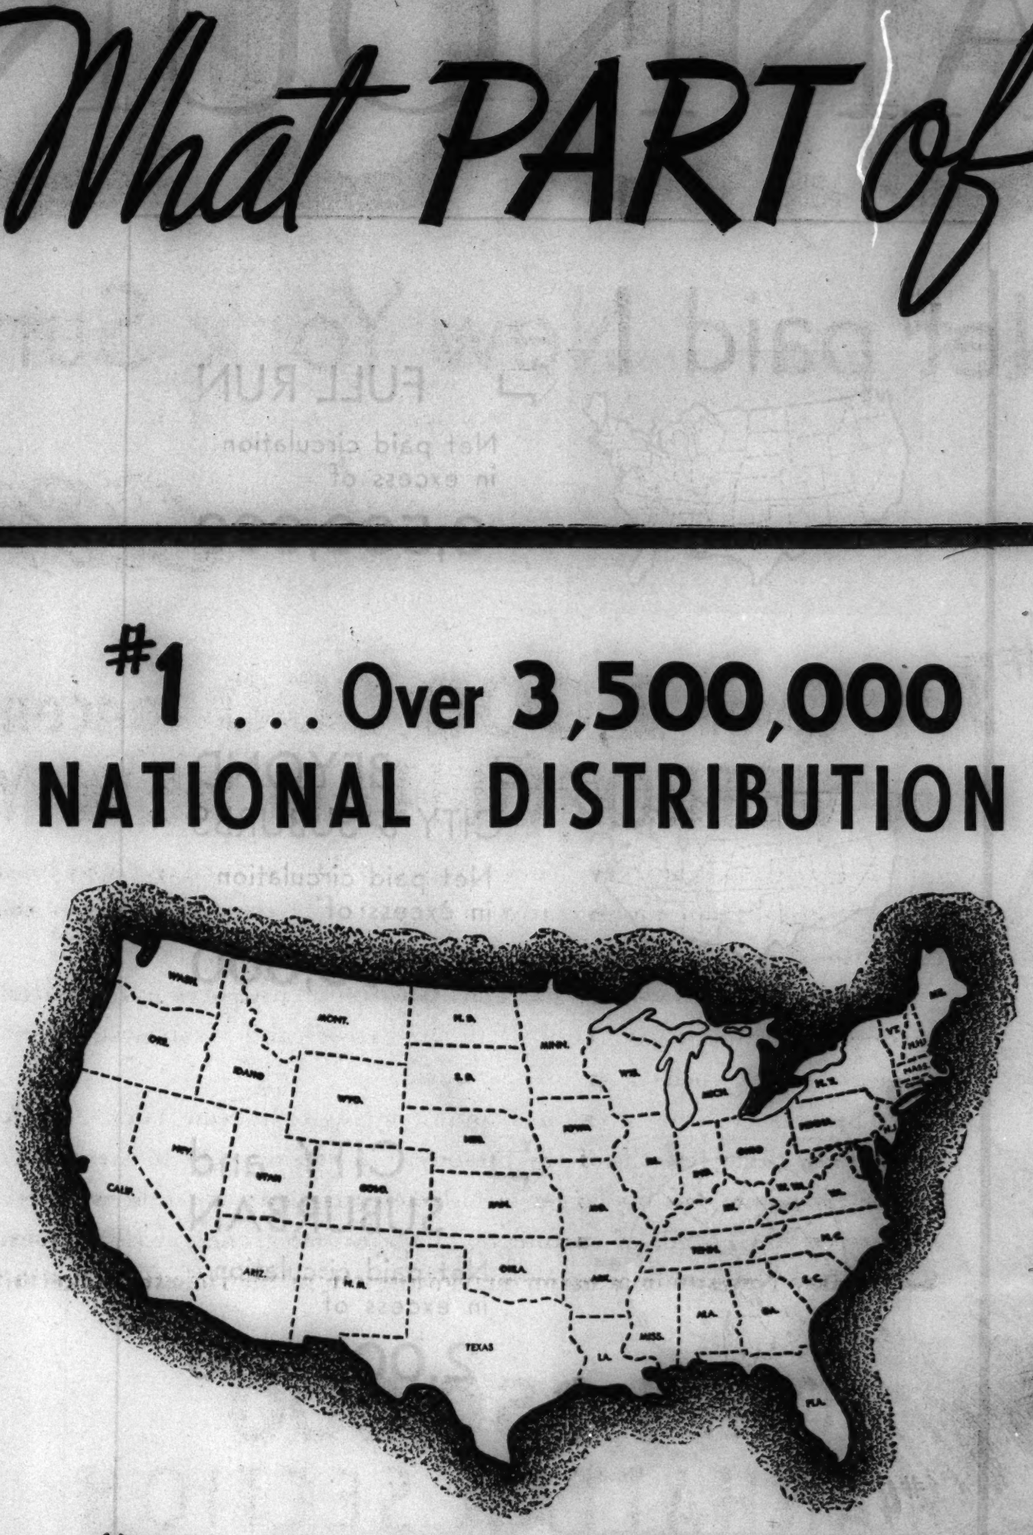
Advertising in the Sunday News moves goods everywhere. Sunday News circulation is counted in thousands in all but three states.

It is particularly valuable for covering the rich urban markets of the northeast. New York State gets over 1,700,000 copies, New Jersey more than 430,000, Pennsylvania exceeds 190,000, Connecticut more than 119,000. Within 150 miles of New York City, the Sunday News gives better than 20% coverage in 136 cities of over 10,000 population.

Throughout the remainder of the United States, hundreds of thousands of families read the Sunday News, buy News advertised products. Far-away Texas takes over 22,000 copies. West Virginia reads more than 21,000, and her sister state Virginia over 39,000. Ohio buys over 98,000 copies. Massachusetts takes over 94,000 copies, and Michigan over 35,000. Even Hawaii takes over 12,000 copies.

To do a major national selling job, use the full-run Sunday News!

#1 ... Over 3,500,000 NATIONAL DISTRIBUTION



#2 ... Over 1,500,000 COUNTRY CIRCULATION beyond New York City & Suburbs

Beyond New York City and the suburbs, Sunday News circulation exceeds 1,500,000. It concentrates heaviest in the rich urban markets of the northeast, where population is dense and sales run high. It is particularly desirable as a supplement to magazine schedules, giving high coverage in the urban east where magazines run thin, and bolstering magazine circulation throughout the United States.

Sunday News country circulation—as well as full run and Metropolitan—is available in Coloroto and Rotogravure. Sunday News Coloroto printing is the finest in America—equaling and often exceeding fine magazine reproductions. And the Rotogravure Section is among the most popular in the paper.

The Sunday News gives maximum coverage. In New York City, it is read by better than three-fourths of the families. In the suburbs it is read in more than half of the homes, has far larger circulation than any other newspaper. It reaches a majority of all kinds of customers, of all income grades, in all sections. LAKE DIVERSION FIGHT TO BE PUT UP TO ROOSEVELT

Both Senators to Present Horner Protest.

The Lake Michigan water diversion problem will be put up to President Roosevelt.

Senators Scott Lucas and James M. Slattery of Illinois announced in Washington, D. C., that they will have an interview Thursday with the President and will lay before him Gov. Horner's protest against ratification of the pending treaty with Canada which would establish joint control of the St. Lawrence river and the Great Lakes.

Gov. Horner announced his objections to the pact in telegrams sent yesterday to the Illinois senators. He asserted the treaty would make the 1,500 cubic feet a second rate of water diversion from Lake Michigan a permanent fixture which could be revised only by the consent of Canada in an arbitrated settlement.

Residents Complain of Sewage.

Army engineers recently recommended that Chicago be allowed to draw 5,000 cubic feet of water a second into its sanitary district canal. The 1,500 foot limit was set by order of the Supreme court in 1930, and was put into effect last Jan. 1. Residents of the Joliet and Summit areas along the canal later complained that stagnant sewage and muck had made conditions intolerable there.

In reply to these complaints, Attorney General John Cassidy said yesterday his office has nearly finished a report which may form the basis of an appeal to the Supreme court to modify its decree. The report will be presented to Gov. Horner and, with his consent, a petition for modification of the decree will be filed with the high court.

In his telegrams yesterday Gov. Horner advised both senators to "register a very earnest and vigorous protest" against the pending pact with the President.

Treaty Termed Outrageous.

Gov. Horner termed the planned treaty "outrageous and disastrous to the people of Illinois and the entire Mississippi valley."

"Illinois has ever maintained," Horner said, "that diversion of Lake Michigan into Illinois waterways of 1,500 cubic feet a second is inadequate for dilution of Chicago sewage and for providing sufficient water in the lakes for gulf development."

Senator Lucas, in announcing the appointment with the President, said: "If the treaty comes up for ratification, both Senator Slattery and I will oppose it. Under the Supreme court order, any injured party would at least have a right to appeal to the court. However, if this treaty should be concluded, it would freeze diversion at the present figure and we might be forever stopped from increasing it—no matter how badly it needed to be increased."

'ASK EXTENSION OF FREE CLINICS IN COOK COUNTY

Members of the citizens' committee for Adequate Medical Care presented a petition to the hospital committee of the county board yesterday requesting extension of free clinical facilities in the county. The medical care group declared that proposed consolidation of clinics at the former west side hospital, recently purchased by the county, will take away similar services now furnished at the county hospital. Commissioner Frank Bobrytzke, chairman of the hospital committee, suggested that the matter be presented to the county hospital staff and also be taken up with the city council.

CHURCH JANITOR'S HOME BURNS.

Fire which started in the janitor's cottage at the rear of the Hegewisch Methodist church, 13500 Burley avenue, caused $700 damage yesterday, but did not spread to the church. The janitor, Morris McKinney, said a spark from the furnace ignited a pile of refuse.

If you weigh 135 pounds, and want to continue to weigh 135 pounds, here's what you should eat a day, according to the National Live Stock and Meat board:

Breakfast—Cereal, grapefruit, one egg, two slices of bacon, 1½ pieces of bread with butter, coffee with cream. Lunch—Two lamb chops, 2 tablespoons of buttered peas, a mixed vegetable salad, one pat of butter and one thin slice of bread, a baked apple with a little cream and coffee. Dinner—Cream of celery soup, grapefruit salad, baked potato, asparagus, steak, strawberry shortcake with whipped cream, coffee.

Fifteen European surgeons and scientists were invited to speak at the Interstate Postgraduate Medical assembly being held in the Palmer House but only two managed to come. One is Prof. Dott. Emanuele Momigliano, gynecologist of the Royal University of Rome, who will tell of his research in using controled X-ray to overcome sterility in women. The other is Dr. J. Polya, professor of surgery at the University of Budapest, who perfected the operation for resection of the stomach for cancer and ulcer. Prof. Momigliano, small, wiry and nervous, who crossed the Atlantic on the Rex, says life in war-surrounded Italy is "much more exciting" than the assembly. The Rex was searched twice in crossing by French and English cruisers, he said.

Among the new instruments to give us pain to relieve us from pain is a gastroscope, a long steel tube with an electric light at its tip that is pushed down the throat into the stomach.

Don't force a severely burned person to take simple fluids by mouth. Don't make him drink water. Don't labor under the illusion that tannic acid saves the life of a seriously burned person. This is the advice of Dr. H. M. Trusler and Dr. H. L. Egbert of Indianapolis who, after several years of research, contend that tannic acid has its merits, but saves no lives. Lives are saved, they say, by blood transfusions [one every 12 hours] and oxygen. A severely burned person is "intoxicated," they say, by a circulatory shock, a condition in which the blood stagnates in the capillaries. Transfusions and oxygen have been found to be the only relief for this.

An instrument whereby as much as 145 square inches of skin can be removed from the chest and abdomen of a man has been devised by Dr. Earl G. Padgett of the University of Kansas department of surgery. It cuts the graft of skin in any desired thickness from .2 of a millimeter to 1.01 millimeters and in any size or shape. Formerly all skin grafts were removed by hand with a scalpel or knife. Don't be misled, Dr. Padgett warns, by the common belief that skin from one person's body can be grafted onto that of another. In occasional instances, it lasts as long as six months before it melts away, but it rarely works at all.

danger of kidney and heart ailments, apoplexy, and similar troubles."

The importance of considering the factor of allergy in making diagnoses was stressed at the night session by Dr. J. Harvey Black, professor of preventive medicine at Baylor university, Dallas, Tex. Allergy is a sensitiveness to various vegetables and minerals.

It's World's Greatest Mimic.

"Allergy is probably the world's greatest mimic," said Dr. Black. "I have seen cases of suspected rupture, gallstones, partial paralysis, and many others revealed as mere allergic manifestations."

Researches at the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., which have led to successful use of vitamin K in stopping excessive bleeding in surgery were described by Walter C. Alvarez, professor of medicine, University of Minnesota Graduate school of medicine. He told how use of the vitamin was brought about largely thru accident.

A Danish poultry raiser, whose fowls were dying of hemorrhages, found that he could save them by adding fish livers to their food. Scientists at Mayo clinic read of his discovery and evolved a method of fractionating or isolating vitamin K so that it may be injected in its pure form. "Many great medical discoveries have come about thru accident," he declared.

Pellagra Cures Acclaimed.

The great advances in diagnosis and treatment of pellagra were told by Dr. Tom D. Spies, associate professor of medicine, Cincinnati College of Medicine. Pellagra is an eruptive disease caused by deficinecy of vital dietetic ingredients.

"Ten years ago," he said, "the mortality rate was 54 per cent of all pellagra patients admitted to hospitals. Last year there were no pellagra deaths in this country, tho more than 1,000,000 persons contracted the disease."

In the last two years, he continued, it has been found that two kindred diseases which once claimed many lives can be cured with amazing speed by injections of a fluid created artificially. These diseases are beriberi, cured by extract of thiamin, and riboflavin, treated with extract of riboflavin.

Nicotinic acid is used in pellagra cases. Relief is almost immediate and recovery follows rapidly. "These remedies fit like a key in a lock," said Dr. Spies, who has conducted his researches chiefly in Alabama. Last year he received the Phillips Memorial award from the American College of Physicians.

Northwestern Expert Speaks.

Among the other noted speakers at yesterday morning's sessions were: Dr. Philip Lewin, associate professor of orthopedic surgery, Northwestern university school of medicine, who spoke on low back pains in connection with sciatica.

Dr. Soma Weiss, professor of the theory and practice of physic, Harvard Medical school, who discussed clinical types of nephritis.

Dr. Fred W. Rankin of Lexington, Ky., who spoke upon diagnosis of abdominal lesions, and Dr. John Alexander, professor of surgery at the University of Michigan medical school, who warned of the dangers of tuberculosis and its swift development and the importance of medical attention for coughs and colds that persist more than two weeks.

Bone Grafting Illustrated.

At the afternoon session an illustrated lecture on the use of bone grafting in the treatment of bone tumors was given by Dr. Dallas R. Phemister, professor of surgery, University School of Medicine.

Others who spoke were Dr. Russell L. Haden, Cleveland clinic, Cleveland, O.; Dr. Eldridge L. Eliason, professor of surgery, University of Pennsylvania school of medicine; Dr. James G. Carr, professor of medicine, Northwestern; Dr. Albert M. Snell, professor of medicine, University of Minnesota, and Dr. C. Donald Creevy, assistant dean and associate professor of surgery and urology, University of Minnesota school of medicine.

The evening speakers, in addition to Dr. Black and Dr. Spies, were Dr. Richard B. Cattel, Lahey clinic, Boston; Dr. Frederick H. Falls, professor of obstetrics and gynecology, University of Illinois; Dr. John H. Musser, professor of medicine, Tulane university, New Orleans, and Dr. Harry Mock, associate professor of surgery, Northwestern.

STEPHEN A. DAY ANNOUNCES FOR CONGRESS POST

Stephen A. Day of Evanston, Republican nominee for congressman at large last year, announced his candidacy yesterday for the same nomination in the primary next April.

"In 1940," said his statement, "the voters of Illinois must pass final judgment on the future of the United States—whether we are to remain a free people or sink into a dictatorship. We must remain out of the European war and find a way to restore prosperity for the average man.

"Our best safeguard is to elect additional Republican congressmen devoted to constitutional government and to the success of private business, with better times for labor, the farmer, and business."

This will be Day's seventh race for congressman at large, an office for which he ran the first time in 1920.

886,950 HAIRS TO GROW
Between the Ages of 20 and 50

ALL of the hair which is on your scalp today will fall out and will be replaced by new hair within the next four years. This normal "hair cycle" continues as long as your scalp is healthy. Baldness comes when some local scalp disorder (such as dandruff) keeps the hair-growing structure from replacing the hair which reaches maturity and falls out. To avoid baldness you must help your scalp to re-grow 81 hairs each day—886,950 during the "danger age"—20 to 50.

The Thomas' can help you by overcoming any and all of the 14 local scalp disorders which may be leading you to baldness. When you start Thomas treatment, your dandruff disappears, abnormal hair-loss stops, and new hair starts to grow on the thin and bald spots. You need a good head of hair—and you can have it! Call today for a complete scalp examination—no charge or obligation.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LUND WOULD CUT $2,000,000 FROM HUGHES' FUNDS

Salaries in Department Double in 10 Years.

[This is the second of a series of articles analyzing by departments the reductions in state expenses proposed by Representative Lund. Others will follow.]

Salaries and wages of departments under Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes have nearly doubled in 10 years. Representative Arnold L. Lund [R., Riverside] said yesterday that 2 millions of his proposed 57 million dollar slash in state expenses could be taken out of these departments. Hughes' appropriations total $5,522,886.

Lund has requested Gov. Horner to permit the legislature again to consider his bill to lift the sales tax from food. His economy campaign is designed to eliminate any need for the 3 per cent tax on food items.

Lund's main reduction in Hughes' departments would be $900,000 in salaries and wages, bringing the total for this item down to $1,361,056—slightly higher than the $1,304,145 figure for 1929-'31.

Suggests Cut in Staff.

"With 164 employés listed on the pay roll of the auto license office, it is hardly conceivable that an appropriation of $85,000 is needed for extra help," Lund said.

"There are 53 employés in the state library, whereas 15 trained workers could take care of the duties there. The appropriation for this institution was $159,697 in 1929, but now it is $266,894. Yet 1929 was called a boom year!

"The appropriation for the title department is about $50,000 more than two years ago. All of the increase is found in salary and wages, of which $40,000 is for extra help. Work of the department has not increased to an extent that would justify this.

Charges Work Overlaps.

"A similar pay roll situation is found in the drivers' license department. The overlapping of work and the absence of it make an amazing question of what is done with the 120 employés. In addition to the $503,960 for them, there is $20,000 for extra help."

If civil service regulations were enforced and merit counted instead of political favor, the departments could get along with one-half of present personnel, Lund said.

Expert engineers have told him that the state house and power plant could be maintained on $250,000 a year, he said. The appropriation is $920,520. Lund would cut it to $500,000 for the biennium.

"Since making my critical analysis of state spending I have been overwhelmed by letters from civic groups and citizens," Lund said. "It shows how the people feel about taxation."

Champion Husker

[Associated Press Photo.]

Danville, Ill., Oct. 30 (AP).—Ecus Vaughn, a darkhaired southerner who works as a hired hand for his half brother, won the Illinois state cornhusking championship today. A crowd of 95,000 saw Vaughn take the title with 30.1 bushels in 80 minutes.

Clean shucking won the title for Vaughn, since Leland Klein, Woodford county's entry, husked a greater gross load, but had more penalties. His total was 29.23 bushels.

Vaughn, representing Piatt county, is 23 years old and was born in Kentucky, but has made his home in Piatt county for nine years.

Klein, the runnerup, is 21 years old and was born and has lived all his life on his father's farm near Metamora. Both Vaughn and Klein will represent Illinois at the national contest near Lawrence, Kas., Friday.

Donley Martin of La Salle county finished third with 28.56 bushels, Irving Bauman of Woodford county [defending champion] was fourth with 27.62, and Roy Dremann of Marshall-Putnam counties was fifth with 26.645. Dremann was the highest county qualifier, winning his county contest with 49.24 bushels.

JOHN W. DALMAN, MAKER OF RAIL EQUIPMENT, DIES

John William Dalman, retired head of the Dalman-Childs company, manufacturers of railway equipment, died yesterday in his home at Racine. He was 66 years old. Mr. Dalman was a former resident of New York, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Chicago. He graduated from Lehigh university as a mechanical engineer, and after working for the Baltimore and Ohio, Lehigh Valley, and Pennsylvania railroads, became construction manager of the Standard Oil company. He was later associated with the American Steel Foundry company before starting in business for himself. In 1906 Mr. Dalman married Mrs. Henrietta R. Case of Racine, widow of Jackson I. Case, harvest machine manufacturer. She survives him, as do three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Rich and Mrs. Merica Shordon of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Florence D. Marquardt, Los Angeles, and one brother, Edwin F. Dalman, Fort Wayne. The body was brought to the chapel at 1253 North Clark street. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. in Rosehill Mausoleum chapel.

HORNER WEIGHS RELIEF NEEDS IN SPECIAL SESSION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct 30.—Gov. Henry Horner is expected to decide this week whether to include the question of relief in his call for a special legislative session, which he will convene within two weeks.

Flooded with demands on the matter, the governor ordered a survey of relief needs in Chicago, to determine the truth of reports that persons are starving. He announced the survey last Monday. At his press conference today, he said he expects the report this week.

Gov. Horner has not made up his mind, he added, on whether to include the question of oil regulation in the call. His attitude has been that he will include it "if a square bill is presented."

The estate consists of securities worth $51,638, a half interest in 26 front feet of the property occupied by the Marquette building at 62 West Adams street, valued at $84,157, and a trust amounting to $399,423. The estate is divided among three children, Lambert High Ennis, 999 Michigan avenue, Evanston; George H. Ennis, 1242 Lake Shore drive, and Mrs. Margaret Wolfe, Wyola, Mont.

SERUM ORDERED FOR VICTIM OF RABID CAT'S BITE

State Representative Nick Keller sent to the state department of public health in Springfield yesterday for antirabies serum to treat his brother, William, 32 years old, who was bitten Sunday by a cat which was found to be rabid.

William, who runs the family restaurant just outside Zion on Sheridan road, was bitten on the left instep. The cat escaped outdoors and bit three other cats while the Keller brothers were chasing it, with the assistance of Sherman Mears, a friend, and Police Captain Charles G. Wright of Zion.

The cat died after it was captured. A test by the Chicago board of health showed that it had rabies. The three cats which it bit were destroyed.

SPORT HERRMANN ESTATE VALUE IS RAISED TO $500,000

The estate of U. J. [Sport] Herrmann, sportsman and theater owner, will amount to about $500,000, according to an inventory filed yesterday with Frank J. Lyman, Probate court clerk.

At the time the will was filed it was believed the estate would total around $200,000. The inventory shows the bulk of the estate to be oil, bank, radio and building stocks, plus bonds, tax warrants and some $14,000 in cash.

The bulk of the estate goes to Mrs. Edna Dill of Hammond, a niece, and the Shrine hospital for crippled children. Mr. Herrmann died last July 2 of injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Voters will write in the names of men and women they favor for commissioners in event the question carries. The five receiving the most votes will compose the board.

DISMISS COUNTY'S $2,248,000 SUIT IN EDISON TAX CASE

A suit brought by the county against the Commonwealth Edison company seeking an additional $2,248,000 in 1932 personal property taxes was dismissed yesterday by Judge Thomas J. Lynch. The judge has had the case under advisement since last July. The company in 1932 paid $3,933,000 in personal property taxes other than those contested.

Attorney Francis X. Busch of the Edison counsel argued taxes were unfairly assessed against boilers and other equipment in buildings. He contended depreciation should have been figured item for item instead of applying a flat percentage of total cost, as was done by a former assessor, J. L. Jacobs.

Assistant State's Attorneys Jacob Shamberg and William Kearney said an appeal would be taken as a test on these points. Immediately after Judge Lynch gave his decision trial of a similar suit was begun. In this case the county is suing the Peoples' Gas, Light and Coke company for $1,322,200 in additional 1932 personal property taxes.

Art Institute Reception to Be Held Nov. 16

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT FREQUENTLY is a moot question as to which is of more interest to the several thousand women at the Art institute's annual reception, the art exhibition or the tea tables. This year there is no doubt but that it will be the decorations of the tables that will be of paramount importance for, after all, the exhibition will be hanging until Jan. 7 and the tables will be on view only on the afternoon of the reception, Nov. 16.

The tables are to be unusually interesting this year for they will show the contrast in table decorative fashions for the last 50 years. The exhibihibition of American painting and sculpture will sum up the last 50 years in art. "Half a Century of American Art" it is called.

Invitations to the 61st annual reception went into the mail last night. The hours will be from 3 until 5:30. The five tea tables, as usual, will be arranged by committees from leading women's clubs, clubs whose history is closely interwoven with the history of the Art institute. In gallery 45 Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, and Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick from the Antiquarian society, and Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, Mrs. A. Watson Armour, and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams from the Fortnightly will preside at a table done in the style of the 1880s.

A table of the 1890s will be in gallery 40 with three clubs in charge, the Municipal Art league, the Chicago Woman's club, and the Art Institute Alumni. Mrs. Florence S. Cook, Mrs. Helen Wells, Miss Jessie Lacey, Mrs. William G. Valentine, Mrs. Albion L. Headburg, Mrs. Burnett B. Warner, Mrs. Daniel Boone, Mrs. E. W. Grover, and Mrs. Sumner Sollitt will represent these organizations.

Other Committees to Decorate Tables.

The Arché club and the Musicians Club for Women will decorate a table of the 1900s. Mrs. Carl Victor Wisner, Mrs. LeRoy J. Zorn, Mrs. Edward Heinz Jr., Mrs. Dwight C. Orcutt, Miss Maurine Parzybok, and Mrs. Almada Biery Jones will be in charge.

Mrs. Robert Courtnay Griffin, Miss Elizabeth Browning, and Mrs. Richard Cooper Jr. of the Chicago Drama league; Mrs. B. L. Roetter, Mrs. John R. Lend, and Mrs. F. P. O'Hara of the Renaissance will do a table in the fashion of the 1920s.

A 1930s table will be decorated by Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, Mrs. Howard C. Phillips, and Mrs. Alden B. Swift of the Contemporary club; Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, Mrs. James B. Mullen and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr. of the Arts club, and Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence, Mrs. John L. Cochran, and Mrs. John H. Hamline Jr. of the Friday club.

History of Music Series Opens Tonight.

There is no opera performance tonight, so music lovers will be at the Auditorium theater where the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra will play in the first concert of the History and Enjoyment of Music series. The University College of Northwestern university sponsors the series.

Mrs. De Forest Hulburd will return the end of the week from New Haven, where she went because of the illness of her son, Charles Hulburd II., who is a student at Yale. Mr. and Mrs. Hulburd, their daughter, Miss Marie Louise, and Mrs. Hulburd's sister, Mrs. Taylor Strawn, are going east on Nov. 13 to attend the Yale-Princeton game in New Haven and to spend Thanksgiving with Charles in New York.

The Hulburds and Mrs. Strawn will return home on Dec. 1 for a party to be given the next night at the Racquet club for debutante Marie Louise. Her cousins, the Hugh McBirney Johnstons, will give a dinner, and other cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Conway Olmsted, Miss Ethel Johnston and Hulburd Johnston, will give a dance following the dinner.

Miss Hulburd is chairman of the girls who will assist at the Grant hospital benefit next Tuesday night, a performance of "No Time for Comedy" at the Harris theater.

Mrs. Frank S. Porter, president of the woman's auxiliary of the hospital, is entertaining at tea at her home this afternoon for those working for the success of the benefit.

"White Elephant" Movie Party Today.

Mrs. Oscar Johnson, who has been visiting Mrs. Eugene Talbot Jr. and Mrs. Harris Whiting, is staying over especially for a movie party the Children's Memorial hospital board is giving at the Esquire theater this afternoon for the benefit of the White Elephant Rummage shop. Mrs. Johnson is a former member of the board. She is en route from California to her home in Palm Beach.

Admission to the party will be a "white elephant" to be resold at the rummage shop in East Ohio street. Mrs. Frank Hibbard has donated the theater and is in charge of the party.

The alumnæ and friends of Trinity college in Washington, D. C. are meeting for luncheon today at the Drake hotel. Mrs. Augustine J. Bowe is president of the group; Mrs. Robert Wood, vice president; Miss Mary Anne Spencer, secretary, and Miss Rosemary Brennan, treasurer. After the luncheon Mrs. Francis J. Rooney will speak on "The Modern Child."

Season's Styles Reach Ideal in Opera Setting

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

The audience on the first Monday night of the opera season wasn't as spectacular as the opening but in a way it was more interesting. There was a dignity about it that was lacking in Saturday night's excitement. There was room for promenading, consequently more chance to see and to admire the gowns. Many of today's fashions require room, too, for some skirts are yards around and billow like sails before a wind as their wearers sweep along.

The Monday night audience is a conservative one, almost a family one. Dozens and dozens of people have the same seats this season that they have had for years and those sitting near the orchestra pit held a sort of reception last night before the first curtain rose.

People who like seats well down in front always are particular about getting their same seats each year; for instance, Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, Mrs. Norval Pierce, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor, Mrs. Frank Fuller, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. Otho F. Ball, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay and her daughter, Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, the Charles H. Swifts, the Thomas W. Hindes and Miss Sarah Hinde; Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Phillips, Mrs. Louis Eckstein, and Mrs. Wentworth Field.

Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, and Mrs. Graham Aldis stood together during the first intermission, looking exactly like ladies in Victorian days. Mrs. Paepcke, in fact, had on the sort of costume that is always fashionable, a sheath skirt and bolero jacket of oyster white heavy crêpe. Edging the long sleeves, the bolero, and the extremely tight skirt were red, yellow, blue, and green jewels the size of dimes.

Mrs. Aldis wore a horizontally striped gown of soft blue and rose taffeta, the stripes about one inch in width. It was very décolleté, with short puffed sleeves. Her heavy necklace was a riot of color, pearls and colored beads.

Mrs. Goodspeed wore the stunning model of black velvet combined with snuff color taffeta that has been seen in every fashion show, in exclusive shop windows, and in fashion magazines since the Paris openings. Some one called it fittingly "A Portrait of a Lady at the Opera." It has a heavy full skirt, a tight, high necked bodice with sleeves that end halfway between the elbow and the hand.

Mrs. Edward B. Smith, the former Louise Dewey, was charming in the same frock she wore in the St. Luke's fashion show, a black one with a bouffant skirt of net and lace and a long sleeved bodice of velvet. A black velvet bow snuggled in her blonde curls.

Miss Mary Ryerson, who was escorted by Peter Dewey, was lovely in an unusual gown that consisted of a black sheath skirt and a waist of gray sweaterlike material.

Good Performance Starts Opera on Its Subscription Season

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A well cast, smartly paced and brightly staged performance of Giordano's "Andrea Chénier" opened the Chicago City Opera company's seven week subscription season at the Civic Opera house last night.

Armand Tokatyan, playing the part of the poet who helps to precipitate the French revolution only to be caught later in its toils, represented a triumph of the Chicago Opera company over one of the difficulties occasioned by the war. Mr. Tokatyan agreed to take the rôle after Gallinó Masini found that he could not leave Italy, and he sang it last night with a fervor which infected his audience thoroly.

Rose Bampton, as Madeleine, the comely aristocrat who deemed death with her lover preferable to the strange new life into which the revolution had flung her, achieved last evening a highly emotional style of singing which we had never heard from her before. Her success in identifying herself with the distraught maiden whom she was impersonating resulted in a tone quality so strange, so lovely, so packed with contagious feeling that Charlie McCarthy himself could not have heard her and remained unmoved.

Carlo Morrelli, who has become a major artist during these last few years, brought to his enactment of Gerard, the house servant who becomes a revolutionary judge, his familiar nobility of bearing and opulence of voice. He quite succeeds in making this strange character credible — this character who is neither a hero nor villain, exclusively, but who commands some sort of sympathy even in his lowest moments.

The smartness of the opera's pace was due partly, of course, to the emotional momentum which resulted from the wholeheartedness of the principals, but it could not have been maintained without skill and understanding on the conductor's part. This conductor was Angelo Canarutto, who also was filling a place which the war has left vacant—that of the Italian conductor, Roberto Moranzoni.

The song of praise into which this review has turned must reserve a stanza for "Andrea's" settings, costumes, stage action, etc. No company can mount its offerings more sumptuously than the Chicago [for its warehouse is bursting with good things bought when money flowed like water] and the audience was dazzled by the brilliance of the ballroom scene and the realism and wonderful perspective of the Paris square in the next act. Desire Defrere's stage direction served to move well turned out persons thru highly plausible settings with an aliveness that played a big part in the excellence of the performance.

"WHEN GERMANY SURRENDERED."
An A. L. Rule production.
Released through Johnny Mednikow Productions.
Presented at the Garrick theater.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"When Germany Surrendered" is my idea of the war picture that should end war pictures. For this intelligently culled collection of news pictures filmed during the world war and showing events of the terrible period of 1914-'18 as they really were and not as Hollywood imagines them, brings back searing memories that are a more powerful indictment against and should prove a more potent preventive of war than could any fictional presentation.

The picture carries you from start to finish of the war—and is unsparing of your feelings. . . . If our young men, and England's young men, and Germany's young men must fight for their flag on No Man's Land and lose their arms and legs and eyes while doing it; if their bodies are to be riddled by shrapnel and their hearts pierced by bayonets in hand to hand conflict in the trenches; if they are to starve and be eaten by vermin; if they are to go mad from shell shock —who are we to be spared the sight of their sufferings?

LOOK—if you can see thru your tears. Look and realize that "over there, over there," the same ghastly business is going on again. Look and think—that while we're watching OUR boys playing football, English boys and French boys, German and Polish lads are saying—and have said —good-by to fun and laughter forever. . . .

As our boys COULD be doing if——?

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Taboo

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 30.—Washington, D. C.'s, uproars over "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," includes the Washington correspondents' yells because Thomas Mitchell is pictured as a drunken reporter. As a matter of fact, the movies generally treat the subject of newspaper men more delicately. In "Nothing Sacred," Fredric March was made a likeable character to balance the acrimonious managing editor. In "The Last Gangster" Jimmy Stewart was made out to be a sympathetic cub who eventually marries the gangster's wife to give her and Edward G. Robinson's son a home. However, there are exceptions to the rule: The drunken Washington correspondent, played by Mitchell, is the exception, hence the squawks.

For instance, to illustrate the exceptions, the movies have a strong taboo against the theme of suicide. Yet in "A Star Is Born," Fredric March was shown, at the end of the flicker, committing suicide by walking out into the ocean to drown himself. . . . In "Petrified Forest" was exception No. 2, in which Leslie Howard makes a bargain with Humphrey Bogart, the gangster, to kill him before he leaves the gas station. . . . Exception No. 3 was "Romeo and Juliet," with the heroine killing herself. . . . Lots of exceptions can be noted. There is a standing warning against the use of white performers on the same stage with Negro performers, yet Shirley Temple has danced often with Bill Robinson, and Eddie Cantor did a dance with the Peters Sisters in his last picture. . . . The movies taboo perjury, but in "True Confessions," Carole Lombard, a pathological liar, committed perjury.

However, there are definite taboos with no exceptions permitted. . . . Screen killings may never be accomplished for revenge; scripts must be changed to show the killing was in self-defense. A criminal never may be shown committing suicide to avoid the payment of his crime to society. . . . England never permits the Lord's prayer, holy communion, or the sign of the cross on a screen. . . . Mae West's proposed burlesque of the death of John the Baptist was scissored quickly . . . In "The Plainsman," the line of dialog which went like this: "The criminal died just like the good Lord, with a thief on each side of him," was yanked.

In "Babes in Arms," MGM had to get specific permission from the White House for Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland to do their mimicry of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Muni Returns to Stage in New Anderson Play

BY CECIL SMITH.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 30 [Special].—Before a capacity audience of Indianapolis first nighters and visiting celebrities of the theater, Maxwell Anderson's new tragic drama, "Key Largo," received its first performance anywhere in the English theater tonight. At the head of the excellent cast assembled by the Playwrights' company was Paul Muni, who returned to the legitimate stage after an absence of seven years in Hollywood.

The Playwrights' company, which has established itself as one of America's ace producing organizations in the short space of a single year, was well represented in the audience. Along with Mr. Anderson, two of his three fellow playwrights of the company, Elmer Rice of "Street Scene" fame and S. N. Behrman, whose "No Time for Comedy" will open in Chicago next Monday, came out from New York for the première. Guthrie McClintic, the director of "Key Largo," who is in private life the husband of Katharine Cornell, was also on hand to supervise his production.

Mr. Muni's exclusive devotion to motion pictures in the last seven years has not robbed him of the least part of his extraordinary magnetism and power upon the speaking stage. His part in "Key Largo" is unusually static in character—a psychological study of a coward whose weakness leads him to retreat from active life. As an American volunteer in Spain, in the prologue to the play, King McCloud [Mr. Muni] loses heart for the loyalist cause, deserts a small group of brave associates and joins the insurgents to save his skin.

The main action of the play takes place in Key Largo, Fla., where King returns to the home of a buddy killed in Spain after King's own desertion. Here he finds the young sister of his fellow soldier [played by Uta Hagen, who appeared in Chicago last year in "The Sea Gull"] and her blind father [played by Harold Johnsrud]. A series of melodramatic circumstances follow, involving a group of gangster gamblers and a murder.

The play is a curious mixture in its writing. Mr. Anderson's uniquely precise and formal style creates a considerable aura of poetry around Mr. Muni's and Miss Hagen's characters. Other passages are treated with a startlingly realistic style, not without its hearty references to subjects usually reserved for smoking room conversation.

Yet despite its apparent contradictions, "Key Largo" is hot blooded and viable theater, a remarkable achievement in a play with so little actual physical movement. Excellent settings by Jo Mielziner and the shrewdly keyed direction of Mr. McClintic make important contributions to its mood and sense of direction.

After a brief road tour, "Key Largo" will be taken to New York for a run before it ultimately reaches Chicago.

They Hunted a Fox

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright, 1939, by Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Alison Young and her fiancé, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, are guests at Chenerys, the English country estate of Tom Boldre, to attend a fox hunt and ball. Wynn Marchmont, sister of Tom's wife, Pat, is engaged to Tom's brother, Derek. Alison overhears a love scene between Pat and Arthur Kingsclere. Chenerys is mortgaged to the hilt. Gregg, Tom's agent, urges him to accept an offer made for the estate, but Tom refuses to sell. At the hunt, from a far off hill, Alison and Colin see Tom thrown and a man bending over him. Reaching the accident they find Derek stooping over Tom's prostrate form. A farmer, Glover, happens along and helps them. Tom, revived, is surprised that Derek, rather than his neighbor, Maj. Fitts, found him. Three weeks later Tom is again thrown and dies soon after. Alison visits Wynn at Chenerys. Riding near the scene of Tom's first accident they find the dead body of Glover. Official verdict is that Glover was killed by a shot from a passing car. Kingsclere, Derek and Maj. Fitts all drove that way. Inspector Headcorn from Scotland Yard finds the murder weapon. It belongs to Maj. Fitts, but was stolen the afternoon of the day Glover was shot—after Kingsclere and Derek had called. Dr. Blount, who'd attended Tom, admits he gave Tom an anti-tetanus injection—which caused his death, as he had not been desensitized after a previous injection. The first injection must have been given Tom after his first fall when he was unconscious—whoever gave it must have murdered Glover because he was a witness. Derek admits having anti-tetanus serum which was taken from his room. Derek goes out for a walk in the night—that same night Mrs. Glover is beaten up by some one evidently seeking to destroy evidence. The inspector finds Wynn battling with Mrs. Glover over a syringe which Glover had apparently found. Derek is arrested. Wynn and Alison figure some one else may have reached Tom after his first accident before Derek. Wynn finds out Maj. Fitts rode behind Tom. A fire breaks out in Wynn's room at Chenerys in the night. She believes some one is trying to murder her and Alison.

INSTALMENT XLIV.

HER LETTER READ.

The print eddied before Alison's eyes. In the office doorway she saw Wynn watching her like a hawk. Out of a parched throat she whispered to Headcorn.

"It seems quite correct."

From now on it was as though her brain ceased to function. Afterward, when the numbness had gone, she grew dimly aware of—was it a queer, obscure flaw? Nothing in it, of course. And yet . . .

"Suppose Derek isn't lying! Suppose I'm the one who's wrong?"

Preposterous! She had seen, O, plainly! There was no doubt, none whatever, about that pink coated figure stalking stiffly up to the darker horse, getting ready to mount, pausing to glance round . . .

She gave a violent start. It was today that Derek would appear before the magistrate's court. Only for a formal reading of evidence, but what evidence! She thought in horror of her own words as they would sound to all listeners.

Down she stole to the telephone. She knew where the inspector was stopping, not in Bewkesbury as before, but at an inn some ten miles to the east. It was only seven. She would be sure to catch him.

She pushed open the office door and drew back. Wynn was there, just clamping down the telephone—Wynn, with her gay, parrot dressing gown dangling from her shoulders. The dead eyes met hers.

"Gone," announced Wynn. "Back to London. That shows, you see what he thinks of our fire."

With choking gasps she began to laugh.

Bright sun in the lounge.

'Dear Inspector," Alison wrote:

"About that statement I signed. I'm not quite satisfied, though I hardly know how to explain. I think I've got it pinned down to the word 'astonished,' though even there I may be wrong. Certainly when I got near enough to see who the kneeling man was I got a definite shock of surprise, but why? There's my whole difficulty.

"Was it due to the fact that five minutes before I'd seen him about to ride off? Or because subconsciously I'd been expecting not Derek but some one different? I wish I could be sure, but it's hopeless. The more I think the harder knots my brain ties itself into. And no one can help me. Colin, you remember, didn't stop to see that final bit. Call me an idiot if you like. It all sounds awfully silly, and yet it keeps bothering me. I can't help feeling the truth about my reaction may be frightfully important.

Blast! Pen gone dry and no ink in the silver inkwell. There was a bottle in the office. She pressed the nib into it and turned to reënter the lounge.

Some one had come in. To her sun dazzled eyes the form at the table was only a blur. Its stooped back straightened, faced round.

"O," said she flatly, "it's you."

Gregg. Smiling, as usual, and wearing the air of elaborate self-effacement, she had grown vaguely to dislike, but his skin! Bleached, like old putty. The notion she had dismissed as ridiculous took palpable form. He had been reading her letter!

"Wynn anywhere about?"

It sounded a trumped-up excuse.

"At the stables, I think."

"O! I'll have a look for her there."

He had been gripping his pipe rather rigidly. Now he dropped it into his side pocket and strolled out. The casualness seemed a bit overdone.

Swiftly she examined her unfinished page. Its position was slightly altered. In a searing flash she thought, "He wasn't hunting that day."

Never before had she laid stress on this fact, though, to be sure, she had taken her cue from those about her. Some one near—some one trusted—some one in the know. . . .

At all that long distance she could not have distinguished one pink coat from another. Could Gregg have changed his clothing and cut across to that field?

"No! Because he didn't ride away. There were only those two horses—unless there was a third in among the trees. That's thin, too. How could a man on horseback cross open fields and a lane and not be seen? All these gardeners and farm boys. And the man himself in a scarlet coat!"

Still, the possibility of a third horse enchained her. And then Gregg's height. The same as Derek's. She had noticed it when she had seen the two men standing side by side. She bit her lip. This last item, curiously enough, failed to assist. What was the matter with it?

She completed her letter, marking the interruption with a cross and inserting an explanatory note. Still in a deep fog she posted the communication in the red box by the gates, came back into the lounge and hunted on the table for Tom's album of snapshots.

It was spread open before her when Wynn entered from outside. Carelessly she asked, "Look, Wynn, is this the hunter Derek usually rides?"

Wynn glanced down at the snapshot. It showed Derek standing beside a dark gelding.

"Always, that is lately. Tom kept it for him." She shut her eyes as though the sight hurt and moved to the fireplace.

"I thought so. By the way, how tall is Derek?"

Wynn's eyes stared vacantly at some vision in space. A sleepwalker's eyes—blank in a small, pinched face.

"What was that you asked me?"

Alison noticed that the hand which thrust back the matted curls was grubby, and that the drab breeches were soiled at the knees. She repeated her question.

"How tall? Five ten and a half," a flat statement.

"I'd never looked at these snaps. Are there any others?"

"Not that I've seen." With another wrench Wynn muttered, "I must wash." But still she made no move.

"Gregg was hunting for you. Did you see him?"

A deadened pause. "Gregg? O, yes, it's not easy to miss seeing him these last days. And the major." Wynn added indifferently.

Now their world had so signally narrowed it should have been a comfort to have two such faithful supporters always within reach. Why was it only irksome? Alison believed it was the feeling she had of being watched. As though each of the two men was keeping a weather eye out for some calamity which, if sensed in time, might be averted.

She turned a page. Arthur Kingsclere, in a group. Much taller. O, quite a six foot two! She closed the album and got up.

"How on earth," she asked, "did you manage to collect all that grime? Oil, too."

Mother's Duty to Guide a Daughter to Rightful Beauty

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It is a wise mother who realizes that suddenly her 12 or 13 year old daughter is no longer a child, and is ready and willing to guide her wavering footsteps along the road to maturity. There is no use trying to keep her a child, for nature will not permit it.

Because a girl's appearance has so much to do with her poise and personality, the importance of a strictly adhered to daily grooming program cannot be too greatly stressed.

A girl who reaches maturity with a blotched skin, "mousy" looking hair, and other physical features which might have been corrected during her adolescent years, will carry with her all thru her life a feeling of inferiority, and will not find the happiness she could have found had she been guided properly during her teen age years.

Some girls are blessed with more beauty than others, but even the homeliest girl can be made attractive looking by adhering to a helpful beauty routine. The first, and most essential thing, every girl should be taught to do is to cleanse her face thoroly at least twice a day with warm water and soap [using a complexion brush] and, if necessary, a cleansing cream to rid her pores of dirt and grime, which cause blackheads and other skin disorders. She should be urged to brush her hair with a stiff-bristled brush for one hundred vigorous strokes—up and out—before retiring, for brushing the hair is cleansing and stimulating.

If a weekly trip to the beauty parlor is not convenient, home beauty care should be encouraged by giving daughter her own beauty "tools."

When daughter is sixteen, if a LITTLE powder, rouge and lipstick enhance her natural beauty, she should be allowed the use of these makeup aids, and taught how to use them by her mother or some one else capable of such instruction.

GASOLINE ALLEY—SMELLING ANOTHER RAT

Child Merits as Much Study as a Business

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

They're building an outside fireplace this fall. The man of the family has been studying plans and designs for some time to make the thing practical for both simple and elaborate outdoor meals, and to make it good looking and in key with their house and the rest of their grounds. Yet it never occurs to him to study his 14 year old son to find out why he is such a problem at home and in school, and how to help him build into manhood. All he does is become curt or disgusted with the lad.

They're building a greenhouse. They are going to raise cut flowers for the market. The man of the family is doing all the work himself. Altho he has built before, this piece of work requires special study.

His wife's gardens have been a delight for every one for years. She has a natural talent for growing things, and in addition she has studied and worked hard over the raising of flowers outdoors.

Now she has to work out the problem of growing flowers in a greenhouse. She must study proper heating, degrees of moisture, balance of soil, packing of cut flowers, etc. She is prepared to give unlimited thought and energy to this venture, the growing and marketing of flowers. And surely no one could find a single fault with such a course. It is the only intelligent way to proceed.

Yet their high school daughter is wild—flying around, never home, and resentful of any curb upon her hours of coming and going. All they do is scold and lecture her. It doesn't occur to them that they should spend hours of thought upon this girl of theirs, so that she can be a success in the best sense of the word.

How often do people who act in just this way about business, or approve of it, ridicule the careful study and thought that are being given today to the rearing of children! How absurd they consider the balancing of their children's diets and other health measures! How common it is to hear people of another generation belittle the striving to understand children mentally and emotionally! And how often parents themselves have misgivings as to whether, after all, they're not making too much of a fuss over this simple matter of bringing up children,

Two interesting things are being said and agreed upon by doctors and psychiatrists. Doctors say that almost all the serious disorders of mature life are traceable to conditions more or less controlable in childhood. And psychiatrists say that neurotic or other abnormal mental or emotional states in adults would not exist had the child been understood and intelligently treated by his parents.

'No' Alienates Offending Beau; Laugh's Better

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

There comes a time in the affairs of girl and woman when the saying of a meaningful NO confronts her.

But how to say NO without severing future relations completely? The occasion at the moment may seem to justify dismissal for life but, human nature being what it is and future contact not always unavoidable, there are better ways of meeting the situation calling for the NO answer.

It's just as well to leave the offender with a bit of face. We aren't considering his feelings as much as we measure the real lesson that may be included in a polite squelching.

A young Follies beauty, Margie Hart, discussing this theme of warding off unwelcome advances, says it is an experience that any attractive girl or woman is forced to meet now and again.

"Men respect and accept on her own terms the girl who can say NO and yet permit them to save their face," she continues. "An enemy is made when you deeply humiliate a man. Whether you feel he should be humiliated or not isn't often the question. A career may hang on your handling of the situation, a job even, and, of course, your social success is better assured if you have the technique to handle men gracefully under all circumstances."

The laugh treatment, Margie thinks, is the most satisfactory way of dealing with the approaches under discussion. Most men buckle under when you hint with your laugh that he cannot be serious, that he couldn't be that kind.

If the laugh doesn't serve, there's always the technique of flattery to get the message across that you're not hearing rightly, that he couldn't possibly have said such a thing, not he—not this man who seemed so different from others. Few pursuers can resist that appeal to the better man inside.

Or, just plain "kidding" right back at the gentleman, giving him tit for tat, is better, Miss Margie thinks, than mounting the high horse and preaching from there.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Not very many women make their own mincemeat any more. The spicy smells of cooking mincemeat have disappeared from our kitchens, but not the smells of baking mince pies, thank goodness!

Most housewives have discovered that commercially prepared mincemeats can be just as good as the old fashioned kind they used to work so hard to can. And they've decided that canned or packaged mincemeat will do quite as well for pies.

Packaged mincemeats are dry and need the addition of hot water to make them moist for pies. They usually are less expensive than canned mincemeats, therefore are extremely popular. Canned mincemeats are ready for pie shells just as they come from the cans or glass jars. Some of them contain brandy, or brandy and rum, for those who like brandy and rum flavored pies.

Mince pie is good warm or cold. Many persons like it warm, and mince pie is as good warmed the day after baking as it is fresh from the oven. It may be served with or without a sauce. Hard sauce, flavored with vanilla or brandy, is good. Foamy sauce and thin brandy sauce have their champions, too.

A recipe for mince pie seems superfluous, since all one needs to do is fill a pastry lined pan with the kind of mincemeat she likes and then apply lattice strips or a top crust. The baking, as for most pies, begins at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, after which the temperature is reduced to 375 degrees for about 20 minutes longer.

FOR LATTICE STRIP PIE.

Roll out pastry for upper crust as usual and cut with a sharp knife or a pastry jagger [for scalloped edges] into strips a half inch wide. Place strips across the filled pie at inch intervals, parallel to each other. Place at angles to these more strips, crossing the first set. Place a long strip of pastry around the outside of the pie, covering the criss-cross ones, and press this sealing strip down with the tines of a fork, making a neat pattern. Then bake the pie as usual.

Hard Sauce.

¼ cup butter
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
Flavoring
Few tablespoons cream [optional]

Cream butter and work in confectioners' sugar gradually. Add salt and beat until blended and smooth. Flavor with one teaspoon vanilla or one tablespoon brandy. Orange juice with a little grated orange rind or a little lemon juice and lemon rind make good flavorings for hard sauce also. A little cream may be beaten into the mixture if desired. It should be thick and smooth. Chill before using.

Brandy and Rum Sauce.

1¼ cups cold water
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
Grated rind of ½ lemon
3 tablespoons rum
1 tablespoon brandy
½ tablespoon butter
1 inch stick cinnamon

Mix cornstarch with a little of the cold water. Add remaining water and sugar and bring to a boil. Cook and stir until smooth and thickened. Add remaining ingredients. Cook and stir for two minutes longer. Strain out cinnamon.

Thin, Soft Wool Styles Swanky Dinner Suits

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Thin, soft wool, easy to drape and smart to wear is the fabric of the hour! Stunning new dinner suits come in dull black wool, the skirts fitted smoothly over the hiplines and flared around the anklelines. With the skirts go the clever new fitted collarless jackets, collarless better to accentuate the blazing gold braid trim across the shoulders and down the center of the long sleeves.

This sleeve decoration is noteworthy because it is simple yet effective against the black. Dashing gold metal buttons keep the jacket fastened with a trim streamline that ends just a few inches below the normal waistline.

If you need the lift of color, the same jacket comes in a luscious shade of ruby red wool, also with the gold trim. The same model wool skirt comes in both evening length and a clever short model for street or day wear.

Since wool is so high fashion, these sets of separable skirt and jacket make the swankiest of dinner and theater costumes to wear with distinctive muffs and hats, gloves and dancing sandals. Extremely modest price tags will please the exacting shopper as will the smooth details and fit of the outfit.

New also are the gathered velveteen skirts in a beautiful color called topaz. The other colors in the same model are a good choice. The skirts are topped with a rib hugging blouse that will make you look as if you had stepped out of a picture. A double row of round ball gold buttons streaks from center front to the high round neckline. The sleeves are longish and the two pieces are something to cause a rush on the present supplies.

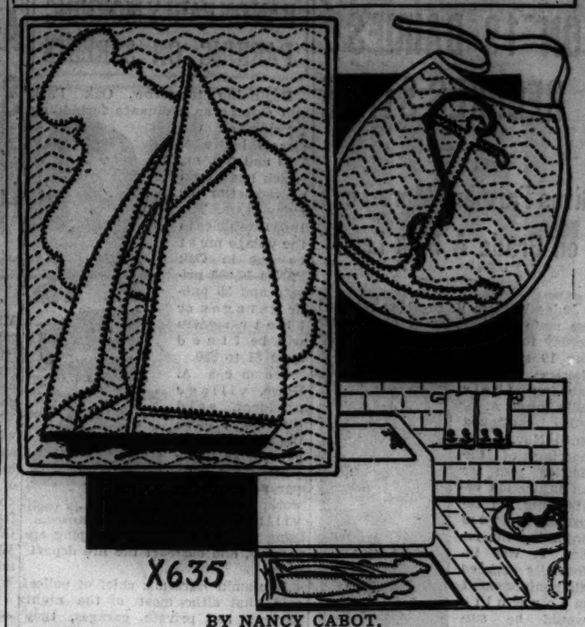
Practical Gift for Homemaker



BY NANCY CABOT.

Bathroom sets are an ideal gift suggestion for the approaching holidays. The rug uses a twenty inch sailboat as its central motif, a nine inch anchor is used for the seat cover, and four four-inch anchors are available for the towels. The hot iron transfer pattern contains complete instructions for making the set, and contains illustrations of the stitches, together with the amount of material required.

For the hot iron transfer of the bathroom set, No. X-635, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

The late Norman Bonney of Boston [whose recent death shocked and saddened thousands of bridge players] was known for his adept handling of the cards, particularly as declarer. Very much of an individualist, Mr. Bonney's bidding was not always easy for partners to follow, but he left nothing to be desired in the play. The following hand, which he played several years ago, is a good illustration of his skill:

South, dealer.

NORTH
♠ 8 7 5 3
♥ 10 6 4 3
♦ 4 3
♣ 7 4 2

WEST

♥ K Q
♦ A 6 5 2
♣ J 9 8 3

SOUTH
♥ A J 2

♣ A K Q 10 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 clubs	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
5 clubs	Pass	Pass	Pass

Mr. Bonney was South, the declarer. On the face of things three no trump [bid at one point by North] would have been a better contract, but, strangely enough, could not have been made against the best defense, whereas the less sound contract of five clubs not only could be but was made.

West led the diamond jack. East won and continued the suit. On winning with the diamond king declarer laid down the ace and king of clubs, receiving the sad news that East still had the guarded jack. Undaunted by this break, Mr. Bonney cashed his three spade tricks, then laid down the ace and deuce of hearts. The fortunate lay of hearts was compensation for the bad trump break and resulted in this four card position:

NORTH
♥ 10 6

♣ 7

WEST

♣ None

EAST
♠ None

♦ 6 5

SOUTH

♣ Q 10 6

On lead with the heart king, East correctly returned a diamond. Mr. Bonney ruffed this with the club six and then overruffed in dummy with the club seven! Now the spade eight was led and East was trapped. If he discarded his diamond, declarer would discard the heart jack and, the play remaining in dummy, would easily be able to make the queen and ten of clubs. Actually, East chose to ruff the good spade, whereupon Mr. Bonney overruffed with the ten spot, drew East's last trump, and cashed the heart jack for the fulfilling trick.

It should be observed that South's ruff with the club six and overruff with the club seven were absolutely vital to his success. If he had thrown off his heart jack and ruffed in dummy, the next lead would have forced him to ruff in his own hand and then concede a trick to East's club jack.

Dr. DeLee Celebrates Birthday at Party for Maternity Center

Dr. Joseph B. DeLee, famous obstetrician, cut a mountainous birthday cake into 200 pieces yesterday afternoon and distributed them to his friends who called to felicitate him on his 70th birthday Saturday. The party, planned to benefit the Chicago Maternity center on Maxwell street, which he founded for poor mothers, was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph W. Sharp, 6728 Paxton avenue.

Dr. DeLee, a bachelor, has devoted his life to battling the dangers of childbirth. Yesterday he received a pair of cuff links forged from a pair of baby forceps which he used in his early days of practice. They were the gift of the center staff, and were presented by Dr. Beatric Tucker, who directs the institution.

Front Views and Profiles

Yo-ho-to-ho.

Last Saturday afternoon a woman bustled into the record department of a loop piano house and asked for a record with which to "scare the children at a Halloween party." Guided by who knows what mysterious instinct, the saleswoman produced Mme. Flagstad's recording of Brünnhilde's Battle Cry—you know, the Yo-ho-to-ho one. It proved just the thing. "Fine!" the woman kept crying as the clerk played it for her, "Fine!" And in a moment, according to Edson Page who relays the story, she was on the wing, presumably in quest of marshmallows to toast or graves to rob.

Theme Song.

Famous Shopper.

The other day a girl named Rose L. Dickinson, waiting for a friend in the millinery department of a loop store, watched a middle-aged woman buy a hat. The woman sat in front of a bewildering pile, from which she was trying to make a choice. One after another she tried them on, then tossed each aside after first adjusting it, as if trying to pinch and poke it into becomingness. Finally she tried on a severe boat-shaped model and Miss Dickinson shuddered. She hoped she wouldn't buy that one—it looked so much like the ones Secretary of Labor Perkins always wears, she thought. Miss Dickinson looked more closely. The shopper was Mme. Perkins! She didn't buy the boat-shaped model, tho. Bought one with flowers.

Opera in Sets.

Robert Lawrence, author of a new series of books on the opera, who was in town over the week-end, told of the little lad who had read the four slender books in the first set, containing the stories and musical motives of Aïda, Lohengrin, Hänsel and Gretel, and Carmen, then was taken to see the Humperdinck opera. During intermission he went to the box office for information.

"Are they going to have time for Aïda, and Lohengrin, and Carmen this afternoon, too?" he asked anxiously.

COURT LIFTS BAN ON 19 DAIRIES; REBUKES STATE

Gives Farmers More Time on Grade A Milk Law.

Judge William V. Brothers rebuked the state department of health yesterday for ordering 19 suburban dairies to stop labeling their milk grade A.

Judge W. V. Brothers.

He continued until Nov. 9 the hearing of the dairies' plea for an injunction restraining the department from enforcing the order. It was informally agreed that enforcement meanwhile would be suspended. Many of the dairies, it was indicated, will have reëstablished their right to the use of the label by the next hearing.

Given Week to Drop Labels.

William H. Sloan, attorney for the dairies, told the judge the dairies were ordered on Oct. 18 to cease using the label within one week because farmers supplying them with milk had not met the 109 requirements laid down by the state department for grade A milk. The requirements grew out of new legislation that became effective July 19.

Judge Brothers termed the department's order "not worth the paper it was printed on." Evidence indicated, he said, that the state had not given farmers sufficient information or time enough to meet the new requirements.

"If the milk were good enough to be handled and fed to babies for one week under this notice," the judge said, "it couldn't be so bad. How is a farmer going to meet the objections if he is not told what they are and he is given only one week to meet them?

Objections Called Flimsy.

"Be fair to these people. They have an investment. You let the inspectors tell them what their defects are."

Sloan said after the hearing that many of the objections on which farms supplying his clients with milk were taken off the grade A list had been of minor importance. Under normal inspection procedure, he said, there might be costly delays before another inspection could return the farm to the accredited list.

State inspectors disclosed a short time ago that the new grade A regulations have greatly increased the work of inspection. Yet the inspection staff has not been enlarged.

Law Author Regrets Haste.

State Senator N. L. Hubbard of Mount Pulaski, who introduced the law, last night said it was designed to make sure that milk labeled grade A is produced under the same high sanitary regulations thruout the state. The bill was sponsored by the state department of health and the Illinois Agricultural association.

"I think they should give the dairies more time to comply," he added, "altho I don't know much about the present situation and would have to talk with Dr. Baxter [A. C. Baxter, head of the state health department] before passing judgment. I think it's a good bill, and if the boys are a little hasty in enforcing it that's regrettable."

The senator said minimum requirements of the law were modeled after those laid down by the United States public health service. Chicago and other municipalities throughout the state also used the federal code for a model, he said.

OAK PARK TO ENFORCE BAN ON EARLY MORNING PARKING ON STREETS

James A. Howe [top] and Benj. Barsema.

Beginning tomorrow, Oak Park will enforce an ordinance forbidding parking on the streets between 2:30 and 6 a. m., which has been a dead letter for many years. The 19,000 vehicles in the village must be put in Oak Park's 12,000 private and 35 public garages or their owners will be fined from $1 to $50.

James A. Howe, village president, said that night parking has been so general as to impede traffic, hamper police patrol work, prevent the village from using mechanical street sweeping apparatus, and obstruct the fire department.

Benjamin Barsema, chief of police, said that althc most of the night parkers had private garages, they were reluctant to use them because of fear of alley holdups. Barsema said this fear was unfounded, since there have been but six alley robberies in four years, against many times that many in front of houses.

STOP ALL AUTOS IN DRIVER LICENSE CAMPAIGN; NAB 44

The state-wide campaign to enforce the Illinois driver's license law was continued yesterday by state highway police who arrested several hundred motorists.

Forty more motorists were arrested at 138th and Halsted streets, in Riverdale, by Blue Island station police. Eight highway policemen stopped and questioned every motorist who passed the intersection.

Four other motorists were arrested by Lieut. Philip Guinto's squad of the Irving Park road and Harlem avenue station.

The drive against violators of the law, which went into effect last May 1, was ordered by Chief Walter Williams of the state police on Sunday, after he had learned that an average of 1,200 motorists a week who had applied for licenses and had been rejected were failing to appear for physical tests. Under the law, each Illinois resident who drives a car must have an individual license.

HERO OF 20 YEARS AGO AND FAMILY SPLIT TRUST FUND

Twenty years ago tomorrow John Miller, then a flagman for the Chicago and North Western railroad in Hubbard Woods, was seriously injured in a vain attempt to rescue two persons from the path of a speeding passenger train.

During the years since then Miller, whose leg was amputated as the result of his injuries, has been receiving about $600 yearly for the support of himself, his wife, and their three children. The money was interest from a fund of $14,968.69, raised thru the efforts of L. Sherman Aldrich of Winnetka; Thomas A. Wise, the actor, and THE TRIBUNE.

Principal Divided Four Ways.

Under terms of the trust agreement, the principal, held by the Union Trust company and later the First National Bank of Chicago, was to be divided between Miller, two sons, and a daughter when the daughter reached the age of 21 years.

The money now has been given to Miller, officers of the Chicago bank have announced, and to his children, John Jr., now 27; James, 24, and Josephine. Each has received slightly more than $3,800 of the total principal of a little more than $15,240. Bank officials estimate that Miller received about $12,000 in interest. He is living in Los Angeles, Cal., and is 69 years old.

The two persons killed in the accident were Mr. and Mrs. William Fitch Tanner of Hubbard Woods. They had started across the track at the Gage street crossing, despite an approaching train. Mrs. Tanner's shoe caught in the track. Her husband and Miller worked frantically to free her, and refused to leave her side when rescue proved impossible.

Pay Mortgage on Home.

Funds were immediately collected, both for Miller and for the three Tanner children. In addition to the Miller fund already mentioned, the Evanston News-Index raised $1,200.

Bank officials yesterday said that so far as they know Miller is unemployed now. Slightly more than $700 of the final sum paid him was assigned at his request to the department of charities of Los Angeles county, from which, apparently, he had been getting aid. No charge was ever made for the trust administration.

HIT-RUN DRIVER ADMITS CRASH FATAL TO ONE

Sergt. John Garrity of the Morton Grove county highway police announced yesterday that John McNamara, 28 years old, of 5456 North Nagle avenue, had confessed that he was a hit and run driver. Sunday night his car killed Ernest Brushaber, 51, of 4407 Leland avenue, and seriously injured John Copello Jr., 10, of 4101 Lake street, at Harlem and Lawrence avenues. McNamara was found two blocks away. His car showed evidence of having been in an accident. Daniel Trier, 27, of 5839 Napoleon avenue, was with McNamara at the time, but fled afterward. He was charged with disorderly conduct. McNamara was charged with manslaughter.

An unidentified man about 60 years old was injured fatally last night when he was struck by the automobile of a hit and run driver in front of 310 West 26th street. The car continued west. The victim died in People's hospital.

Joseph Marozas, 62 years old, 3426 West 61st place, a railroad car inspector, died early today in Holy Cross hospital of injuries suffered early Sunday when he was struck by a hit-and-run automobile in 63d street at Spaulding avenue. Police found a door handle at the scene, and attempting to trace the car thru it.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 712 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 550 were killed in Chicago, where 18,392 were injured in the same period.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1939 Traffic Toll

AUTOIST RUINS 13 TREES; GETS 40 DAYS JAIL TERM

On Aug. 11, Charles Zubas, 30 years old, 7124 South Albany avenue, a plumber, was sentenced in the Safety court to ten days in jail for drunken driving. His automobile driver's license was revoked for one year.

At 8 a. m. Saturday his automobile was found 150 feet off the road in the Marquette park nursery at 71st street and Albany avenue. Thirteen elm trees were damaged beyond repair. Zubas was found at home and admitted parking the car there after an evening of drinking.

Yesterday Judge Joseph B. Hermes sentenced Zubas to ten days in the county jail for damaging city property. A further sentence of thirty days for contempt of court was imposed for driving the car despite the court's prohibition. He was also ordered not to drive again for one year.

James Halton, 34, 4821 West Cermak road, Cicero, and Clarence Gill, 32, colored, 5308 South La Salle street, were each sentenced to 10 days in jail, Halton for reckless driving, and Gill for leaving the scene of an accident.

INJURIES IN CAR COLLISION FATAL TO E. F. REYNOLDS

Edward F. Reynolds, office manager and member of the insurance firm of Critchell, Miller, Whitney, and Barbour, died yesterday in Muskegon, Mich., of injuries incurred Saturday in an automobile accident near there. Mrs. Reynolds was seriously injured. Their automobile collided with another while Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds were returning from their summer home.

Mr. Reynolds was 63 years old and lived at 3139 Maple avenue, Berwyn. He was a member of the board of the Baptist Old Peoples' Home, and the Chicago Baptist association, of which he was a former president. He also was a member of the Union League and Riverside Country clubs. In addition to Mrs. Reynolds, he is survived by a son, Edward M., and two daughters, Mrs. Maynard Nagel, and Mrs. John M. Smith.

ILLINOIS BARS PRINCIPALS IN BOXING SCANDAL

FRIEND BACKS THOMAS' STORY OF FIXED FIGHTS

Advised by Letter, Says Ex-Second.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

"Harry Thomas wrote me a letter before he fought Max Schmeling in New York in December, 1937. He wrote that he thought he could whip Schmeling, but that he had agreed to lose the fight.

"When I saw Harry in New York before the fight he talked about the bout being fixed.

"After Harry had been stopped by Schmeling in the eighth round I walked with him from Madison Square Garden to the Park Central hotel. I told him: 'Harry, it's too bad the fight had to end that way. If you had tried you might have knocked him out.' Thomas answered it couldn't be helped now."

Warns Friends of "Fix."

With these statements Jack Newlander, 1238 North Maplewood avenue, yesterday corroborated the story of his friend, Harry Thomas, former heavyweight boxer, that Thomas had participated in a fixed fight with Max Schmeling in New York Dec. 13, 1937. In his account of this match, printed exclusively in yesterday's CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Thomas said that he had written to several of his friends and relatives of the arrangement prior to the fight so that they would not wager and lose money on him. Newlander was one of several to receive this information. In addition he also discussed the fixed match with Thomas both before and after the bout was held.

Newlander said yesterday that he first met Thomas shortly after the heavyweight fighter came to Chicago. Newlander made Thomas' acquaintance when the boxer was receiving treatment for injury in the clinic of Dr. M. S. Corbett, 1380 West Lake street.

Newlander a Former Second.

Newlander has held a second's license in the state of Illinois, but the license issued March 23, 1938, expired last March and he did not renew it.

Newlander was working in New York at the time of the Tony Galento-Thomas fight in Philadelphia Nov. 14, 1938. He said yesterday that he had received a letter from Thomas before that fight asking about the number of tickets wanted.

"I wrote back to Thomas," Newlander said in yesterday's interview, "that since the result of the fight with Galento was fixed it was a waste of time to go see it."

OFFICIAL SCOFFS AT PROPOSAL TO SHIFT OLYMPICS

New York, Oct. 30 [Special].—Reports that the 1940 Olympic games might be shifted from Finland to Detroit were branded today as "utterly fantastic" by Gustavus Town Kirby, treasurer of the American Olympic committee, a sentiment that met with the vehement approval of all sports authorities fully cognizant of the situation.

It is regarded a complete impossibility for Detroit or any other city in the United States to take over the games on such short notice since Los Angeles, the Olympic site in 1932, is the only place with the facilities to handle so tremendous a project. And Los Angeles, highly successful seven years ago, hardly would be interested in a show doomed to failure.

FINNS CONTINUE WORK.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 30 (AP).—While silent, determined Finns went about the task of digging air raid trenches and making every possible defense preparation, workmen today continued on the athletic plant for the 1940 Olympic games.

It was officially announced today that no decision about holding the games would be made until next May. An unusual sight in Helsingfors streets was a military band heading a small parade of soldiers.

Halloween of Yesterday.

All the fun there used to be
When Halloween was coming
I remember funny faces
All the children used to buy
And how they'd ring the doorbell

And then, within the window,
Tho the youngsters thought it good.
And dressed in queerest costumes
So well do I remember,
It seems but yesterday.

I. A. C. TO OBSERVE 35TH YEAR WITH ATHLETIC SHOW

The Illinois Athletic club will celebrate its 35th anniversary Saturday evening with an athletic show featuring champions and stars in squash, handball, volleyball, and badminton.

Johnny Behr, athletic director of the club, has arranged an attractive program, which will include exhibitions by Joe Platak, five times national A. A. U. handball champion; the Division Street Y. M. C. A. volleyball team, city and state champion, and J. Dudley Pope and Joe Jannotta, ranking Chicago district squash players.

EXPOSÉ STIRS UP EXCITEMENT IN BOXING CIRCLES

Reaction Indicates It's Good for Sport.

Harry Thomas' disclosure in yesterday's CHICAGO TRIBUNE that his bouts with Tony Galento, Orange, N. J., heavyweight, and Max Schmeling, former champion, were fixed, caused great excitement along the Chicago boxing rialto yesterday.

Not since the White Sox scandal 20 years ago has a sports story created so much comment.

General reaction to the exposé was that it will be a good thing for boxing.

Courtney Urges Probe.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney urged the Illinois, Pennsylvania, and New York commissions to investigate charges that Thomas engaged in two fake matches. He said his office is ready to coöperate with the state commission in such an investigation.

"All sports should and must be kept clean and above suspicion," Courtney said. "The public pays to see honest events and is entitled to see every participant put forth his best efforts at all times. While an investigation is being conducted those under suspicion should be barred from future boxing promotions."

Gen. Clinnin Comments.

Among the men who believe the scandal will benefit the game is Gen. John V. Clinnin, former president of the National Boxing association and chairman of the Illinois athletic commission until 1933.

"The matter is entirely up to the Pennsylvania and New York commissions to deal with," Gen. Clinnin said. "Such practices should be stamped out immediately upon proof of what took place, or else professional boxing as a sport will be destroyed.

"When people lose confidence in a game the sport is on the skids. That's what has happened to wrestling. It is a good thing to clean house, good for every one connected with the sport, including promoters, managers, and boxers."

No Effect on Louis.

John Roxborough, one of Joe Louis' managers, reached at his home in Detroit last night, said charges that Thomas threw his bouts with Schmeling and Galento would not hurt the reputation of the heavyweight champion.

"Joe's matches always have been above suspicion," Roxborough said. "The scandal will not effect him. I feel, and I hope, that the story will not be injurious to boxing as a whole."

It was the fear of some that the scandal would harm the game. Among these were Sam Pian, former manager of Barney Ross, and Davey Miller, referee of the title contest between Thomas and Louis in Chicago Stadium April 1, 1938.

"I don't believe it," Pian said. "Thomas never could fight much and he couldn't lick Galento or Schmeling at his best."

"A Good Lesson," Says Behr.

Rains Says He Was Suspicious of Galento Bout

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 30.—Leon Rains, chairman of the Pennsylvania boxing commission, commenting on Harry Thomas' fixed fights exposé, said today that he was suspicious of the Galento-Thomas fight when he saw it.

"The fight took place before I went into office," said Rains, "but I said when I was appointed that Thomas could never fight in Pennsylvania again so long as I had anything to say about it."

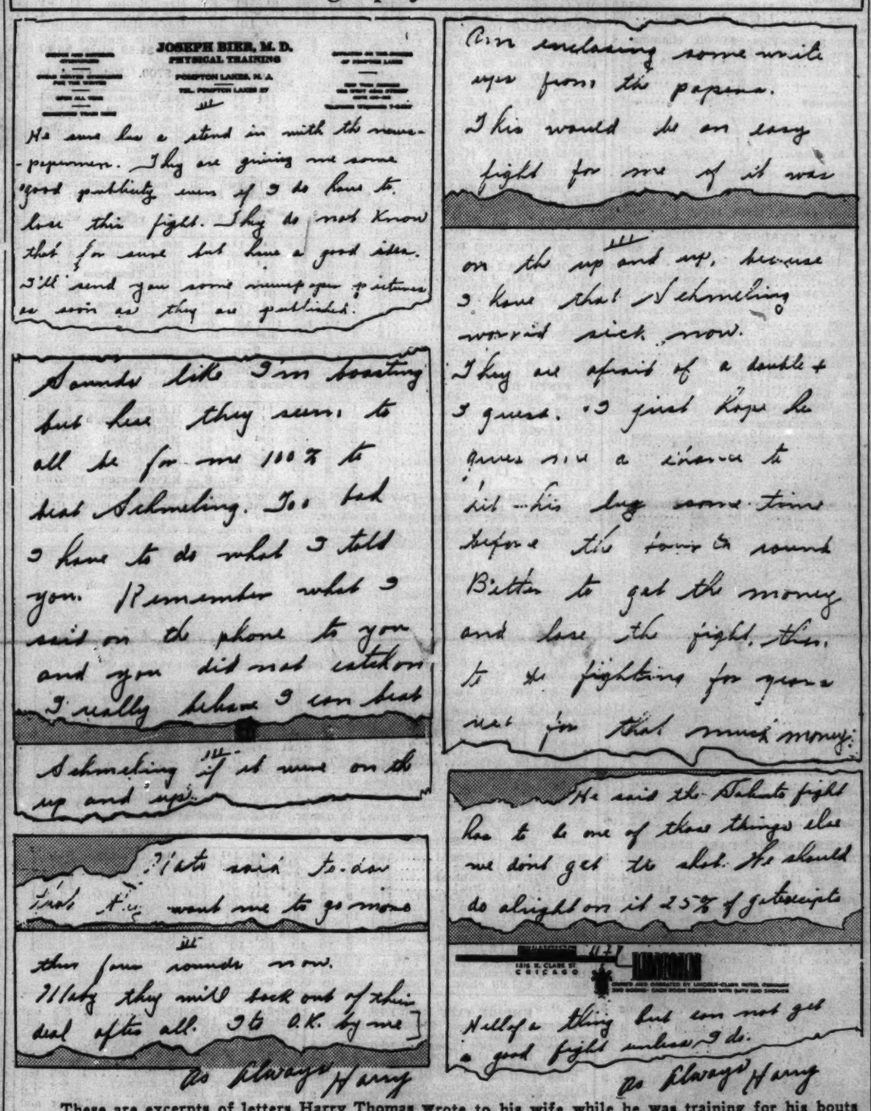
Autobiography of Fixed Bouts



JOSEPH BIER, M. D.

PRINCETON LANDS, N. J.
TEL. PRINCETON LANDS 87

He owes me a stand in with the newspapermen. They are giving me some good publicity even if I do have to lose this fight. They do not know that I've ever lost a good idea. I'll send you some newspaper pictures as soon as they are published.

Sounds like I'm boasting but here they seem to all be for me 100% to beat Schmeling. Too bad I have to do what I told you. Remember what I said on the phone to you and you did not call on me. I really believe I can beat Schmeling if it were on the up and up.

He said to-day that they want me to go more than four rounds now. Why they will back out of this deal after all. It's O.K. by me.

As always Harry

Am enclosing some write ups from the papers. This would be an easy fight for me if it was on the up and up, because I know that Schmeling would be sick now. They are afraid of a double cross I guess. I just hope he gives me a chance to hit—his leg some time before the fourth round. Better to get the money and lose the fight, than to be fighting for your life for that much money.

He said the Galento fight has to be one of those things like we did get the shot. We should do alright on it 25% of gate receipts.

As always Harry

These are excerpts of letters Harry Thomas wrote to his wife while he was training for his bouts with Max Schmeling and Tony Galento. Thomas admits the outcome of both matches was arranged in advance of the "contests."

'Fakers Stay Out'—Illinois Boxing Board

The statement of the Illinois athletic commission following THE TRIBUNE'S exposé yesterday of fixed boxing matches follows:

"The charges of Harry Thomas have been brought to the attention of the Illinois athletic commission. This commission, in accordance with its established policy as promulgated by Gov. Horner, is primarily interested in keeping professional boxing honest and clean as it always has been in this state.

"Neither Harry Thomas, Tony Galento, Max Schmeling, Nate Lewis, or Joe Jacobs are licensed by the Illinois athletic commission and none of the accused principals has made any application for such license. Upon consultation with Attorney General John Cassidy, pursuant to instructions by Gov. Horner, this commission was informed that it has no jurisdiction to conduct any investigation at this time.

Must Disprove Charges.

"However, it is the unanimous opinion of the commission and Gov. Horner that none of the accused parties will be allowed to engage in any boxing enterprise in the state of Illinois until there has been a complete hearing of the charges made by Mr. Thomas.

"It must be understood that such a hearing can only be held after one or more of the parties accused has made application for license to the state athletic commission. Of course, without such license there can be no participation in boxing activities either directly or indirectly in this state. If and when such application is made by any of the above named parties there will be no license or permission granted to any of the accused until every vestige of suspicion has been wiped away.

Illinois Record Clear.

"It should be noted in this connection that the alleged sham or fake fights referred to by Mr. Thomas occurred in the states of Pennsylvania and New York and there has been no charge advanced that any sham or fake contest was held under the jurisdiction of this commission."

The statement was signed by Joseph Triner, chairman; Sheldon Clark and James R. Fitzpatrick, commissioners.

New York Awaits Evidence Prior to Boxing Probe

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—Discussing Harry Thomas' alleged confession that he threw fights to Max Schmeling and Tony Galento, Chairman John J. Phelan of the New York boxing commission said today he would order an investigation "if the evidence warrants."

Concerning Thomas' fight with Schmeling in Madison Square Garden Dec. 13, 1937, Phelan said, "as far as I could see there was nothing irregular about the bout. There will be no hearing unless the evidence warrants it. We will wait until that evidence is submitted to us."

PACHO STOPPED BY ARMSTRONG IN FOURTH ROUND

Denver, Colo., Oct. 30 (AP).—Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong stopped Bobby Pacho of Cleveland in the fourth round of their 15 round title bout before 4,500 in Municipal auditorium tonight. Armstrong weighed 140, Pacho 146.

Joe Jacobs: Why Didn't He Lose Sooner?

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—Fight Manager Joe Jacobs, informed of charges by Heavyweight Harry Thomas that he participated in "fixed" fights with Max Schmeling and Tony Galento, said today, "It is mighty funny it took Thomas this long to get around to making the charges.

"I don't know what that Thomas is talking about. Look: He lasted eight rounds with Schmeling; he was knocked down seven times in the fight, and afterward he had to have about 15 stitches taken in his lip. If he was gonna 'dive,' he could have done it a lot earlier without taking all that beating.

"And Galento floored Thomas three times. After the fight he said a left hand punch to the temple in the first round was the hardest blow he had ever been hit. Why didn't he stay down then? No, sir, I don't know what Thomas is talking about and I don't think he does either."

MIKE JACOBS PUZZLED

New York, Oct. 30 [Special].—Promoter Mike Jacobs today made a new statement in regard to the Harry Thomas fixed fight exposé. The promoter said:

"If Thomas agreed to such a thing he was a very foolish fellow. Schmeling had been signed to fight Joe Louis for the championship, and a victory over the German would have made Thomas the 'hottest' fighter in the country. I don't know anything about the charges."

HORNER GIVES ORDER TO RING BOARD MEMBER

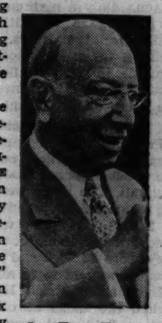
BY ARCH WARD.

Gov. Henry Horner yesterday took a hand in the heavyweight boxing scandal involving two bouts which were fixed long before the fighters entered the ring.



Gov. Henry Horner.

The fake matches were revealed exclusively in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE upon information from Harry Thomas, the defeated fighter in both events. One of the "contests" was between Thomas and Max Schmeling in New York. The other brought together Thomas and Galento in Philadelphia.

"None of the principals involved in THE TRIBUNE story will fight in Illinois as long as charges that they participated in fixed bouts hang over them," the governor stated in Springfield yesterday. "And I don't mean maybe," he added.

Involves Two Managers.

Thomas named Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling and Galento, and Nate Lewis, his own manager, as parties to the fake fights in THE TRIBUNE story.

Mr. Horner thus took cognizance of the exposé which quoted Thomas as admitting he had agreed to "throw" bouts to Schmeling and Galento in return for special financial compensation.

Sunday night the governor was listening to the radio when a résumé of THE TRIBUNE story was broadcast. Yesterday morning he read the exposé in detail and consequently was prepared for questions at the weekly press conference.

Mr. Horner's attention was called to reports that negotiations had been started to bring Galento to Chicago for two bouts in 1940, one in Chicago Stadium late in January and the other against Champion Joe Louis in an outdoor ring next summer.

Gives Order to Ring Chief.

The governor informed James R. Fitzpatrick, state boxing commissioner, who lives in Springfield, about his attitude on barring from Illinois all principals involved and asked him to repeat it to the other members of the commission.

Meanwhile Harry Thomas, the fighter who admits that both the Schmeling and Galento bouts were fixed, stuck to his story.

"Every detail stands," Thomas told this reporter. "If they [meaning Joe Jacobs and Nate Lewis] want to hear more incidents about the arrangements to refresh their memories, I can supply them."

Kelly Calls for Cleanup.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly was emphatic in his insistence that the sport be cleaned up. He declared:

"The New York and Pennsylvania commissions, which had jurisdiction in the states where the alleged fake bouts took place, should make a thoro investigation.

[The chairman of the Pennsylvania commission Sunday night declared that no fighter managed by Nate Lewis ever would be allowed to appear in Pennsylvania as long as the present commission was in office.]

"This story puts a blight on sport in general," the mayor continued. "It disillusions youth and makes them wonder whether sport has to be crooked instead of clean. The White Sox scandal temporarily shattered faith in baseball. These revelations will have the same effect on professional boxing. Exposés of this nature usually are helpful in the long run.

"All principals involved should be restrained from appearing in Illinois until the charges are disproved."

MOODY REVEALS MARRIAGE TO CHICAGO GIRL

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 30 (AP).—Fred H. Moody Jr., whose former wife, Helen Wills Moody, was married Saturday to Aidan Roark, polo player, disclosed today he was married three weeks ago to the former Anna Lamarre of Chicago.

"We drove over to Austin, Nev., three weeks ago and were married while I was working at Tahoe," Moody said. Moody is 38, his bride, 28.

Shapiro Wins Decision in 8 Rounds Over Nakamura

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—Maxie Shapiro, 130¾, New York, won an eight round decision over Yoshio [Hank] Nakamura, 128½, of Honolulu in the main bout in St. Nicholas palace tonight. Shapiro, using an effective jab, opened an old cut over Nakamura's left eye early in the bout and had an easy time from there on.

INTANGIBLES OF FOOTBALL SNUFF OUT BEAR HOPES

Letdown Plus Lions' Roar Brings Upset.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The block and tackle, Chicago's Bears will testify today, still belong in football, but its importance is no greater than those intangibles listed in the game's glossary as "mental attitude," "reaction," and "lift."

Monk Moscrip.

Scissored between a letdown from their losing effort against New York the week before and the fury of an inspired Detroit team, the Bears dropped back off the pace in the National league championship race on Sunday by suffering their third defeat of the season. Only a mathematical chance of figuring in the title playoff remains for the Bears, who launch training today for another climactic struggle in Wrigley field this week when Green Bay comes down from the north on its annual visit.

Upset for Speculators.

Post-mortems on Sunday's happenings in Wrigley field only intensified the upset aspects of Detroit's 10 to 0 triumph. The Bears were overwhelming favorites. They had been installed at 2 to 1 early last week by those speculatively inclined. By Thursday they were 13 to 5 and at game time sizeable wagers were made at 4 to 1.

Even after Chuck Hanneman had kicked the Lions into a 3 to 0 lead with a field goal from the 38 yard line in the second quarter, gamblers were about offering 13 to 10 that the Bears would win. Dwight Sloan's twelve yard touchdown run and Monk Moscrip's subsequent kick brought an abrupt halt to all wagering in the third quarter.

Records Favored Bears.

Explanation for these odds can be found in the records of the two teams, which indicated that Detroit never would be able to come up with a football game the like of which it played on Wrigley field Sunday. Coupled with the Bears' impressive showing as a ground gaining, point producing machine, this convinced fans and experts, which included most of the coaches and players of the National league, that there could be only one outcome. All, however, reckoned without those mysterious intangibles.

$75,000 Set as Purse for Derby in 1940

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 30 [Special].—The horses which go to the post in the Kentucky Derby next May 4 will be running for the biggest prize that ever has been offered in the 65 year history of this famous race. Matt J. Winn, president of the Churchill Downs course, announced today that the added money will be increased from $50,000 to $75,000.

Thus Bimelech, Roman Flag, Straight Lead, Andy K., and the other fleet performers which probably will be next spring's Derby candidates, will get away to a flying start in their quest for money winning honors.

The largest previous prize was at stake in 1928 when an unprecedented field of 22 went to the post. On that occasion Mrs. John Hertz, owner of the winner, Reigh Count, received $55,375, while $6,000, $3,000, and $1,000 went to the holders of second, third, and fourth places.

Under the new conditions, the Derby will rank second only to the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap in value. Some Futurities carry prizes nearly as rich, but much of that money is put up by the horsemen, who nominate far in advance and make rated payments to keep their horses eligible. In the case of the Derby, the entire $75,000 is put up by the track.

RESTED GOPHERS CONFRONT N. U.'S IMPROVED TEAM

Wildcats Go in Quest of 3d Straight Victory.

Northwestern's football team will gear itself this week to face Minnesota, a team which Coach Lynn Waldorf believes will be the strongest opponent the Wildcats have faced so far. With an open date last Saturday, the Gophers will have had two weeks to prepare for the Purple.

Ollie Hahnenstein.

Meanwhile Wildcat morale has been bolstered by successive victories over Wisconsin and Illinois. The attack has shown steady improvement, while the defense has steadied after yielding five touchdowns in the first two games of the season.

With Red Hahnenstein ready after being out of the Illinois game with a foot injury, the Wildcats will have three half backs available for Minnesota. In addition to Hahnenstein and Soper, Bill De Correvont is stationed at this position. The latter's kicking and passing were highlights of the Illinois game. He now ranks as the team's leading passer with five completions out of 12 for fifty-six yards.

BIERMAN WARNS GOPHERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct 30. [Special].—Having taken a look at Northwestern in its game with Illinois and being duly impressed, Coach Bernie Bierman sent the Minnesota football team out early today to start a week of heavy work in quest of its first Big Ten triumph of the season against the Purple Saturday.

Bierman reported to Minnesota players that Northwestern had the same great defense and a better offense than last year. He said the Wildcats were the best balanced team he has seen this year.

DISABLED ILLINI RETURN.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 30 [Special].—Reporting in good physical condition, the Illinois football players who played against Northwestern took a light workout today, most of their time being spent in learning new plays for use against Michigan Saturday.

There is a possibility that Swede Lundberg, another tackle who also was held out of the game at Evanston, may be available this week.

WOLVERINES REST.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 30 [Special.]—Michigan's first team, which yet has to encounter anything resembling stiff resistance, was given a day off today as reward for its fourth consecutive victory Saturday against Yale. All men who played a quarter or more were included in the layoff.

The Wolverine reserves, meanwhile, scrimmaged with a freshman squad which is coached in Illinois formations by Wally Weber, who has been scouting the Illini. Weber has warned Coach Fritz Crisler of the Zuppke passing attack, and Michigan will continue to stress aerial defense this week.

OHIO SQUAD BRUISED.

McMILLIN WARNS HOOSIERS.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 30 [Special].—Coach Bo McMillin, who personally scouted the Ohio State-Cornell game, sent the Indiana university football squad thru a long drill today on defensive and offensive maneuvers.

"We must improve our tackling if we hope to stop the Buckeyes," he told the Hoosiers, "whose backs—not one but all—are the hardest running I've seen since I've coached in the Big Ten."

Louis Drops Brown Three Times in Exhibition Match

EXPOSÉ STIRS UP EXCITEMENT IN BOXING CIRCLES

sports director at the Illinois Athletic club, said: "It'll do the game all the good in the world. Any punishment which may be meted out to the men responsible will serve to deter others from doing wrong."

Phil Collins, referee of the lightweight championship contest between Sammy Mandell and Rocky Kansas in 1926, and who officiated in three of Thomas' Chicago appearances, maintains "it will give boxing a black eye for a while, but will do a world of good in the long run."

Irving Schoenwald, promoter of weekly bouts in Marigold Gardens, said: "I don't believe Thomas' story will harm the game. At any rate it wouldn't hurt neighborhood clubs such as mine. The story will have a tendency to injure the drawing power of major bouts for a short period."

Eddie Long, former manager of Bud Taylor and Mandell and current Stadium matchmaker, commented by saying: "I wish the story was released after our show Friday. Sometimes a scandal of this kind hurts the game and sometimes it creates more interest. The contestants on Friday's card are honest as a dollar, so I'm not worried."

Leo Rodak, only boxer to win three Golden Gloves titles, now challenger for the world featherweight crown under the management of Nate Lewis, said: "I was stunned when I learned of the story and Nate's implication in it. I don't believe Nate would fix a fight. I know he's never approached me with such an offer. I'd retire before I would throw a bout, I think the scandal will hurt boxing."

ARON KNOCKS OUT LEN BENNETT IN 3D AT MARIGOLD

Milt Aron, Chicago welterweight, knocked out Leonard Bennett of Detroit in the third round of a scheduled 10 round bout in Marigold Gardens last night. Bennett was floored five times, four in the second round, before being counted out by Referee Frank McAdams.

Young Kid McCoy, Detroit lightweight, beat Johnny Balmer of Peoria in a five round secondary feature. Lee Oma, light heavyweight, conquered Ernie Valente of Milwaukee in another five round event.

NAME FESSENDEN FOR PRESIDENCY OF DISTRICT GOLF

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Maynard G. [Scotty] Fessenden yesterday was named for president of the Chicago District Golf association for the 1940 season by the nominating committee of the organization. Fessenden, one of the most energetic members of the C. D. G. A. for a number of years, registers from the Oak Park Country club and has served as vice president. He succeeds A. W. Hale of Medinah.

The nominating committee presenting the ticket, which is tantamount to election, consisted of Walter G. Leininger, chairman, of Oak Park; Charles Evans Jr. of Edgewater, and A. D. Plamondon of Bob O' Link. Nominations were made at a luncheon in the La Salle hotel, which will be the scene of the annual meeting and election of the association on Dec. 5.

E. A. Dolan of Park Ridge was nominated vice president; L. R. Rutherford of Medinah treasurer, and Thomas G. McMahon of Skokie, secretary. The board of directors includes Lynn S. Broaddus, Elmhurst; Howard A. Brundage, Butterfield; R. D. Cameron, Evanston; Gordon Crowder, Midlothian; Elmer A. Eulass, Calumet; Dr. J. Earl Harris, Olympia Fields; Melville Keim, Northmoor; J. P. Kiley, South Shore; Charles Macferran, North Shore; William Otter, Westmoreland; F. M. [Ted] Quinn, Riverside, and Robert F. Zeddles, Exmoor.

The officers and the board of directors this year constitute one of the most all inclusive geographical allocations of C. D. G. A. officials in its history.

It was indicated that the financial and tournament reports of the C. D. G. A. for the 1939 season will be among the best in recent years, but board members at yesterday's luncheon said they plan new methods for creating interest in golf in 1940, with emphasis on promotion of the game in the high schools and in the age bracket between 30 and 50 years.

Open Foreclosing Action Against Tam o' Shanter

Suit against Tam o' Shanter, Inc., 2600 North Shore avenue, to foreclose its golf course for nonpayment of taxes totaling $18,676 from 1930 to 1937 inclusive, plus penalties, was filed in Circuit court yesterday by Assistant States Attorney Marshall V. Kearney. Since the law does not provide for naming of receivers in tax foreclosures, however, no effort will be made to operate the course for the benefit of the county and sale for the taxes is the only relief asked, Mr. Kearney explained.

Irish Tackles May Not Face Army Eleven

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 30 [Special].—Notre Dame's battered and weary footballers were excused from practice today, but it appeared that even with rest, reserves will have to carry a heavy burden at New York Saturday when the Irish meet Army.

Both regular tackles, Tom Gallagher and Tad Harvey are likely to be on the side lines, leaving starting assignments to Jim Brutz and Paul Lillis, sophomores.

Hardly a man who saw action in Saturday's 7 to 6 victory over Carnegie Tech reported without bruises. The more seriously hurt include, besides Gallagher and Harvey, Lou Zontini, Bob Saggau, Joe Thesing, Milt Piepul, and Steve Sitko, in the back field, and Bud Kerr, left end, and John McIntyre, center, in the line.

ARMY TEAM READY.

New York, Oct. 30 [Special].—Capt. Bill Wood, coach of the Army football team which clashes with Notre Dame here on Saturday, declared today that the Cadets would go into the game in better condition than when they played the Irish last year, and that the team had been improving over the last couple of weeks.

The coach said he expected the team would start with Jerry Maupin in the back field against Notre Dame.

Tribune Again Sponsors Popular Classes.

BY BOB BECKER.

Children's handling classes, one of the most instructive and entertaining features introduced into dog shows during the past few years, will be sponsored by THE TRIBUNE at Chicago's annual fall dog event to be held in the Coliseum Nov. 25 and 26. The show, the 29th annual fixture of the Western Specialty Clubs association, each year draws an entry of more than 1,200 purebred dogs.

In the children's handling class boys and girls up to 16 years of age enter the ring with their dogs to demonstrate their ability to handle a dog before the judges. In this competition the quality of the dog does not count, the only consideration of the judges being the ability of the handlers to exhibit their pets to the best advantage. Children's handling classes are supported by almost all breeders and show exhibitors, and have the indorsement of the professional show handlers.

Judges, Classes Listed.

Judges for this year's event will be Mrs. Janet Henneberry, Golf, Ill., and Livingston Osborne, Ravinia. Both of the judges have had wide experience in the dog field and have owned and exhibited several champions. Mrs. Henneberry owns English springer spaniels and Mr. Osborne has a kennel of chows.

CLASS A—For girls under 12 years of age.
CLASS B—For girls 12 years of age and under 16 years of age.
CLASS C—For boys under 12 years of age.
CLASS D—For boys 12 years of age and under 16 years of age.
CLASS E—For winners of the four previous classes.

No Entry Fee.

Forty youngsters who compete in the handling event will go home with trophies or attractive pins. Handsome trophies will be awarded to the winners of first and second in each of the five classes, and the youngsters who are among the 10 best handlers in each of the first four classes will be given a gold plated pin.

There will be no entry fee for competing in the children's classes.

INTERNATIONAL GENEVA ASSOCIATION VOTES MEISTER BRÄU 6 to 1 CHOICE

WHEN members of the Chicago Branch of the International Geneva Association met for their regular monthly pinochle tournament they were asked to taste Meister Bräu Beer and compare it with other brands. These men who hold important positions in Chicago hotels, clubs, or restaurants voted 26 to 4 for Meister Bräu as their first choice.

The International Geneva Association takes its name from the time honored training school for dining room service and management located at Geneva, Switzerland. In the picture, taken between deals, are shown C. Roberts, Max Graf, Chairman House Committee International Geneva Club, Rich Wunderlich, and Rudolph R. Hochsinger as they taste and compare:

WE COULD SAVE TIME AND MONEY BY ADDING SUGARS AND SYRUPS BUT WE WON'T CHANGE OUR OLD-TIME, ALL-GRAIN FLAVOR

Independent Investigator Finds the Reason for the Public's Swing to This Beer

To learn what brand of bottled beer leads in sales, Chicago newspapers obtained figures from leading beer retailers. These reports showed Meister Bräu way out in front by from 2 to 1 to 10 to 1. The Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation was asked to check on this amazing popularity and find out the reason for it, by holding taste-and-compare tests where groups of men and women gather.

These tests show that the old-time, all-grain flavor of Meister Bräu gives it this astonishing preference both with those who remember what beer used to be, and with those who appreciate top quality in beer.

ENVOY ASSURES NORMAL TRADE WITH CANADIANS

Control Chief Promises No Interruptions.

Normal business between the United States and Canada is continuing without interruption, Chicago bankers said yesterday. They asserted that, as far as is now known, such trade should go on thruout Canada's participation in the European war.

The bankers were assured of Canada's desire for normal trade relations last Friday, when Alex McD. McBain, chief of the intelligence division of the Canadian foreign exchange control board, visited Chicago. McBain was here to discuss with Chicago bankers problems which may have arisen because of Canada's foreign exchange restrictions.

No Exchange Difficulties.

"Exporters of goods to Canada will encounter no inconveniences as a result of the Canadian exchange control, provided such exports are within the normal commercial requirements of the Canadian importer," McBain told the bankers.

McBain said that about four billion dollars had been invested in Canada by Americans. Incomes from these investments will still be paid in foreign exchange, which may be withdrawn from Canada if nonresidents so desire, he said.

This means, Chicago bankers said yesterday, that if Americans hold Canadian securities on which interest and dividends are payable only in Canadian funds, they will receive their income in Canadian money in Canada. The Canadian dollars may be exchanged into American dollars at the going rate of exchange.

Will Abide by Obligations.

The same is true of income from any new money that Americans may send to Canada for investment purposes, McBain said. Canada is at war and has thrown around its economy certain safeguards, but these will in no way prevent strict fulfilment of our contractual obligations, he added.

McBain said the Canadian exchange board has a "special interest in seeing that tourists meet with no inconvenience." He said that tourists will be as welcome as ever, and may bring automobiles, golf clubs, skiis, and other personal belongings.

The Canadian foreign exchange control board was created shortly after Canada's entry into the war. It has power to regulate all Canadian foreign exchange transactions. The purpose of the rulings it has so far issued, Chicago bankers said, has been to conserve Canada's wealth.

LOCKHEED AIRCRAFT.

I would appreciate a report on Lockheed Aircraft corporation.—H. K.

Answer: Until last year Lockheed Aircraft corporation confined its operations to the manufacture of commercial planes. In 1938, however, orders for military planes were accepted, and the great bulk of recent operations have been on aircraft of this type.

Lockheed does not manufacture engines, propellers, aeronautical instruments, and certain other equipment, but purchases these items from outside sources. Unfilled orders at Aug. 1, 1939, totaled $26,372,385, compared with $23,522,930 a year earlier. Orders from England and Australia represented the major part of this total.

Year.	Net income.	Earned.
1933	$ 25,962	$0.11
1934	*190,891
1935	217,986	0.49
1936	99,074	0.15
1937	137,912	0.21
1938	442,111	0.67

*Loss.

In the first six months of the current year net income amounted to $508,861, equal to 66 cents a common share, against $151,075, equal to 23 cents a common share, in the same period last year. No cash dividends have ever been paid on the common stock, but one share of the Velga Airplane company stock for each 15 shares of Lockheed held was paid this year.

The company had current assets of $9,410,495 and current liabilities of $5,803,073 at June 30, 1939. There is no funded debt. Common stock, which is the only stock capitalization, has a par value of $1 a share. There are 775,000 shares outstanding. It is speculative.

LOANS.

I have the earnings of Beneficial Industrial Loan corporation and Household Finance corporation in recent years, but not in the prosperous years. I would like to know how much money these companies made in prosperous years, when people did not have to borrow as much as recently.—J. U.

Answer: Earnings of Household Finance corporation from 1924 to 1929 were:

Year.	Net income.
1924	$1,011,862
1925	1,363,182
1926	1,803,743
1927	2,248,000
1928	*2,309,406
1929	3,372,418

*Estimated.

These earnings were below the level of recent years. It should be remembered, however, that the small loan business has grown rapidly in recent years. It does not appear that earnings of companies in this field fluctuate inversely with business conditions. Earnings of Household Finance declined in the severest depression years and rose again with recovery.

Beneficial Industrial Loan company was organized in 1929, and thus was not conducting business during the boom of the late 1920s.

U. S. MAY ASSIST SOUTH AMERICA TO REFUND DEBT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—The Roosevelt administration is working on another experiment—the financial reorganization of one South American country and possibly others—it was learned today on highest authority.

A group within the administration is working on a plan of refinancing for the unnamed country. The plan will cover settlement of defaulted debts owed to citizens in the United States. If the application to one country proves successful its extension to other defaulters, who also wish to borrow in the United States, is expected.

Explains Roosevelt Blast.

Revelation of the plan also explained President Roosevelt's blast against the Foreign Bondholders' Protective Council, Inc., last week. The council, a private group, was organized in 1933 at the suggestion of the present administration, to negotiate between defaulters and their American creditors for adjustment of debts in the form of foreign dollar bonds.

The council has been working constantly on the problem since then, but it ran into extreme difficulties in getting the Latin American countries to pay or the creditors to accept drastic reductions in settlement.

Last Friday Mr. Roosevelt said he was disappointed with the progress made by the council in its efforts to make arrangements with foreign governments for resumption of service on defaulted debts. His statement was interpreted as a broad hint that the administration was considering direct negotiation with Latin American governments for settlement of their bad debts.

What Morgenthau Says.

When asked today whether he favored such negotiations Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau replied, "We'll let that ride for a while." He commented, "What have they done?" when asked for his opinion of the council's activities. "No money has passed and I'd like to know of any settlement."

Some time ago Morgenthau had said that the treasury was not interested in settling private debts; that it did not consider Latin American countries bad risks as long as they did not default on debts to this government.

It is understood, however, that Morgenthau is one of the group now engaged in the plan, described as a "pattern," for clearing up Latin American finances. Others in the group are Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, and Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator.

Regard Plan as Example.

In disclosing the plan, administration leaders said that it will be an example of what can be done on other countries. It has never been done, but will be an illustration of what the administration has in mind for Latin American countries which not only owe our citizens but also wish to borrow. The plan is still in the formative stage and no details are available, they said.

The administration has been working desperately for promotion of trade and political relations with Latin America, now that the European influence has been diverted from the southern countries in this hemisphere by the war. United States investors are cautious about following the administration's advice to invest in Latin America because of the sour taste left by debt defaults—and more recently the expropriation of American owned properties.

Blame Administration Attitude.

Critics say that the fault of slow progress made by the council lies on the White House doorstep and not on the council's. They point out that Mr. Roosevelt has attacked the bond issues concerned and encouraged the irresponsible attitude assumed by foreign debtors toward their American debts.

The latest figures on defaults of foreign dollar bonds, for the close of 1938, show that of 3 billion 598 million dollars, par value, of such bonds held by residents of the United States, there were 1 billion 175 million dollars' worth in default, or 33 per cent of the total.

Defaults in this hemisphere included 11 millions for the West Indies, 26 millions for Central America, and 674 millions in South America. Of the South American countries, Brazil accounted for 285 millions; Chile, 148 millions; Colombia, 115 millions, and Peru, 54 millions.

May Experiment on Colombia.

The retiring ambassador from Colombia, Señor Don Miquel Lopez Pumarejo, called at the White House today with his brother, Señor Alfonso Lopez Pumarejo, former president of Colombia. Ambassador Pumarejo lauded Mr. Roosevelt's comments about the bondholders council, saying he agreed with the President's expression of disappointment. He admitted dicussing Latin-American debts "in a general way" with Mr. Roosevelt, as well as the general economic situation in Colombia.

Raskob Lauds Gen'l Motors' Car Financing

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 30 [Special.]—John J. Raskob, New York City, member of the General Motors corporation board of directors, told the story of the corporation since the days "when there was a considerable discussion on whether the automobile would ever replace the horse."

John J. Raskob.

Raskob testified today in the corporation's antitrust trial. The government has sought to show that General Motors and its affiliated companies conspired to force dealers to use finance organizations controled by the big automobile manufacturer.

Taking the stand as the trial resumed after the week-end recess, Raskob testified that he was a director of General Motors company from 1915 until 1917 and became a General Motors corporation director upon its formation in 1917.

Tells Need for Financing.

Raskob, who was termed the "father" of General Motors Acceptance corporation, said G. M. A. C. was formed in 1919 when "it became apparent that to sell cars at low cost it was necessary to produce them in large volume."

"It was difficult in those days for purchasers to get cars by borrowing at banks since they seldom had enough collateral," he said. "I always believed the poor man had as much right to a car as the rich man, but the few finance companies then existing had exorbitant charges. After a study of the situation I recommended the formation of our own finance company.

"It had to be set up as a new company since our General Motors charter did not permit us to do a banking business."

The new company, Raskob said, had two purposes, first, to enable retail buyers of ordinary means to get cars on the instalment plan and second, for dealers to get credit.

Relates Growth of Company.

Raskob testified the G. M. A. C. was set up with $2,000,000 capital and $500,000 surplus. The corporation, he said, now has $50,000,000 capital and $40,000,000 surplus and undivided profits.

"My feeling at the time," Raskob said, "was that we should get the banks to do this sort of service but they did not think it was a sufficiently conservative enterprise. So I recommended that we do it ourselves.

"There were three bankers on the G. M. A. C. board and they always were very nervous about this sort of credit. It annoyed me a good deal, since I was the supporter of the plan."

As a result, Raskob testified that he engaged E. R. Seligman, professor of political economy at Columbia university, New York, to make a study of installment selling to see if it was sound financially. Seligman's report, Raskob said, was favorable to installment selling and recommended retention of the recourse phase of the G. M. A. C. plan.

Each General Motors division head was "more or less a king" and the entire corporation was highly decentralized, Raskob said.

Discuss Finance Charges.

On direct question by John Thomas Smith, chief G. M. counsel and a vice president of General Motors, Raskob said he had "no recollection of any finance company charging less than G. M. A. C."

Smith then asked about the 1925 trip to Los Angeles concerning which government witnesses have testified. These witnesses said orders were issued after this trip requiring all General Motors dealers on the Pacific coast to use G. M. A. C. exclusively in financing time sales.

Raskob said he, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., Fred Fisher, and Donaldson Brown, al. G. M. executives, were called to the coast because competitors were using finance companies which required only a small down payment and as much as two years were given in which to pay the balance.

Raskob said this "wild" financing caused much trouble and that the G. M. policy. He said it was agreed that G. M. A. C. would not change its previous "sound" policy.

TRADE AGREEMENTS ACT NEARS HIGH COURT TEST OF ITS LEGALITY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 (AP).—A Supreme court test of the reciprocal trade agreements act appeared tonight to be in prospect. Gov. William H. Vanderbilt of Rhode Island, challenging constitutionality of the act, indicated he would seek such a test, and Henry F. Grady, assistant secretary of state, made known that the state department had no objection to any "proper and appropriate legal proceedings."

"In view of the precedents and court decisions," Grady said, "the department is convinced the act would be sustained in the courts."

Under the act agreements have been negotiated with 20 countries, and six more are under negotiation.

The crux of the dispute is whether executive agreements such as trade pacts require senate ratification, as is the case of treaties with foreign powers. Gov. Vanderbilt objected, moreover, that the trade agreement with France has hurt the Rhode Island lace industry. Grady said that altho there has been an increase in imports, the value of United States lace production in 1937 was almost equal to that of 1929.

CONSENT ORDER ENJOINS LEADING ELEVATOR FIRMS

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—National Elevator Manufacturing Industry, Inc., a trade association, 12 elevator manufacturing companies, and 11 officials of those companies were permanently enjoined today by Justice Edward J. McGoldrick of the state Supreme court from conducting a monopoly.

The order, consented to by all the corporations and officers named, was sought by John J. Bennett Jr., state attorney general, after an investigation of several months. Bennett complained that the defendants restrained trade, fixed prices, and used patents illegally, in violation of the state's general business law.

Corporations enjoined include the Otis Elevator company and Westinghouse Elevator company. The Warner Elevator Manufacturing Company, Inc., of Cincinnati is contesting Attorney General Bennett's action.

Donald W. Douglas, president, told directors that more than 70 DC-3s and Douglas sleeper transports have been ordered by air lines in the United States in the last few weeks. The company's backlog of unfilled orders, he said, is about $50,000,000 at present.

INDUSTRY BUYS NEW EQUIPMENT AS TRADE RISES

Several Companies Expand Plants.

Industrial recovery showed further symptoms of strength yesterday. New orders for capital equipment by the railroad, aviation, and electric power industries were announced, along with repair programs and expansion plans.

A new generating unit and other equipment costing $4,500,000 will be installed by the Consolidated Gas Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore, according to Herbert A. Wagner, president. A contract for a 67,000 horse power turbo generator has been placed with the General Electric company, Wagner said.

Expansion of generating facilities is necessary because of the growth of electricity consumption, he added. The new facilities, to be installed by the summer of 1941, are in addition to a $3,600,000 program now under way and scheduled for completion next July.

Chicago Plant Expands.

Walter P. Paepcke, president of the Container Corporation of America, announced that work on a $250,000 improvement program at the company's Ogden avenue paper mill in Chicago will start immediately.

The program will include a large capacity steam boiler to supplement existing facilities and permit the mill to operate at extremely high pressures, a water treating system, and additions to the floor space. Eventually the company expects to obtain new turbines and institute additional improvements in paper making methods designed to reduce costs and increase production.

Directors of Eastern Air Lines, Inc., approved the purchase of three Douglas DC-3, twenty-one passenger airplanes costing about $350,000 for early delivery. The company said the new equipment has been made necessary by sharply increased passenger traffic. The air transport company had ordered three sleeper planes from the Douglas Aircraft company late in September.

Plane Orders Announced.

The Lockheed Aircraft corporation last week received orders for three transport planes costing about $160,000, it was announced.

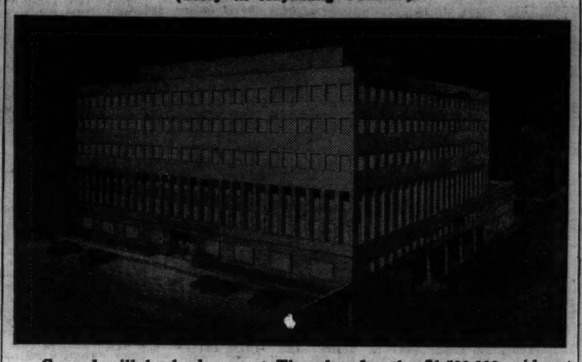
Accelerating its repair program, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad recalled 3,000 men to its shops in September. The company said more than 200 freight cars were being reconditioned each day. Wages in September totaled about $1,000,000 in the motive power department and are expected to rise to $1,389,000 in October, officials said. The pay roll in this department averaged $800,000 a month in June, July, and August.

With freight traffic at the highest volume in nine years, many of the nation's carriers have launched plans to rehabilitate stored equipment and buy new rolling stock to carry the larger movement of goods.

Pittsburgh trade circles estimated that 2,400,000 tons of steel ingots will be needed to finish the rails and freight cars ordered recently by railroads. Since Sept. 1 the carriers have ordered about 40,000 cars, and another 15,000 will probably be on the books by the end of the year, it was said.

New General Electric Building

(Story in Adjoining Column.)



Ground will be broken next Thursday for the $1,500,000 midwest headquarters of the General Electric company. Holabird & Root are the architects. It will occupy a square block bounded by Canal, Cabrini, Clinton, and Arthington streets, on the near west side.

Big Tax Claims Drive Railway to Reorganize

Newark, N. J., Oct. 30 (AP).—The Central Railroad of New Jersey, the state's biggest carrier tax debtor, filed a petition under the voluntary reorganization provisions of the federal bankruptcy law today listing free assets of only $2,359,793 with which to meet tax and bond interest debts of $16,591,871.

The petition reviewed the road's long legal battle with the state for compromise of its delinquencies and said the anticipated entry of a summary judgment for its 1932 and 1933 obligations might bring about an effort to sell the railroad's properties.

Another Rail Action.

The action before Federal Judge Guy L. Fake followed by several hours the reserving of decision until Thursday by Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard in Trenton on a motion by the Associated Railroads of New Jersey for a 30 day postponement on the state's application for an entry of judgment for $16,000,000 in 1932-'33 taxes and penalties.

The railroads involved besides the Jersey Central are the New York Central, Reading, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and the Lehigh Valley.

Approving as made in good faith the Jersey Central's bankruptcy petition under chapter I., section 77 of the Chandler act, Judge Fake also signed an order returnable Wednesday ordering Attorney General David T. Wilentz to show cause why the state should not be restrained from enforcing any liens against the railroad pending reorganization proceedings.

Hearing Set for Nov. 27.

Formal hearing on the Jersey Central's petition was set for Nov. 27 and the line was instructed to file a statement of its assets and liabilities by Dec. 15. Judge Fake said he would appoint trustees within 30 days. Until appointment is made the railroad remains in the hands of the company.

The petition said the state claims $15,065,003 in taxes from 1932, thru Dec. 1, 1939. Final court ruling, upholding the state's claims, has been made until now for only 1932 and 1933. Bond interest obligations remaining unpaid up to Oct. 1 totaled $1,536,867, the petition said. Penalties bring the tax debt for 1932-'33 up to $7,229,614.

The petition said that besides contesting state taxes, the Central has been fighting local assessments for the same period, of which $4,065,953 has been paid and $2,339,173 remains unpaid.

Offer 250 Million of RFC Notes to Pay Off Treasury

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30 [Special].—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today announced the offering of 250 million dollars in 1 per cent notes, series S, of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

MORE STEEL FURNACES PRESSED INTO SERVICE TO FILL RISING DEMAND

While steel production creeps upward, Chicago plants are preparing to throw more equipment into the battle to prevent mill output from falling too far behind the tremendous volume of orders on the industry's books.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation today will blow in its No. 10 blast furnace at Gary, making 18 of the corporation's 23 Chicago district furnaces active.

Inland Steel company announced all of its 36 open hearth furnaces are producing, the first time capacity operations have been reached since 1929. The company's Indiana Harbor plant has 10 more open hearths than in the boom days due to the expansion of recent years.

The American Iron and Steel institute estimated this week's national operating rate at 91 per cent of theoretical capacity, an increase of 0.8 point since last week and the highest rate since May 10, 1937. A month ago the institute placed the rate at 87.5 per cent, and a year ago at 56.8 per cent.

LET CONTRACTS FOR $2,000,000 CHICAGO PLANT

General Electric Co. Plans Completed.

BY AL CHASE.

Contracts were awarded by the General Electric company yesterday for construction of its new Chicago and midwest headquarters. Work on the project, to be started Thursday, will represent an investment of nearly 2 million dollars. The building will cost $1,500,000 and the land approximately $400,000.

The new building will occupy an entire city block on the near west side, bounded on the east by Canal street, on the north by Cabrini street, on the west by Clinton street, and on the south by Arthington street. Holabird & Root of Chicago are the architects.

Completed Next October.

The building will have seven stories and basement. Six of these will be above the Canal street level, which is higher than Clinton street. It will contain 363,000 square feet of floor space. The contract for its erection was awarded to the James Stewart corporation of Chicago. Completion is set for Oct. 1, 1940.

It will house various activities of General Electric now occupying leased space in nine different buildings. Some of the subsidiaries and affiliated concerns to move next October to the new building will be the General Electric Supply corporation, R. Cooper Jr., Inc., the service shops, and the district and appliance departments. It also will be used as a district warehouse.

The company's Chicago offices, occupying the equivalent of one entire floor of the Continental Illinois National Bank building, will be moved to the west side. Not quite a third, or 110,000 square feet, of the floor space in the new building will be used for offices.

Large Area Supervised.

The Chicago headquarters supervise General Electric operations in 11 states and parts of 3 others. Offices in seven midwestern cities report to Chicago. They are: Davenport, Detroit, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Omaha, and St. Louis. W. O. Batchelder, a vice president of the company, is in charge of the entire district.

The building will be owned by the General Electric Realty company of Schenectady, N. Y., of which J. V. Anthony is president. It is a subsidiary of the big electric equipment manufacturing company.

General Electric started a year ago to assemble the site. It fronts 210 feet on Canal and Clinton, and 259 on Cabrini and Arthington. On the Clinton street side there is a set back providing for future expansion with a unit 77 by 210 feet.

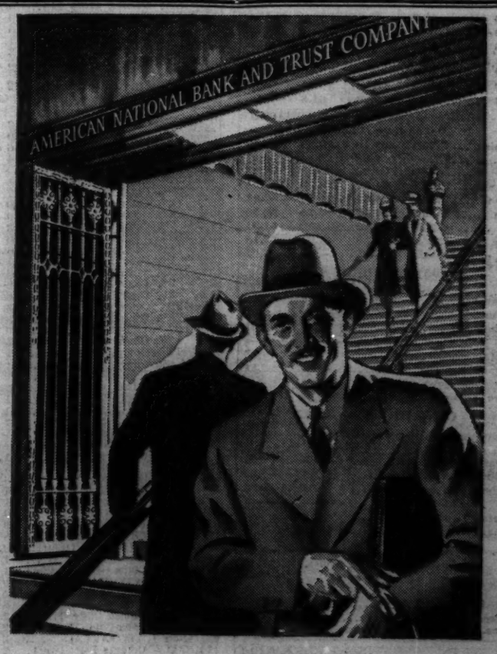
"Are all bankers as friendly as that?"



"I'M THE treasurer of our corporation so naturally I come in contact with the bank a good deal. I never cease to be surprised at the friendly assistance and co-operation I get there. When I want to know something, they seem to have a specialist on just that subject and they always seem so eager to give me all the help they can. I wonder, are all bankers as friendly?"

* * * * *

We think you'll find that many bankers are friendly people, eager to help their customers in every way they can. At the American National Bank, we make a special effort in this direction by making certain that our organization and our facilities are always adequate to take care of our constantly increasing business.... New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 30.—The stock market staged a feeble rally this afternoon and the best it could do was to pare early losses, altho some of the more active shares met enough support to swing into the plus column. Irregularly lower prices prevailed at the close, with minor fractional changes ruling on both sides.

Trading was the slowest in several weeks, with volume totaling only 638,870 shares. Public participation was reported by brokers to be virtually absent. Disposition of many in the financial district to see how the house of representatives reacts to the controversial neutrality bill was chiefly responsible for the market's lethargic behavior.

Meanwhile, domestic business news continued on the constructive side, featured by the estimate of higher steel operations this week and additional favorable dividend and earnings announcements.

Steel shares, depressed in the early dealings, were active in the modest late improvement. Air transportation issues were given a whirl in the early trading and thereafter generally held near their best prices.

New York Bonds.

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—Taking the bond market's limelight today, United States government securities moved up sharply, closing with gains ranging to 26/32 of a point.

Traders said, however, that altho there was scattered buying by insurance companies, the bulk of the dealings were "professional." Thinness of trading, dealers pointed out, made values respond quickly to even scattered takings of the federals.

Corporate bonds followed an even path, with price changes as a rule from fractions to 1 point and gains and losses about evenly divided.

Chicago Stocks.

Losses outnumbered gains on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, although most volume leaders either had small advances or closed unchanged. Trading was dull with transactions totaling 26,000 shares.

Bank Stocks.

Continental Illinois bank stock was bid ½ point higher in yesterday's trading, and Northern Trust 2 points higher. Prices follow:

Local Loan Gives You the Service You Want

75% of our loans are Signature Only Loans to employed men and women. LOCAL LOAN originated and perfected this salary loan service because the great body of employed people—young or old and regardless of occupation—are entitled to a simplified loan method.

Our aim is to offer you whatever plan will enable you to borrow most easily. LOCAL LOAN makes liberal Furniture and Auto Loans, but if you are steadily employed we prefer to make you a loan On Your Signature Only without mortgages or endorsers. You may borrow $25 to $300—

On Your Signature Only

You make your own repayment terms [repaying any time within 20 months], and you are charged only for the actual time you have the money.

When you deal with LOCAL LOAN you borrow without the knowledge of your employer, friends and relatives.

We cannot tell you all about our service in our advertisement. Just phone one of the following offices. Your loan request can be taken over the telephone so you can obtain the money more quickly when you call in person.

As little as $2.00 to $2.26 a week repays in full, including all charges, a $150 loan over 20 months at America's largest loan company. No salary assignments.

$2.00 a week on the average is all you need to set aside for every $150 borrowed on Personnel's new amazing "Special" loan plan of only 1¼% per month on the actual balance owed. This plan is for persons with a steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue credit strain and a good credit record. You don't need co-makers, life insurance, or bankable securities.

For persons without established credit and employment ratings and who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of annual salary or income. Personal offers its "Regular" loan plan. On this plan an average of $2.26 set aside per week takes care of everything on a $150 loan—the charge is based on 3% monthly on unpaid balances of $100 and less and 2% monthly on unpaid balances over $100.

Loans up to $300 on either plan on your personal note, or with furniture or auto. Co-maker loans are also available on "Regular" plan. Seize this opportunity to save on loan costs. Come in or telephone today.

German Airplanes Fight British Warships in North Sea—Noted Doctors Hold Convention in Chicago

German scouting plane which British censor says was shot down recently by four British planes in battle over Humbie, near Edinburgh. Two gunners were found dead in their seats in the Nazi ship. A third member of the crew was seriously wounded, while the pilot was not injured. (Story on page 1.)

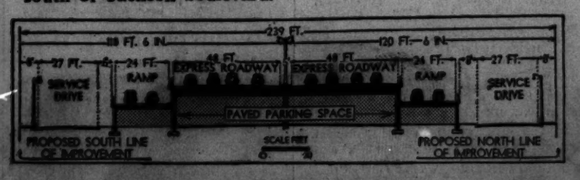
Council Receives Proposal for $205,000,000 City-wide Superhighway System Including $32,000,000 West Side Express Roadway

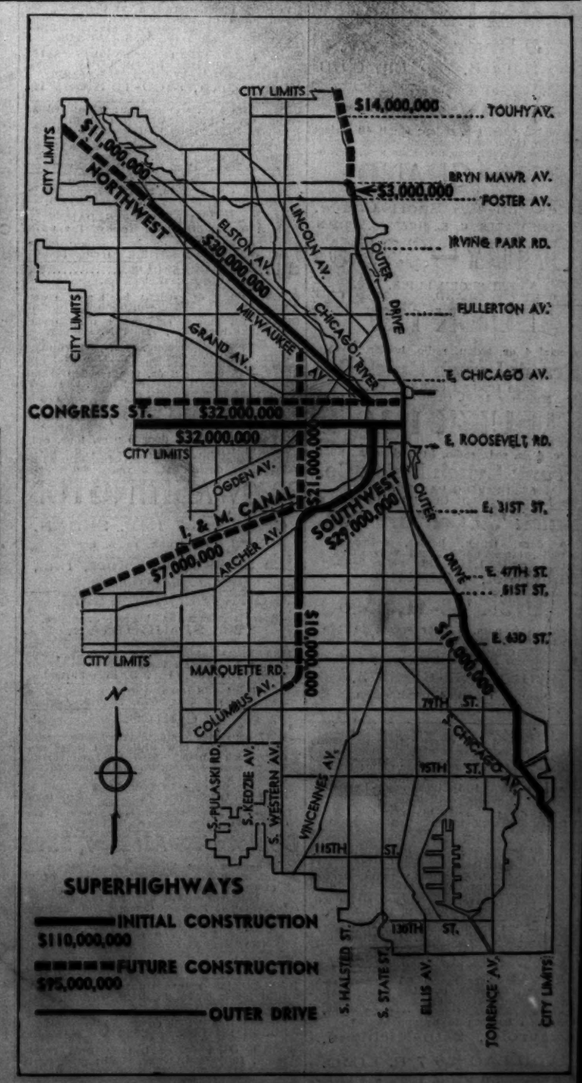
Artist's conception of the west side superhighway proposal as it would appear immediately west of Racine avenue. On a right of way a block wide, from this point west to the city limits, there would be eight depressed lanes of pavement for express travel. The trestle in the drawing is for a north and south street. (Story on page 8.)

This view of proposed highway is looking west. East bound traffic, in order to head north to the central business district, would make a U turn on a ramp and then a right turn to pass under the express lanes at the east end of the bridge to reach Market street or Franklin street en route north. (Story on page 8.)

This map shows the route of the proposed west side superhighway. West of canal street the present Congress street would form the south service drive of the express roadway to Central Park avenue. Thence to the city limits, the superhighway would be a block farther north, between Van Buren and Gladys avenue. Gladys avenue is one block south of Jackson boulevard.



A cross-section of the proposed west side elevated highway from Canal street to Racine avenue. The service drives would be for one way traffic at the normal ground level, serving the abutting property. Ramps are to connect the ground level streets with the upper level express lanes. Under the express deck would be a paved area for public parking.



This $205,000,000 system of superhighways is proposed for construction with city, county, state, and federal funds.
